FARMER'S NEW CASH SYSTEM.—The advantages pertaining to PROMPT NET CASH PAYMENTS are evidenced in the increased returns in every department of our business under the new system. It has been our aim in making the change to introduce a simple system, perfectly equitable in its incidence, and calculated to benefit EVERY ONE of our customers. PROMPT NET PAYMENT is the rule, and there are no exceptions. This is the PRINCIPLE in the change, and no concessions or departure from this principle can be entertained. The new system is devised for READY MONEY BUYERS ONLY, and to such a saving in clothing expenses equivalent to 25 per cent. is unhesitatingly guaranteed.
FARMER and COMPANY.
Victoria House,
Pitt and George streets.

A LARGE AND VARIED ASSORTMENT OF LADIES ULSTERS, at FARMER'S, just to hand, ex Seiriol Wyn, in Meltons, pure Scotch Tweeds, Sergerettes, and other useful wearing materials, all marked in accordance with the new cash system, at wholesale prices, for prompt net cash. Prices range as follows, 12s 6d, 16s 6d, 18s 6d, 19s 6d, 22s 6d, 25s, and 27s 6d.

CHILDREN'S KID GLOVES at FARMER'S 1s per pair, in assorted shades for promenade, and light tints for evening wear. A single button glove it is true, but a really excellent quality. Only a few hundred dozens, which will be certainly sold out in a few days. Intending purchasers are recommended to make their selections early to avoid disappointment. One shilling per pair prompt net cash.

LIGHT CLOTH JACKETS, at FARMER'S, most select colourings and appointments, in suitable styles and sizes for children, young ladies, and adults. Ladies who have recently visited that great depôt of fashion, the Magazin du Louvre, Paris, will recognise the styles now being shown as amongst the most favoured in that wonder of the French capital. Light colours in over-garments, mantles, jackets, &c., are entirely characteristic of French taste, the beautiful and varied shades of drab, silver grey, &c., which meet the eye on the Boulevards, the Champs Elysées, and other fashionable resorts, contrasting markedly with the darker and more sombre tints which English ladies, for the most part, affect in their own country. Messrs. FARMER and CO. have pleasure in directing special attention to the valuable parcel herewith announced, as well suited to the brightness of the Australian climate. Each garment has been marked according to the NEW SYSTEM, at wholesale prices, for prompt net cash—the Children's Jackets ranging from 11s 6d to 21s, and the Ladies' from 12s 6d to 25s.

A SPECIAL PURCHASE OF CHILDREN'S COSTUMES at FARMER'S, comprising about 250 Serge, Rep Melton, and Beige costumes, suitable for young ladies from 4 to 15 years of age, now being offered at prices varying from 8s 6d to 16s 6d each. There is an immense variety of styles in all the favourite colours in this parcel, which for value may fairly be said to be unapproached in Sydney. Prices, 8s 6d to 16s 6d prompt net cash.

BLACK GROS GRAINS SILK, a large parcel just opened at FARMER'S in splendid condition, at prices ranging from 2s 6d to 9s 6d per yard prompt net cash. An excellent opportunity for securing a reliable silk at wholesale price.

CHOICE COLOURED GROS GRAINS SILK at Farmer's, 2s 11d per yard, prompt net cash. The assortment includes some 4000 yards, in Pale Green, Dark Green, Dark Brown, Esterhazy, Gendarme, Sky, Grenat, Drab, Myrtle, Stone, Slate, Bronze, Navy, Prune, Plum, and Fawn. Also fancy striped and checked silks, at 2s 6d per yard, all things considered, about the best value ever offered in the city of Sydney.

LADIES' INEXPENSIVE READY-MADE COSTUMES, for sea shore, mountain, or travelling purposes, in great variety. Charming Galatea striped costumes, 12s 6d and 21s. Embroidered Navy Satteen Costumes, 21s. French Beige costumes, 55s and 57s 6d. All sizes can be purchased at FARMER'S, at the above quotations, for prompt net cash.

EVERY DESCRIPTION of Ladies' Underclothing at FARMER'S, at wholesale prices for prompt net cash. A saving of 25 per cent. guaranteed on wedding and other outfits. Each article manufactured from the best numbers of Horrockses' longcloths. There are just now some extraordinary bargains in ladies' embroidered slips at 8s 11d, to which special attention is invited. Steel-back corsets, in a quality that can be recommended, 8s 6d.

EMBROIDERED TUSSORE SUNSHADES, at FARMER'S, 5s 6d prompt net cash; also Black Satin, trimmed Spanish Lace, 14s 9d each, in excellent taste, and decidedly inexpensive. Ladies' Silk Umbrellas, with Agate, Jet, Coral, and Ivory mounts, splendid value, 12s 6d and 14s 6d prompt net cash. Ladies' Cambric Handkerchiefs, as exhibited in Window, from 6s 6d to 8s per dozen. All desiring to economise in small matters should inspect these Handkerchiefs.

NINETY-INCH MOSQUITO NET, at 11½d per yard. Messrs. FARMER have no hesitation in recommending this Net to any of their constituents. It is sold retail at 1s 3d, in most of the credit shops. Price 11½d per yard prompt net cash.

GUINEA LONGCLOTH, at FARMER'S, in pieces of 40 yards, also in half pieces, 20 yards for 10s 9d. This is the same quality Longcloth as was formerly sold at 25s per piece. It may now, without hesitation, be recommended as, far and away, the cheapest calico in Sydney.

STOUT HONEYCOMB TOWELS at FARMER'S, at 5s 6d and 7s 11d per dozen. Buyers should inspect these Towels as they are really a marvel of cheapness. Only a few hundred dozens in stock, which are certain to be sold out in a few days.

SEVENTY-TWO INCH IMPERIAL SHEETING at FARMER'S, 11½d per yard; ninety-inch, 16½d prompt net cash. A large parcel to select from, and value such as is rarely met with.

EXTRA FINE double satin damask Napkins, at FARMER'S. A parcel of some 1500 dozens to select from; all large sizes, at 7s 9d, 10s 6d, and 12s 6d per dozen prompt net cash.

ART CURTAINS, at FARMER'S, for the drawing-room, dining-room, and boudoir, after designs by Eastlake, Talbert, Pugin, and others. These curtains are manufactured from pure flax, and are printed in the Anglo-Japanese style, with handsome dados, in Navy, Peacock, Ponceau, Olive—three shades, Brown, &c., &c. The designs are all true to Art, and are not likely to be affected by the vagaries of fashion. They have hitherto been confined to a leading furnishing house in the West End of London, a few pairs only being imported by Messrs. Farmer some four months since as samples, and sold at 32s 6d per pair. The present parcel, in all some 600 pairs, have been supplied to Messrs. Farmer by the manufacturer, who has registered for 1879 and 1880, and who has engaged them to Farmer and Co. only, in the Australian colonies. The prices are 10s 6d and 21s per pair, prompt net cash.

CHAIR BEDSTEADS, at FARMER'S, at wholesale prices, for prompt net cash. These goods can be used either as a chair or bedstead, are fitted with all necessary cushions, for either article, and are sold complete at 42s, prompt net cash.

ONE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED BEDSTEADS, all the most fashionable style and finish, in French, half-tester, and four-posts, many with handsome extending foot-rails, black and gold, French grey and gold, &c., from 35s each. Every bedstead has been carefully marked at the lowest wholesale price for prompt net cash, and buyers will search in vain for anything in the city at all comparable in value. Prices range from 35s to 15 guineas. New Bedding List, the lowest yet.
FARMER and COMPANY.

VISIT FARMER'S for a printed Cloth Table Cover, usual size for a round table, price 8s 6d, prompt net cash. The colours are green, crimson, and scarlet grounds, with the pattern nicely described in black. These goods cannot be procured elsewhere in Sydney under 11s 6d, if indeed at that price.

HANDSOME Black and Gold Plate-glass MIRRORS, in the EARLY ENGLISH STYLE, at 75s, 90s, 95s, 105s, 6 guineas, 7 guineas, and on to 15 guineas, quality considered, unmatched in point of value anywhere in the city.
FARMER and COMPANY.

QUEEN ANNE TOILETS, consisting of chaste 4-feet dressing-tables, with swing glass and washstand to match, tile-pattern top and back. These goods were introduced by us about twelve months since at 10 guineas per pair, and a steady and increasing sale has been maintained throughout. Under our NEW CASH SYSTEM they are quoted at 8 guineas prompt net cash. Also half-circle marble-top washstands, the very best quality imported, extra size, 30s each.
FARMER and COMPANY.

FARMER'S COMPLETE FURNITURE, for Cottage Drawing-room, for £38 10s is the very best investment for prompt net cash. It consists of Drawing-room Suite, in carved walnut frames, upholstered in green, crimson, blue, or fancy rep, £14 14s; Walnut Whatnot, £1 2s; Walnut Chiffonier, £6 6s; Inlaid Walnut Loo Table, £3 3s; Black and Gold Mirror, £3 5s. The Room, complete, for £38 10s; or any article at the prices quoted. Prompt net cash.

AMERICAN CHAIRS, at FARMER'S, Walter Heywood's best quality.—The Washington, 3s 6d; Child's High Chair, 4s 9d; The Eastlake, 5s 6d; The Douglas, 7s 9d, and others. Austrian Chairs, Thonet's best, 8s 6d each; Armchairs and Couches to match. French Chairs, elegant designs in the Louis Seize style in walnut, ebonized, oak, &c., from 6s 6d, upwards.

PARENTS AND GUARDIANS, desiring to economise, should inspect a parcel of one hundred and eighty-three Boys' and Youths' stout Tweed SUITS, just received at FARMER'S. This parcel has been purchased in this market AT ALMOST A GIFT. It includes suits in all sizes for Boys, from 10 and 12 years of age up to small men's sizes, in Bliss' best English tweeds, pure Scotch tweeds, and best Colonial tweeds, at 18s 9d per suit. Buyers will readily see that in many instances the material only in these suits cannot be bought for the price quoted for each suit. The wholesale prices have ranged from 25s to 28s 6d, the retail price being about 25 per cent. in advance of these quotations. This is a rare opportunity for clothing big boys, who require a suit with lots of hard enduring wear in it. Price, 18s 9d prompt net cash.

ABOUT 150 remaining out of the original parcel of 2000 JUVENILE SUITS at 7s 6d, spoken of everywhere as the cheapest suit ever seen in New South Wales. The remains consist chiefly of Jacket Suits (jacket, vest, and knickers), in grasscloth, holland, striped linen drill, and China silk; also, best shapes in Tunic Suits, in same materials, now marked 6s 6d and 7s 6d per suit. If for a pattern only, the remaining suits are remarkably cheap, being perfect little shapes. Sizes range from 0 to 7, suitable for little boys up to 6 years of age.
FARMER and COMPANY.

THIRTY-SIX SHILLINGS AND SIXPENCE, for a Gentleman's TWEED SUIT, of good, stout, wear-resisting Tweed, over one hundred and fifty suits to select from. These suits are made in the colony, and finished in a very superior manner. Shape, single-breasted coat, with four buttons, and flap pockets, single-breasted vest, and fashionably cut trousers. Visitors to Sydney, who require a suit without delay, will find these goods an excellent substitute for ordered clothing. Price, 36s 6d prompt net cash.
FARMER AND COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN'S KNOT SCARFS, in the best quality manufactured—a parcel of 600 dozens purchased at the end of the London season, at a remarkably low price, and now being shown in Messrs. FARMER and COMPANY'S window at ONE SHILLING each, prompt net cash. Credit prices from 1s 9d to 2s each, everywhere.

WHITE MILITARY DUCK COATS.—The second delivery of these favourite garments is now to hand at FARMER'S, price 17s 6d prompt net cash. Differing slightly from the first parcel, these coats are all hand-made, and a somewhat lighter duck, but identical with the coats supplied by the credit houses at 22s 6d. Gentlemen who have been waiting the arrival of these goods will kindly take this intimation. Price, 17s 6d prompt net cash, demonstrating the advantage of ready money over credit payments.

CARD.

Arrangements being effected with Mr. SAMUEL LAZAR for the appearance of LA DIVA PATTI,
at the THEATRE ROYAL,

Signor D. de Vivo takes pleasure of announcing a BRIEF and BRILLIANT SERIES of PATTI GRAND CONCERTS, COMMENCING on MONDAY EVENING, 23rd February, 1880.

At the same time he has the honour of introducing, for the first time to the Public of Sydney and Visitors of the International Exhibitions,

THE DELICIOUS CANTATRICE,

PATTI } CARLOTTA { PATTI
PATTI } { PATTI
PATTI } CARLOTTA { PATTI
PATTI } { PATTI

whose peerless vocalisation has enchanted the most critical and fashionable audiences of Europe and America, and whose career has been a series of phenomenal successes.

Since Catalini, Jenny Lind, Paganini, and Listz, no such concert furores as those recorded of the CARLOTTA PATTI CONCERTS have been known in Europe.

Rosini, Meyerbeer, Verdi, Auber, and all the most distinguished critics of both hemispheres have declared her
THE QUEEN OF CONCERT SINGERS.

In addition to PATTI will appear also
THE GREATEST VIOLONCELLO VIRTUOSO
ERNEST DE MUNCK
ERNEST DE MUNCK
ERNEST DE MUNCK
SOLO VIOLONCELLIST to the GRAND DUKE OF SAXE-WEIMAR.

The EMINENT BARITONE,

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13.

The SPEAKER took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 4 o'clock.

REPLIES TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. LACKEY informed Mr. Dangar that certain works between the Narren and Barwin Rivers had been provided for, and would be proceeded with as soon as the necessary preliminaries had been completed.

Mr. LACKEY said, in reply to Mr. Bennett, that instructions had been given for the repair of Bow Bridge over the Peel River, and the approach to the goods shed at Tamworth.

Mr. LACKEY, in answer to Mr. Dangar, said that the system of requiring a cash deposit from contractors would not be adopted, on account of the inconvenience it would cause to the smaller contractors.

Mr. BAKER informed Mr. Bennett that the recommendation that the sheep inspectors should be sworn in as special constables was made by the Albury and Hume Boards.

Mr. SUTTOR said that the matter regarding the secretary of the Rookwood school Board and the teacher there was in the hands of the district inspector, who was instructed to hold an inquiry.

Mr. LACKEY gave Mr. Buchanan informating respecting the tenderers for clearing Cobborah Road, from Goodman's to Falconer's. There were no vouchers for this work in the office unpaid, and no unavoidable detention in payments would be allowed.

Mr. HOSKINS, in answer to Mr. Cameron, for Mr. J. Davies, gave further information respecting certain lands at Narrabri in the possession of Lillyman and Malone.

PAPERS.

The following papers were laid on the table and ordered to be printed:—Return of letters, papers, &c., re D. Cleary's application of purchase of land; abstract of Crown lands reserved from sale until surveyed for preservation of water supply.

CONTEMPTS PUNISHMENTS BILL.

Resumed debate on second reading.

Mr WISDOM was not opposed to some restrictions being placed on the powers of the Supreme Court Judges, but was of opinion that this bill was of such a character that it would be unwise of the House to assent to it. He instanced that portion of the Act which prevented a Judge from dealing with matters that might require immediate settlement, such as the refusal of a witness to be sworn. If they had to wait as proposed by the hon. member in the bill, great delays might be caused, and the offence might be repeated time after time. A person might go on repeating the offence time after time, with the possibility of escaping punishment. This bill seemed to be based upon the false assumption that a Judge could punish contempts of Court summarily without giving the person charged an opportunity of defending himself or of explaining his conduct. The case given in the Privy Council reports, volume 5, new series, page 111, would prove the opposite. It was an entirely wrong assumption that any Judge had the power of arbitrarily committing a person for contempt of Court without allowing him to defend himself. The Judge could call a thing contempt, but he could not determine absolutely whether it was or not. Such being the state of the law, the necessity for this bill was not so great as at first sight might appear. He was quite willing to admit that while, in certain cases, Judges should not have power to deal with them summarily, in the majority summary jurisdiction was necessary, as in the case of a witness refusing to appear, or persons being drunk in Court. Committal did not necessarily mean punishment. Again, his hon. friend only made provision for these contempts as regarded the Supreme and District Courts. What about the lower Courts and the full Court? This whole question of contempt should be dealt with in a thoughtful manner, and not in this way, and for that reason he could not support the bill which his hon. friend had brought forward.

The question was then put, "That this bill be now read a second time," and on a division, it was negatived, only Mr. Buchanan voting in its favour.

THE BETTING BILL.

Mr. BARBOUR moved the adoption of the report of the Betting Houses Suppression Act Amendment Bill.

Mr. BUCHANAN objected to this, as the bill was unnecessary, was an instance of over legislation, and would be utterly and perfectly ineffectual. When the bill of the hon. member for Camden, on the totalizator or total damnationizator (laughter) came on, he was opposed to it, as it asked Parliament to legalise gambling. That gambling should be legalised in however small a degree was as great an iniquity as to tolerate burglary in a small degree. But as to this bill, he would ask how they could put down betting? The thing was impracticable, and the bill was perfectly ridiculous, bringing contempt upon the Parliament and serving no purpose whatever. A person who betted was not going to put upon his sign, "The house is open for betting, to have the odds ascertained, &c." Did not hon. members see the best newspapers dealing with this matter as a business matter, reporting meetings, and giving the list of prices, as a mere business transaction having the sanction of the whole community. If that did not carry its lesson he did not know what should. This bill would have no earthly purpose or use, for the racecourse would go on as usual, men would come up from Victoria for the meetings and would bet at Tattersall's and would this bill effect a change in that? If it could put a stop to it, it would be a wise provision, but it would be a futile attempt, and would only bring contempt upon the Parliament, since men would bet, and would laugh at this House. Were they to suffer heavy censure and subject themselves to this well merited ridicule by this futile and impotent bill, one powerless in every respect, since everything in the shape of betting went on the same as before. He was at first astonished that members had supported it as they had, but he could understand it now, seeing that they opposed the bill just dealt with. (Laughter.) He opposed the present bill, and trusted that this House would not subject its members to the ridicule of every betting man in the country, at the absurdity of a Parliament which thought to prevent betting in this way.

Mr. GARRETT would point out to the hon. member who thought that they could not suppress betting by this, that what they aimed at was to suppress betting-houses, and the public offence which those who got their living by professional betting inflicted upon the community. (Hear, hear.) The public at least would not suffer by the bill. The hon. member said that this was ridiculous, futile, weak nonsense, and all that; but if it proved to be so, it would not do any harm. (Hear, hear.) He would also point out to the hon. member that the House had legislated upon the question before, and that this bill was intended to portect what was then left undone. Another matter which he would point out to the House, was that not only had horse-racing been injured by the inordinate way in which betting had been carried on, but that every other sport was in danger. Whether it was cricket, football, or aquatics, every one who had real interest in them, had tried to prevent betting upon them, on account of the deteriorating effect it had upon them. Whenever betting was admitted to a sport, it was just like a mass of blow flies upon a cloud of beef, and every one who had charge of public pastimes ought to try and prevent wagering upon them. If we by legislation could do anything to lessen these evils, we should do it, and in the interest of every public sport. He thought the bill should be supported. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. CHARLES said he did not think there was any speech so much in favour of this bill as that of the hon. member for Mudgee, except the speech of the hon. member for Camden, who clearly showed the evils that existed from betting. The necessity for this bill was shown by the fact that these evils existed, and, if the bill could do good, it would have the best wishes of all members of the community.

Mr. CAMERON said there was

SYDNEY INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

The Horticultural Show in connection with the International Exhibition will open in the Agricultural Hall on Tuesday next, and will continue open till the following Saturday afternoon. Valuable prizes have been offered, and the number of entries of flowers and plants far exceeds that of any previous show.

The attendance at the Garden Palace yesterday was as follows:—Season ticket-holders, 320; general public, 1906; children, 190; exhibitors and attendants, 636; Kopff's Band, 10; total, 3062.

The oratorio, "The Crown of Thorns; or Despair, Penitence, and Pardon," composed by Mr. C. S. Packer, will be performed in the Sydney International Exhibition this afternoon by the Sacred Choral Association. A copy of the libretto, or book of words, has been forwarded to us, as well as the usual programme. The publication of the libretto, at a moderate price, will supply a want that was much felt at previous oratorios. In the arrangement of the libretto and the programme the same order is preserved, which will prove of great convenience. It is intimated that the second part of the oratorio was first performed in Sydney on April 9, 1863, and that the whole was given on October 15, in the same year, and the S. M. Herald of the following day stated that "the oratorio was produced with great success before a large and appreciative audience. There was but one opinion as to the excellence of this sublime work. From the introduction, to the grand triumphal march of the Messiah at the end, the oratorio was listened to by all present with the deepest attention, and was rapturously applauded." The rehearsals recently held have been most satisfactory, and it is expected that the rendering of this oratorio by the Sacred Choral Association this afternoon will prove to be a great musical treat.

The following is the programme to be played this afternoon, in the grounds, from 3 to 5 p.m. by the New South Wales Artillery Band:—March, "Mountain Echoes," Brophy; valse, "Tres Jolie," Waldteufel; selection, "Belisario," Donizetti; quadrille, "Covent Garden," Coote; valse, "Little Nell," Godfrey; selection, "Puritani," Bellini; polka, "Gem," Levy; galop, "Beautiful Danube," Strauss. God save the Queen. E. R. Pennell, bandmaster.

In a quiet corner of the New South Wales Court are to be found some samples of home-made bellows and galvanized ironware, the manufacture of Mr. S. Zollner, which are well worth the attention of believers in the advantages which are alleged to accrue from the fostering of native industries. The exhibits are first-class in their character, and have almost driven the imported article out of the market. Although it may be imagined that it is a difficult matter to get any artistic beauty out of such eminently common place articles as bellows, Mr. Zollner displays one case of drawing-room bellows which are really handsome in their get up, and which would form an ornament to any room.

At a recent meeting of the Tasmanian Exhibition Commission, Dr. Agnew (a member of the Tasmanian Government and a recent visitor to Sydney) denied a statement made by a Hobart Town correspondent of the Sydney Morning Herald, that he had given a woeful account of the Tasmanian Court. He said he had been, personally, very much interested in the Exhibition, and had been more than pleased with the Court and the manner the arrangements were carried out generally. He was sure the Court was not one that Tasmania needed to blush for.

In consequence of the late arrival of some of the exhibits of carpets, and the limited space at the disposal of the Commissioners, many very excellent specimens are to be found in most unlooked for places. Messrs. Woodward, Grosvenor and Co., of Stoutvale Mills, Kidderminster, whose excellent display carried off the gold medal at the Paris Exhibition last year, are showing two velvet pile carpets, designed especially for the Sydney International Exhibition, one being a drawing-room, and the other a dining-room pattern. They are hung on the walls of the N.W. staircase, under the dome, and are apt to be entirely overlooked. They are, however, worth more than a passing glance. The one for the drawing-room is coloured, brown and drab on a black ground, the pattern being flowers and foliage, which are liberally treated after the style of Louis 14th. The general effect is pleasingly cool and harmonious. The other, for dining-room, is a brown ground with sage, drabs, &c. This is a Japanese design, and of that peculiar tone of colour which stamps it as a useful carpet for any colour or style of furniture and decorations. Between these two is hung a sample of stair carpet, very pretty, and quite a novelty in the treatment of colouring. The same firm also shows two Brussels carpets which are hung with those of other manufacturers in the British Court. Both of these are excellent in design, correct in colour, and well adapted for this market. Messrs. David Jones and Company, of George and York streets, are the agents in Sydney for the firm.

THE MUSIC AT THE GARDEN PALACE.

On Wednesday and Thursday the musical doings, like the attendances, were below the average, but the bright weather yesterday brought with it a refreshing activity.

At the official platform at 3 p.m., Mr. C. B. Foster gave a recital on the Erard concert-grand, exhibited by Mr. W. H. Paling. Mr. Foster was assisted by Signor Ortori and Mr. Melchior Winter. The programme opened with a duo "violin and piano" by Labaire and De Beriot, executed by Signor Ortori and Mr. Foster. The "Inflammatus" and "Fac ut portem" are the principal motifs selected, to these Signor Ortori did full justice. Mr. Melchior Winter sang "M'appari" from Flotow's Marta, and Braham's fine song "The Death of Nelson," both of which as performed by this gentleman we have already noticed. Signor Ortori's second solo was the grand fantasie on "Faust," by Wieniawski. Under circumstances which are fresh in the memories of our readers this great solo has been admirably performed in another place, and with every wish to countenance so talented a young player as Signor Ortori, we cannot think him wise in selecting "Faust" for an exhibition of his skill in the Exhibition-building. Some parts of these noble fantasie were most commendable and merited the applause bestowed. The pianist, Mr. Foster, is evidently a most conscientious and capable player, but he has not realized how much force is necessary before any performer is audible a few feet from the platform. Moreover, the lid of the Erard Grand was, inadvertently we presume, left closed during his solos, and this robbed his reading of much of the charm it might have had by a greater variety in tone. We have heard Mr. Foster in several places, and confess our surprise that his performance of yesterday was comparatively tame. There was a good attendance, and the visitors were lavish of applause.

Next came Mme. Summerhayes, who performed on the Boudoir Grand and "Centennial Oblique," exhibited by Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons. Her programme contained an impromptu of Schubert, a nocturne by John Field, the "Cujus Animam" from Stabat Mater, "Erin," by Benedict, and the "Harmonious Blacksmith" of Handel. The petite pianiste was in good form, and played with especial esprit and success. Her numbers were all well received, and the small upright piano quite equalled its neighbour, the Boudoir Grand, in fulness and power of tone.

In the Belgian Court, Mme. Lamal had a numerous crowd of admirers, to whom, as is her wont, she gave a constant succession of popular pieces, with much effect.

In the German Court, Mme. Summerhayes gave a recital on the Bechstein Grand. Among the large audience was the purchaser of this fine instrument, who seemed especially content with the bargain. By request, Mme. Summerhayes changed her programme to admit Thalberg's "Home, sweet Home," and Wehli's "Laughing Water." Her other solos were Pauer's "Cascade," Sivrai's American Airs, and Rubinstein's charming morceau, the melody in F. Here, too, Mme. Summerhayes was warmly applauded.

The band on the basement was at times troublesomely prominent—that in the grounds was very enjoyable.

FIRST REPORT OF THE JUDGES ON EXHIBITS.

The Judges appointed by the Exhibition Commission to judge and report upon the exhibits in the Garden Palace have forwarded to the Commissioners their first report, together with the first batch of awards. The following is the report:—

"The Committee on Judging and Awards reports, for the information of the Commission, that considerable progress has been made, and nearly three-quarters of the work of judging has been gone through, and should nothing unforeseen occur, the whole of the judges' reports will be handed in to the committee within the next three weeks. The committee recommend that the Committee of Judging and Awards be constituted a 'Committee of Appeal,' to hear all protests, &c. The award book now laid on the table contains all the reports of judges received by the committee up to date and is submitted for the approval of the Commission. The regulations for the guidance of judges having been framed subsequent to the work of the beer judges being completed, they have been asked to remodel their report, in order to make it harmonize with the form adopted in the reports of the judges in other classes.

"P. A. JENNINGS, Chairman."

The judges are still actively engaged, and will forward further progress-reports as early as possible. Appended are the recommendations that have been made by the judges up to the present, subject to appeals that may be made to the Committee on Judging and Awards:—

E. H. Banks, Christchurch: seeds (8 samples). Fair quality throughout with the exception of Prussian blue peas, which are inferior to other similar exhibits in the same court. The exhibit, as a whole, should rank as 4th.
Joe Dransfield, Wellington: grass seed, as grasses the best seed in the court, most suitable for a farming and pastoral country. On experimenting with rye-grass seed, 26 per cent. failed; exhibit should rank as 1st.
Mrs. Eyles, Richmond, Nelson: grass seed, good sample of grass—commended.
Charles Haynes, Palmerston, Dunedin: rye-grass seed only—2nd.
Captain Russell, Karanui, Hawke's Bay: rye-grass seed only—3rd.

Note.—The best and most comprehensive exhibit, having due regard to quality, variety, utility, and adaptation to public wants is Dransfield's, 16 samples of seeds, though worse germination; Duncan's, 8 samples, comes next, second in germination; Cunningham's, although very fine seed, does not compare in variety with these. We would place it third, although having best results in the germinating tests.

Queensland.

A. Macpherson, Brisbane: seeds. The whole collection is eminently practical and suggestive, and entitled to the highest praise as one of the finest instances of patient application and intelligent experiment in the exhibition.—1st.
Fred. Turner, Acclimatisation Society's Garden, Brisbane: seeds, most unique, admirably classified and arranged, and would form a most invaluable collection for reference on educational purposes.—2nd.
E. Way, director of Queen's Park, Toowoomba: seeds.—3rd.

Note.—The two combined (Macpherson and Turner's) exhibit a complete handbook to the capabilities of this fine colony in this class of natural productions. Both are well entitled to the highest award that can be given as scientific collections.

Victoria.

R. W. Nicholls and Co., Ballarat: seeds. A very comprehensive collection of 129 varieties of seeds, seemingly all of good quality, but so shown as to preclude handling and comparison. The three seeds of English varieties are especially valuable and suggestive if they are, as they profess to be, raised in Victoria. They show that arboriculture has there been intelligently and systematically experimented in. As such they are deserving of high commendation.

Tasmania.

Thomas Edginton, Launceston: seeds. The grey peas are the best we have yet seen. The grass seeds are decidedly lighter than those of New Zealand. The tares and beans are good, but still not up to the samples in the New Zealand Court. Very creditable exhibits, and deserving of commendation.

New South Wales.

Bombala Exhibition Society: potatoes. The lesser of the two exhibits was a very fine variety called the "Sultan's red-skin flour ball," sound to the core, although they had been lying for months; are of great size. Special commendation.
J. Moore, Armidale: potatoes (samples of Breese's prolific), admirably suitable for cultivation. A splendid vegetable shown under great disadvantage, as the tubers had all sprouted and were somewhat shrivelled up.
Bombala Exhibition Society: rye grass seed. This is inferior to seeds shown in other Courts, although a good bulky seed—3rd.
Sir William Macarthur: seeds. There is a non-competitive and uncatalogued collection of seeds, comprising varieties of millets, sorghum, canary, and other seeds, shown by Sir William Macarthur. This is a most suggestive and valuable exhibit, and deserves warm recognition. It comprises fifteen varieties, specially commended.
J. Inglis, Redmyre: seeds. Non-competitive and only shown to illustrate what may be done by private experiments. Indigo safflower, turmeric, poppy, two kinds of rape and linseed, and other products are shown, all grown in the vicinity of Sydney from Indian imported seed, and the Award Committee can themselves judge of the suggestiveness and value of the exhibit.
P. Bosnard, Yass: seeds. These are inferior to the Tasmanian and New Zealand.

Note.—In this class (leguminous plants, seeds, &c.), all exhibits had either been withdrawn or gone bad, except two specimens of manna, a product of the eucalypti, calling for no special comment.

Fiji.

Government of Fiji: yams. Best we have seen; turmeric, fine specimen, but not so large as may be often seen in India; arrowroot, the only exhibit.
G. J. Waterhouse, Sydney: beans. Very good, but softish—not up to those in New Zealand Court.—3rd.
G. M'Evoy, Cicia: cotton seeds (Sea Islands)—1st.
W. Hennings, Loma Loma: cotton seed (Sea Island)—2nd.
Ryder, Brothers', Mango: cotton seed (Sea Island)—3rd.
Hon. J. B. Thurston, Levuka: cotton seed (Kidney). A short staple and not so valuable as the three others.
S. A. St. John, Vitu Levu: peanuts. Cleanest and best got up—Ranks as best.
Hon. J. B. Thurston, Levuka: peanuts—commended.

United States.

Lowery and Co., San Francisco: beans—1st.

Straits Settlements.

Tan Tek Guan Malacca root of akau tools plant—commended.
Tan Tek, Guan: yam roots—commended.
Guthrie and Co., Singapore: teel seed. This is the sesamum of Scripture. Only two exhibits.
Gilfillan, Wood, and Co., Singapore: tallow seeds (vegetable). Only two exhibits.

Japan.

Rihachi Kawata, Tokio: seeds—commended.

Ceylon.

Chocolate seeds. Being alone in their class, no data for comparison, might be commended.

India.

There are some very fine gram seeds, rice unhusked, and good peanuts, but they are not catalogued.

Great Britain.

Carter, Brothers, London: seeds. As a seedsman's exhibit this merits high commendation—1st order of merit in British Court only.

France.

Villemorin, Andrienne, and Co., Paris: seeds. This is the finest exhibit in the whole Exhibition. We tried their clovers with the following results:—Red clover, 5 per cent failed; white clover, 2 per cent. failed; onions, only 7 per cent failed. We have tested over 200 varieties of the seeds, and all came out with a very high average, and should rank as first order of merit, not only in its own section, but as a whole relatively to the other Courts.

Austria.

Franke, Brothers, Prague: clover seeds—1st.

Germany.

J. F. Poppe and Co., Berlin: seeds—1st.
R. Liefmann Söhne, Hamburg: seeds, classed as No. 1½.
Friedlander and Co., Posen: seeds—3rd.
P. Hennings, Kiel: seeds, and interesting exhibit of 400 varieties—Special mention.

Judge's Special Note.

For place in the whole Exhibition we decide as follows:—No. 1, Villemorin, French Court; No. 2, M'Pherson, Queensland; No. 3, Turner, Queensland; No. 4, Dransfield, N. Z.; No. 4½, Germany; No. 5, Austria; No. 5½, Germany; No. 6, Carter, Great Britain. (Signed.) Jas. Inglis, James Cock, A. Du Boise, W. F. Ponder.

HOPS AND MALT.

New Zealand.

Richard Andrew, Nelson: hops, well grown, fine aromatic flavour, good colour and condition.—2nd.
Th. Harley, Nelson: hops, well grown, rich flavour and fine condition.—3rd.
J. and W. Witty, Waimea: hops, good colour, fine aroma and condition.
Surman and Co., Invercargill: malt, good quality and colour, and fair fermenting power—3rd.

Tasmania.

William Gracie, Hobart Town: hops, very fine, well grown, aromatic flavour, in good condition and colour—2nd.

Victoria.

J. Hood and Co., Melbourne: malt, carefully prepared, dried, and heated malt, good colour, and fermenting power.

Germany.

Johann, Barth, and Sons, Nürnberg, Bavaria: hops—1st.
Josef Kann, jun., Nürnberg—3rd.
L. Neuhauser, Ludwigshafen: malt—2nd.
Bremer and Fraenkel, Hamburg—4th.

Austria.

Noczieska and Umgelter, Brünn: malt—1st.
Hanna, malt manufacturer, Kremsier: malt—2nd
M. Kauffmann, Brünn: malt—commended.
(Signed)—C. M. Rosenthal, W. F. Ponder, James Cock.

COFFEE AND COFFEE BEANS.

New South Wales.

R. Harper and Co.: ground coffee, good flavour and quality—2nd.

Victoria.

J. F. Mackenzie and Co., Melbourne: ground coffee, a well-manufactured specimen of good quality and aroma and fine flavour—1st.

New Zealand.

David Strang, Invercargill: ground coffee, fair quality—3rd.
Greig and Co., Dunedin: coffee, wanting in flavour—4th.

Queensland.

Botanical Garden, Brisbane: coffee, fairly good specimen—4th.
A. J. Hockings and Son, Brisbane: fairly grown samples colour inferior—4th.

Great Britain.

Dunn and Hewitt, London: extract of coffee, well manufactured; as article of utility stands in the first order of merit. We would recommend their receiving the first award for their exhibit as a whole, it being interesting and instructive; the samples of plantation and roasted coffee beans being of the first quality.
J. and H. Smith: essence of coffee, fair quality, but of little flavour.

Fiji.

Ryder Bros., Mango: coffee, credit due to them for bringing the quality of their crops up to this high standard—1st.
G. M'Kissock, Suva: coffee (parchment), excellent quality—2nd.

New Caledonia.

Laurie: coffee, excellent quality—1st.

India.

Hallacarry Estate, Stanes and Co., Nillagiri, Madras: coffee—2nd.
Stanes and Co., Colacumbay Estate: coffee—3rd.
Fairland's Estate, Coorg, Madras: coffee—3rd.
Perry and Co., Wynaad District, Madras: coffee—4th.
J. Lechlere, Sheroweay, Madras: coffee—4th.

Ceylon.

Mackwood and Co: coffee—4th.

Judges' Special Note.

We were disappointed with the quality of the Ceylon coffees exhibited. They had in almost all classes a bad colour and undeveloped appearance, probably owing to the crop having been plucked before it was properly ripened. The Indian coffees almost invariably had a deadish colour, which we attribute to impurities in the water used for washing.

(Signed) W. F. Ponder, A. Du Boise, James Cock, C. M. Rosenthal.

TEAS.

Victoria.

Oriental Tea Company, Melbourne: teas, four varieties of mixed packed teas, neatly got up, and supplying a public want—2nd.

India.

Williamson, Major, and Co., Calcutta: teas—1st.
Begg, Dunlop, and Co., Calcutta: teas—1st.
Singhulli and Murma, Darjeeling: teas—1st.
Balmer, Lowrie, and Co., Calcutta: teas—2nd.
W. Lee Kirby, Madras: teas—2nd.
Konsami Company (limited): teas—3rd.
Government of Madras: teas—3rd.
Octavius Steel and Co., Calcutta: teas, 4th.
Mulla Kuttyoon Tea Concern: teas—4th.

Ceylon.

Keer, Dundas, and Co.: teas—1st,
Ceylon Tea Company (limited): teas—3rd.
C. S. Armstrong, Rookwood, Dellota: teas—4th.

Japan.

Government of Japan: teas—3rd.

Straits Settlements.

C. R. Hardoun, Penang: tea—commended.

Judge's Special Notes.

We were greatly pleased with the samples exhibited by Ceylon. Great care and application must have been given to have enabled the exhibitors to bring up the qualities of their crops to the high standard possessed by them. The finest green teas are exhibited by Madras. The Japanese teas show special care in the manipulation of the leaf, but the liquors are wanting in pungency and briskness. Queensland shows an interesting exhibit of two tea plants, and two samples of manufactured teas. The former show that the tea plant will grow in the colony; the latter, that those sending them did not understand anything about tea manufacture.

CONDIMENTS, &c.

New South Wales.

R. Harper and Co., Sydney: spices, excellent flavour and condition—1st.
R. Harper and Co: ground pepper, excellent quality and flavour—1st.
R. Harper and Co.: spices (27 varieties), well-selected, in good condition—1st.
G. J. Waterhouse, Sydney: cayenne pepper, Fiji grain, good quality—3rd.
R. Harper and Co., Sydney: mustard, well grown, good and strong—4th.
Cumberland Fruit Preserving Company, Marrickville: pickles—commended.

Victoria.

Edward Zorn, Oakleigh: tomato sauce—1st.
Victoria Preserving Company, Melbourne: sauces—1st.
Victoria Preserving Company, Melbourne: pickles and chillies—2nd. Would have been first but for the inferior vinegar used.

TOBACCO, CIGARS, &c.

New South Wales.

Cameron, Brothers, and Co.: tobacco. A large collection of twist and plug tobaccos, all of very good fibre, good fillers, and fine condition throughout, and therefore we find their goods in the 1st order of merit.
Cameron, Brothers, and Co.: cut tobacco, excellent flavour and aroma, quality and condition of leaf used unsurpassed in the whole Exhibition—1st.
Wolfe and Gorrick: leaf tobacco, very good quality and body—2nd.
T. Saywell, Sydney: tobacco (aromatic twist and plug tobaccos), good sound flavour and condition—2nd.
T. Saywell, Sydney: cut tobacco, splendid sample, cut from twist tobacco of excellent flavour and condition—3rd.
T. Saywell, Sydney: cigars, fairly well made cigars, free smoking, but wanting in aroma—4th.
Wolfe and Gorrick, West Maitland: tobacco. This was first rejected, but considering that the tobacco used was taken from new leaf grown in the colony, we consider this worthy of commendation.
T. Saywell: cigarettes, good tobacco, but inferior paper used in their make.

Victoria.

Virginian Tobacco Manufacturing Company (Limited), Melbourne: tobacco; twist and plug tobacco of good flavour and condition—4th.
Virginian Tobacco Manufacturing Company (Limited), Melbourne: snuff; very fine well-milled snuff, of great strength, aroma, and condition—1st.

Queensland.

J. H. Hooken, Brisbane: leaf tobacco; very good tobacco—2nd.
W. Courten, Glenora: leaf tobacco; fine body, leaf full-grown and aromatic—3rd.
A. Jones, Cawarral: leaf tobacco; good body and rich quality—4th.

United States.

T. C. Williams and Co., Richmond, Va.: tobacco—1st order of merit and certificate.
T. C. Williams and Co.: chewing tobaccos—1st.
W. S. Kimball and Co., Rochester, N. Y.: cigarettes—1st.
Watson and M'Gill, Petersburgh, Va.: tobacco—3rd.

Germany.

Compagnie Laferne, Dresden: cigarettes—2nd.
J. Przedecki, Bresla: cigarettes—2nd.
Julius Horwitz, Dresden: cigarettes—3rd.

ANIMAL PRODUCTS.

New South Wales.

Sydney Meat Preserving Co.: corned beef, compressed beef, sheep's tongues, Liebig's extract, corned mutton, spiced beef, all of a very superior quality—1st.
J. Darcy, Bega: hams, very good, new, not much flavour—1st.
J. Darcy: bacon, very good sample—1st.
H. Wren, jun., Bega: cheese, very good, rich flavour, and quality very superior—1st.
Executors of late T. S. Mort: cheese, very good, but not quite equal to Wren's—2nd.
H. Miller, Bega: hams. Very fair, good flavour—2nd.
Geo. Meaker, Bega: bacon. Very fair, good, flavour—2nd.
R. Towns and Co., Sydney: compressed mutton, boiled beef—(both over cooked, too dry); compressed corned beef, spiced beef, sheeps' tongues, (all good)—2nd.

Victoria.

John Blanc: cheese in tin, a very superior article; equal to anything imported—1st.
Watson and Paterson, Melbourne: hams, very superior to many English bacon (imported), smoked rolls, &c., (excellent colour and very salable)—all 1st.
Kerrick: bacon, particularly good—2nd.
J. and C. Hutton, Melbourne: hams, sound, but no flavour—3rd.
Western Meat Preserving Company: corned beef in square tins—no award; game, equal to any imported—1st.

Queensland.

B. Skinner: turtle soup, very good—1st.
B. Skinner: ox tounges, spiced beef, &c., splendidly got up—1st.
Whitehead and Co.: extract of meat, dissolves immediately, leaves no sediment, and is very palatable—1st.
Whitehead and Co.: luncheon beef, round of beef, compressed corn beef, roast sirloin, ox tongue, &c., all unanimously considered to be superior to all other preserved meats in the Exhibition, their close resemblance to shortly killed meat being most remarkable—1st.
B. Skinner, Moreton Bay: turtle, in shell complete, splendidly preserved—1st.

New Zealand.

M'Donald and Miller, Dunedin: bacon, best in its class—1st.
Charles Blake and Son, Picton: highly desirable on account of quality, condition, and freshness—1st.
Edward Sheedy, Dunedin: hams, superior to the rest of the exhibits—2nd.

Tasmania.

O. H. Hedberg, Hobart Town: cheese, not equal to Blanc's (Victoria)—1st.

South Australia.

Northern Meat Preserving Company: boiled rabbit, roast rabbit, rabbit and bacon, ox palate, corned beef, stewed kidney, ox cheek, stewed tripe, roast beef, seasoned beef, curried beef, cowheel (a new preparation in the colony). All very good, rabbit very superior—1st.

Great Britain.

Crosse and Blackwell: preserved fruits, &c.—1st.

Local Government, Gunnia-ken: cocoons and raw silk—2nd.
Kaitakushi Settlement Department: cocoons and raw silk—3rd.
Kiritsu Kosho: upholstering silk—1st; figured silk, 3rd; and plain woven silk, 4th.
Mitsui, Bussan, Kuwailha, and others: crapes, handkerchiefs, &c.—no award.

France.

L. Permezel and Co., Lyons: coloured silk—first degree of merit.
C. J. Bonnett and Co., Lyons: satins—1st.
C. J. Bonnett and Co., Lyons: black silks—1st.
Guinet and Co., Lyons: black silks—2nd.
(Signed) E. Webb, Chairman; Kennedy De Pestrowski, F. B. Lark, Josiah Small.

RAILWAY PLANT, &c.

New South Wales.

J. B. Skinner and Co., Sydney: brass casting (assortment). These brass castings, used in railway carriages, are of fine quality—2nd.
C. Lewis, Sydney: railway distance signal-post. This is a very good and economical construction of signal, and is worthy of commendation as a colonial exhibit made in New South Wales from local iron, and for its cheapness—2nd.

Victoria.

Railway Department, Melbourne: Wood's patent hydraulic automatic brake. This exhibit merits a first-class award for ingenuity and simplicity of design. Its action is instantaneous both in applying and removing the brake; the mechanical contrivance for making the brake continuous, and for automatically providing for the safety of any portion of a train, in the event of a breaking of a coupling, and admirable in every respect—1st.
Railway Department, Melbourne: water tank on columns, valuable and economical mode of storing and supplying water to locomotives, &c.—1st.
Railway Department, Melbourne: points, crossings, &c.; well made, simple, efficient, and economical—2nd.
Railway Department, Melbourne: wrought-iron wheels, excellent workmanship and material—2nd.
Railway Department, Melbourne: railway gate for crossings, light and elegant in design and economical in construction.

Great Britain.

Dubs and Co., Glasgow: combined locomotive and train—1st.
Ibbotson, Brothers, and Co., Sheffield: railway appliances, coupling sleepers, &c.—1st.
Tangye, Brothers, Birmingham: patent ramp (Strondaly's), for re-railing carriages and waggons—2nd.

Maré and Gerard, Brothers, Bogny-Branx: bolts, nuts, &c.—1st.

Germany.

Achengesellschaft, Eisen and Stahl Werk, Osnabrück: iron permanent ways—2nd.
Union Achengesellschaft Bergbau and Co.: wheels and axles for railway rolling stock, &c.—1st.
Van der Zypen and Charlierdents: wheels and axles for railways and tram cars—2nd.
Glbrückmann, Dortmund: rails and apparatus for moving carriages—2nd.

United States.

William Sellars and Co., Philadelphia: 50 feet locomotive turn-table—1st.

Appended to the foregoing recommendations were the following resolutions, passed by the sub-committee:—

I. The general excellence of the exhibits of bolts and nuts is so great that the judges have found great difficulty in making their awards.

II. Judges desire to call attention to the advisability of their being furnished with appliances for testing springs. In the absence of such tests they are quite unable to give any opinion as to the quality of this class of exhibits.

A CENTRAL BUTTER MARKET.

The co-operation of the Agricultural Society of New South Wales having been solicited by the Southern Coast farmers towards obtaining a metropolitan market for dairy produce, the former instructed Mr. Moser, their secretary, to visit the Kiama Agricultural Society's meeting last week, for the purpose of making a strict inquiry into the subject. The following is the draft report which that gentleman purposes laying before the Council, from which it will be gathered that not only the dairy farmers, but the consumers of butter from the coast districts, have very good reasons for agitating for a market. It is satisfactory to find that the central society is, now that it is not employed with exhibitions, vigorously taking in hand matters of this kind, and meriting the support of the public in its crusade against abuses:—

"In view of the discussion likely to ensue upon the motion for some time before the council of this society, having reference to the necessity of establishing a central market for dairy produce, I, under advice from the Council, visited the Kiama district on 4th instant, and the result of my inquiries I now place before the members.

"There can be no doubt whatever but that the dairymen at present are making very little profit out of the industry. Except in those cases where large families are engaged in the business, thereby doing away with the employment of hired labour, it is questionable whether the dairy farmers are making ends meet. The demand for dairy produce, it is alleged, is far below the supply, and, in addition to that, the quality of butter is so deteriorated by the usage it receives in passing from the producer to the retail customer, that much of it is almost unfit for human consumption.

"It is impossible to deny that a very large quantity of butter from the coast districts is spoiled by careless manufacture. The buttermilk is not perfectly extracted in the first instance, and the cream in many cases is tainted through the impurity of the dairies by defective drainage or neglect of ordinary sanitary precautions. On the other hand, the filthy condition of the wharfs and holds of steamers, the disgusting manner in which the kegs are exposed to dirt and offensive atmospheres, tend to render the latter, after once or twice using, utterly unfit to pack the butter in, as, when the wood becomes once tainted, no amount of cleansing or scalding will get rid of the impurity.

"Instances were brought under my notice where the butter kegs have been used on the wharfs to build up rude stockyards for the pigs and calves landed on the wharfs, and then taken to the stores of the commission agents so coated with filth as to be barely fit to handle. I witnessed myself a number of empty kegs packed in close proximity to a closet and urinal on the wharf, the smell from which was sickening. Knowing the delicate character of butter, and and how sensitive it is to the absorption of any foreign taint, it can readily be inferred that such treatment of receptacles used for storing it in is not only ruinous to good butter, but simply dangerous to those who consume it.

"The dairy farmers, as a rule, seem to think that the establishment of a central market under proper supervision will get rid of nearly all the evils they complain of, and they very naturally ask the co-operation of this central association to obtain it.

"Most unquestionably, if the butter could be transferred at once from the steamers in which proper refrigerating chambers have been provided, not for freezing but keeping the butter cool on the passage, into a properly ventilated and wholesome building, a great benefit would ensue. The treatment received on the wharfs, and in many cases even in the agents' stores in Sussex-street, where the atmosphere is not always the sweetest, would be at least got rid of; and helping the dairymen to obtain this from the Sydney Corporation is, I think, a fair matter for the central society to take in hand.

"Advices received by dairy farmers residing in the Kiama and Shoalhaven districts from England and India, of the quality of shipments of butter made there years ago, prove that there is an excellent market for surplus dairy produce; but it is impossible, under the present system of transport to Sydney, to expect even a properly manufactured butter to reach the metropolis in first-rate condition, much less to be landed in a foreign market.

"The amendment of the traffic, and the remedy of abuses, appear to me subjects more for the consideration of the producers than for this society; nor do I see how the latter can move in the matter. Regarding, however, the establishment of a central market, I think that the sooner some steps are taken to bring the matter under the notice of the municipal authorities the better, not only in justice to the producers but to the consumers, the latter of whom have little idea of the contamination dairy produce received coastwise is subjected to before it reaches them through the retail dealers."

During the recent meeting at Parihaka, Mrs. Bartlett, the landlady of the Opunake Hotel, went up by invitation from Te Whiti. Mrs. Bartlett is the first white woman who has been to Parihaka and received a welcome in the well-known native fashion, which is not easily to be forgotten by those to whom it is accorded.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.—Its Unequalled Efficacy in Consumption.—Dr. Sinclair Coghill, Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption and Diseases of the Chest, Ventnor, writes:—"For many years I have, in private practice, exclusively prescribed the Cod Liver Oil of Dr. de Jongh, from a large and intimate experience of its superiority as a remedial agent in appropriate cases to other cod liver oils, ignorantly landed on account of their comparative tastelessness and lightness of colour. More recently I have had, in the Royal National Hospital for Consumption here, an opportunity of instituting a more extensive and systematic comparison, and I have convinced myself that in tubercular and the various forms of strumous disease, Dr. de Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other cod liver oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other cod liver oil, that Dr. de Jongh's oil was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit. Dr. de Jongh's oil is now the only Cod Liver Oil used in the Royal National Hospital for Consumption and Diseases of the Chest." Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil is sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts by all chemists and druggists. Sole consignees, Ansar, Harford, and Co., 77, Strand, London. ## MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

Friday Evening.

The improvement in the Stock and Share market, noticed at the beginning of the week has continued, and prices closed still stronger to-day. Bank shares were in good request, and generally dearer: City wanted at 10⅝, held for 10¾; Commercial held at 94 for fully paid, 67 for new issue; Joint Stock sold at 14¼, and had sellers at 14½; for Mercantile 5¼ was paid, 5⅜ asked; New South Wales changed hands at 49 and 49½, closing with buyers at the latter, sellers at 51: New Zealand taken at 19⅞ to 20, and held for 20½; National of Queensland inquired for at 6½, sellers at 7; for Union 59 was asked. Steam shares better: Australasian had buyers at 15½, sellers at 16, sales at 15¾; Hunter River scarce, and dealt in at 7; Illawarra asked for at 5½, held for 6½; buyers of North Shore Ferry at 13s. 6d. Insurance shares active; City changed hands at 1s. 3d., Mercantile at 1s. 6d., and New South Wales at 50s.; Pacific had buyers at 50s., sellers at 51s; no Sydney Marine for sale, 29s. 6d. offered; all the United obtainable at 35s. were taken, and more wanted at the same, 36s. 6d. asked. There was a further advance in Gaslight, offers of 13 refused, 13½ wanted—new issue not offered. Shale Oil had buyers at 10s. 9d., sellers at 13s. Volunteer land orders could be bought at 91. Coal shares unaltered: Bulli scarce, and wanted at 11½; Wallsend dealt in at 15¼, closing with buyers at 15, sellers at 15½; Waratah inquired for at 8¾. Great Cobar Copper had buyers at 31s. 6d., sellers at 35s.; offers of 4s. 9d. declined for Krohmann's Gold, 5s. 3d. asked; Star of Peace wanted at 3s., offered at 4s.; Rapp's brought 10d., and 90s. was paid for Band and Albion, ex. div., with sellers at 92s. Brisbane Tin were done at 7s. 6d. Government Debentures still very scarce: New South Wales funded fours could be placed at 91; New Zealand fives offered at par; City of Sydney sixes had buyers at 100, offered at 102 for long-dated.

The demand for imported merchandise has been rather slack for some days, but holders are very firm. The breadstuffs market is rather dull and supplies increasing. At Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin's sale to-day, a quantity of Southern wheat was sold in small lots at 4s. 6½d. to 4s. 7½d. Flour remains at £11 to £12 10s. Malting barley has some inquiry at 4s. 6d. English hops are scarce, and held at 3s. 6d. for new Kents. There is a moderate demand for trade quantities of liquors. Queensland rum is lower, we heard of a sale at 2s. Bulk ale in fair request, holders of Aitkin's and M'Ewan's new brew ask 5s. more than Marian's has been sold for. Bulldog bottled moving at 11s. 3d., and 11s. asked for Cameron and Saunders. Pig stout firm at 10s. In brandies a limited business is being done—45s. paid for Hennessy's three star, 35s. would be taken for a parcel of ordinary case, and 11s. 3d. to 11s. 6d. for bulk. Bottled whisky in good demand at 16s. 6d. to 20s. for best brands. There has been some inquiry for galvanized iron for New Caledonia, and prices remain firm at say £28 for good second, and up to £29 10s. for best. Tin plates slightly dearer. Sheet lead unchanged. There is a fair trade inquiry for oils. Colza is moving at about 4s. 6d., and kerosene at 1s. 8d. to 1s. 8½d. In oilmen's stores there is a little doing at late rates. The sales of sugar continue small, and prices strong. Brewing crystals scarce. Mauritius cablegrams to the 28th ultimo, confirm the news previously received as to the state of the market there; Exchange on the colonies was at 17 per cent. premium. The market for local produce at Darling Harbour was fully supplied this morning, more especially with straw, which was in excessive demand. A considerable fall in this line has taken place during the week, from 10s. to 15s. per ton; and if quantities still continue to come forward in the same ratio, prices will get even lower. Best oaten hay, in bundles and trusses, fetched from 5s. to 5s. 6d.; wheaten, which was not so firm, from 3s. 9d. to 4s. 3d. There was no first-class oaten hay in bales in the market, but for medium 4s. 6d. to 5s. was obtained, and 3s. 3d. to 3s. 6d. for inferior. Lucerne, best Windsor trusses, brought from 3s. 9d. to 4s. 1d.; best Bathurst bales, 3s. 9d. to 4s. Straw fetched from 3s. to 3s. 6d., the greater proportion at the close of sale realizing the lower prices. Chaff was not as active as at the previous market; although samples were first-class, 5s. 3d. was the highest price realized. Best pumpkins, from 4s. to 4s. 3d. per dozen; water-melons, 3s. 6d. to 4s. Bran and pollard remain at the previous quotations. For wheat, 4s. 6d. to 4s. 7d. is now obtainable for best samples; barley, 2s. 9d to 3s.

Our usual monthly summary for the Suez mail will be published on Monday.

There was only a limited demand for tallow at the public sales held to-day by Messrs. Mort and Co., Mr. Barker, Messrs. Maiden, Hill, and Clark, Mr. Bridge, and Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin. There was little or no demand for shipping lots, but trade lots were fairly salable at about late rates, and £27 was realized for a parcel of very prime beef. Calfskins realized 8d. to 2s. 9d.; yearlings, 2s. 9d. to 5s. 4d.; goat, 1½d. to 8d.; kangaroo, 4½d. to 1s. 9d.; horse-hides, 3s. to 5s. 5d.

The Lusitania (s.), for London, took the following shipments of specie:—Five boxes silver coin, value £1000, Union Bank of Australia; 1 box gold and silver coin, value £1751 11s. 8d., M. Spence; 2 boxes silver coin, New Zealand Loan and Mine Agency Co.

Their second wool sale this week was held to-day by Messrs. Mort and Co., for the disposal of small lots and balances of clips, and quitted 650 bales and packages at prices about on a par with those current at their sale on Wednesday.

MINING.

Star of Peace G. M. Co. — Mining Manager's report, 12th February:—"We have just crushed 8 tons from new vein east of Rowley's, for 17 oz. 12 dwts. gold. This was fully as much as I expected it would go; I think it likely that it may go over 3 oz. next time. We are getting more room now and can work to better advantage, and the gold is more regular. From the 750-feet level broke a couple of buckets of quartz this forenoon; from here it does not look payable yet. There is galena from both ends and a fine looking vein 5 to 6 inches thick south, but there is not so much colour as in the north. I see a good deal of that silvery looking mica with gold in it this morning."

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1880.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Ministers answered questions respecting the grant to Messrs. Lillyman and Malone of certain land at Narrabri; the construction of tanks at Bulgan and Baradine, and between Narrabri and Moree; the repairs to the bridge over the Peel River at Tamworth; the system of requiring bondsmen for Government contracts; the proposed construction of a telegraph line from Louth to Cobar; the published letter of the secretary to the School Board at Rookwood, reflecting on the teacher at that place; and the contract from Goodman's to Falconer's, on the Cobborah Road.

Ministers also laid on the table returns relative to the Water Supply, D. Cleary's selection, and the Cobborah Road, and it was ordered that the documents be printed.

The adjourned debate on the Contempts Punishments Bill, the second reading of which had been moved by Mr. Buchanan, was resumed.

Mr. Wisdom opposed the bill, which, in his opinion, would lead to the administration of justice being sometimes brought to a standstill in the superior Courts.

The second reading was negatived.

On its being moved that the report on the Betting Houses Suppression Act Amendment Bill be adopted,

Mr. Buchanan condemned the bill, which he contended would be futile and impotent, and would bring Parliament into contempt, inasmuch as betting would be continued notwithstanding the passing of the bill.

Mr. Garrett believed the bill would put down betting in public houses, and in other places were it was at present carried on and was offensive to the community.

Captain Charles thought the bill would lessen the chances of young men being ruined by betting or gambling, and intended to give it his support.

Mr. Cameron said the general statements as to the ruination caused by betting could not be justified, and that this bill would drive the people to secret and illicit betting.

Mr. Terry believed the bill would answer the purpose he had in view, which in the main was the suppression of betting in public places.

Mr. Gray was in favour of the bill, which he thought would do away with the occupation of professional bookmakers.

Mr. Lucas knew that many young men had been ruined by betting, and was glad to have the opportunity of supporting this bill, which he thought would check the evil. He would also like to see the Totalizator Bill passed, as another means of lessening the chances of the persons who lived on the fat of the land by following the business of professional gamblers.

Dr. Bowker thought the bill was intended by most of its supporters to apply to excessive betting, but he feared it would unnecessarily interfere with the liberty of the subject by making innocent games in private houses illegal.

The motion was carried on division by 27 to 5, and the third reading was made an order of the day for Friday next.

The Equity Law Amendment Bill was, on the motion of Mr. Driver, referred to the select committee now sitting on the administration of the Equity Branch of the business of the Supreme Court.

The House adjourned at 5.50 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday next.

If there is one institution which, more than another, has characterised, from the earliest times, all the colonies and dependencies of England, it is that of a Governor. It is, then, singular that round this particular institution, even at the present day, more doubt and uncertainty seems to hover than about any other constitutional fact to which the government of the British Empire gives rise. It was only the other day when, in reference to what might seem the mere routine task of exercising the prerogative of pardon in the name of the Crown, Sir Henry Parkes was called upon to enter on a lengthy constitutional analysis of the right and wrong doctrines which are prevalent on the position of the Governor of this colony as representing the Crown. Canada, again, has been originating a new leading case in constitutional law by imposing on her Governor a new standard of responsibility from which he seemed to flinch. A new case, marking out still further the position and functions of Governors, has just come on appeal before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and, though the well ascertained constitutional law on the subject seems to have been little varied by the decision, yet the case is likely henceforward to take the place of all previously decided cases, as exhibiting the limits of a Governor's rights and authority.

In November, 1877, an action had been brought against Sir Anthony Musgrave, the Governor of Jamaica, for the recovery of £14,000 damages in respect of the unlawful detention of a ship called the Florence. The plea of the Governor was, that articles were stored on board the Florence in contravention of a proclamation which forbade their exportation. It was further pleaded that the act of detention was done in his official capacity as Governor, and that he was entitled as Governor to the privileges and exemptions appertaining to that office and its holder. It was this latter plea of privilege which was raised on the appeal and to which alone the Appeal Court addressed itself. There is no doubt that the wide terms of the Governor's plea would suffice to justify acts far more autocratic and unjustifiable than the special act then in question. Either a colonial Governor is liable to be sued in the Courts of the country in which he resides, or in the Courts of the home country, or in respect of the limits of his jurisdiction he enjoys absolute judicial immunity, the only remedy against him being the impracticable one of impeachment, or the uncertain and desultory one of censure by the political authorities at home. The decision of the Judicial Committee draws the distinct line between the sort of Imperial claims contended for by the Governor's plea, and the actual rights and liabilities appertaining to the case as they are recognized by English law. After broadly laying down the doctrine that there is no personal privilege attaching to the office of Governor, which exempts him from being sued in the Courts of the colony of which he is Governor, the judgment goes on to say:—"The Governor of a colony does not represent the Sovereign generally, but has only the functions delegated to him by the terms of his commission. In other words, the Governor of a colony is not a Viceroy, but simply an officer with limited authority from the Crown. A foreign Ambassador, on the contrary, is absolutely exempt from all municipal jurisdiction by the comity of nations and the rules of international law." At the close of the judgment it is added "that the Governor's actions are limited to the scope of his commission, within the limits of which he is protected. Other acts beyond his authority will not be protected, though acts of State policy, done under the Crown, are not cognizable in a municipal Court."

The reference contained in this judgment to the precise terms of the commission under which a Governor is appointed and acts, is a justification for the line of argument adopted by Sir Henry Parkes when examining the legal attitude of Lord Augustus Loftus towards the Crown, in respect of the prerogative of pardon. Sir Henry Parkes went directly to the particular detailed instructions which were furnished to Lord Augustus Loftus on his appointment, and which were the only index to the amount of authority which the Crown had parted with in his favour. Most of the false reasoning and vicious conclusions which affect the treatment of colonial topics come from a wholesale and indiscriminate practice of jumbling all English dependencies into one mass, and then affirming propositions which, if true of any, are said to be true of all. The erroneousness of this style of reasoning is nowhere more conspicuous than in the matter of colonial Governorships. Nothing can be more distinct than the functions of the Governor of a Crown colony, and those of a Governor of a colony possessed of true representative institutions. The Viceroy of Ireland, again, is so only in name, while the Viceroy of India may occupy a position as servile or as despotic as the Secretary of State for India of the day may capriciously choose to confer upon him.

Nevertheless the judgment here referred to emphasises afresh some broad constitutional principles, which are of as universal a character as any that the subject admits of. The Governor of a dependency is not outside the law, but is within the law. He can do wrong in a sense in which the King or Queen cannot. The popular error is for observers to be so far dazzled by the local elevation to which he is temporarily raised, as to believe that he occupies a position nearly analogous to that of his Sovereign. So far as the Governor acts outside the limits of his jurisdiction, as defined by his special commission, he acts at the same risk as would any private citizen. If, indeed, for the purpose of meeting any sudden emergency, he exceeds his jurisdiction, this may furnish ground for compensation from the home authorities, or indemnity from the local Legislature; or, in the case of criminal proceedings being resorted to, from a Royal Pardon. But when, on the contrary, the Governor confines himself within the limits of his jurisdiction and authority, no local Court of justice or Legislature is entitled to interpose. The Government at home may review and criticise the exercise of his discretion, and the result of such review may be his suspension or removal. The doctrines reaffirmed by the judgment in Musgrave v. Pulido are of little immediate importance in so orderly and constitutionally governed a community as this, but we have not to look far round, or a long way off, to find cases in which the limits of the authority possessed by Governors cannot be traced by too exact or too firm a hand.

The enthusiastic reception accorded to General Kauffmann, according to an item in the summary of news telegraphed from Adelaide on the arrival of the Suez Mail, by the entire garrison of Tashkend, has a significance deeper than may appear at the first glance, although the reported fact that the first person to welcome the veteran campaigner was Abdurraman Khan, brother of Yakoob, the abdicated Ameer of Cabul, should serve to point the moral. The assumption of command by a popular and successful general is occasion sufficient for a demonstration on the part of the troops; but something more is required to account for an outbreak of absolute enthusiasm. Some tangible expectations of feats to be achieved, and practical issues to be accomplished under the guidance of the commander, have, ordinarily, been the inspiring cause of martial enthusiasm in similar cases. What were the probable expectations of the Russian soldiers when General Kauffmann made his appearance as their appointed leader, may be inferred from precedent reports. In October last, the Berlin correspondent of the London Daily News wrote that information received from a private correspondent in St. Petersburg, occupying a position which gave him access to sources of reliable information, had reached him to the effect that orders had been issued to prepare for two Russian campaigns in the spring; one under the command of General Kauffmann, who would collect three or four army corps, in all about thirty or forty thousand men, from Orenburg and all parts of Turkestan; while the other would be drawn from the army of the Caucasus. These armies, directed from the north and west were to converge upon Afghanistan, where it was expected that the mountain tribes and other natives would co-operate upon assistance being given to them. Again, the Broad Arrow of November says that a reinforcement numbering from 30,000 to 40,000 men had been ordered by the Russian Government to proceed from the Caucasus to Central Asia; and the same journal remarks that as Russia has already declared the British intromissions in Afghanistan have relieved her of any conditional obligations in that quarter, the progress of events was likely to be more rapid than is sometimes supposed.

That the report of projected movements published in the Daily News was something more than a mere canard seems established by the fact that one of the expeditions predicted has already been undertaken. The Russian forces, moving from the west in the direction of Aghanistan via Merv, have been silently launched; so silently, that little more than a rumour of their advance reached the outer world, and that the extent of their operations was only brought to light by the bruit of the heavy reverses which befel them. When, therefore, it is learned that the General named in the early statement has actually assumed the command to which it was then declared he had been nominated, there is justification for attaching considerable importance to the circumstance, and for believing that the information of the Daily News' correspondent, having been verified already in so many essential particulars, may prove accurate as to such as remain to be fulfilled.

For once, it must be borne in mind, the Russian Government has elected to be frank. It has declared without circumlocution that the intrusion of British troops into Afghanistan has relieved her of any conditional obligations on her part to abstain from further advances in the same direction. The maintenance of a neutral zone became an obsolete idea as soon as the British armies poured over the Indian frontier. It must be considered, moreover, that although the rout of the expeditionary force launched from the eastern shores of the Caspian against Merv was a sore discouragement to schemes such as those Russia was alleged to have in view, and although the almost simultaneous occupation and apparent pacification of Cabul by General ROBERTS was another heavy blow, the later phases of affairs in Afghanistan cannot but be regarded as amply compensating. It had seemed but recently as though while Russia had been flung back with disgrace from her goal, the British had attained theirs and had been definitely accepted by a people not indisposed to accept a British occupation in a friendly spirit. To-day all this is changed. The armies of the British stand on their defence, almost isolated, amidst a nation in arms against them. Any foe of theirs seems sure of a welcome by the Afghan tribes. If there at any time seemed inducements for Russia to oppose England in these regions, these must appear augmented tenfold just now. The spring season is at hand, General KAUFFMANN is at his post, a suitable pretender to the Afghan throne is in his camp, already showing himself prepared to play the part of catspaw. Considering all the circumstances, the reported enthusiasm of the 30,000 or 40,000 men assembled at Tashkend is intelligible enough, and were there no more pieces upon the political chessboard the events of the coming season for campaigning could be pretty safely predicted. But, happily, the army of General KAUFFMANN is representative of merely an isolated knight. At another part of the board the Russian king is in check, and the game is entangled in endless complications. The key of the position is, after all, in Europe, and upon the solution of the diplomatic entanglements in which apparently all the nations of the west are ravelled at the present time will depend the possibility of the army of KAUFFMANN advancing a single march to take advantage of the favourable opening before it.

That an elementary knowledge of human physiology is of great practical value, and that for this reason it is worth while making an effort to introduce this branch of science into the ordinary school curriculum, is an opinion that is rapidly gaining ground. The age in which we live is essentially utilitarian in its tone, and the first question asked when any new proposal is brought forward is—will it pay? Now the one point about a knowledge of physiology is that it does pay, and that it pays high dividends. An elementary knowledge of physiology is almost essential to a proper understanding of the laws that regulate the maintenance of health. The man who knows nothing about the subject, too often offends at every step, goes blundering on till he finds himself helplessly bogged, applies for help, and, as a rule, finds himself too late. For the punishments that follow the disobedience of natural laws, though bitter when they come, are not hasty in coming. The retribution is of gradual growth. Little by little, through simple ignorance, the offender is storing up for himself the germs of evil. When no one, and least of all the victim himself, expects it, the breakdown comes, and there is no reprieve. In its aggregate, the punishment for ignorance is of so overwhelming a character, that the general public find it difficult to attribute it to its proper source. They do not understand. Yet it is true that half the lunacy in the asylums at home and in the colonies, half the consumption now so fearfully prevalent in our midst—in short a large portion of all the misery in the world—is due primarily to ignorance, and consequent disregard of physiological laws.

Looking at the matter in this light, it seems fair reason for wonder that the public teaching of physiology has not been regarded as an essential from the very first. In preparing a child for the duties and trials of life, we omit to furnish him with any knowledge of the science of life. Accordingly, at a more or less advanced age, the boy or youth is turned out to grope his way along a dark and anxious road without receiving any hint of the dangers along his path. Few reach the end of their journey without being severely punished for their ignorance. For nature treats ignorance as a crime.

One question still remains—the practical value of the subject being granted—at what age may it be taught with advantage? In the Public schools the average age ranges between seven and fifteen. Within these years the intelligence of the children would be quite sufficient to enable them to grasp thoroughly the elementary facts of physiology. It would not be too much to devote from two to four hours a-week in each class to the subject. Something, we believe, has already been done at the Sydney Grammar School in this direction. But as yet the Grammar School stands by itself. In England, on the other hand, physiology has for some years past been taught in Board schools, and with much success. In New Zealand, too, the various Education Boards have lately ordered the introduction of the subject into the schools under their control. "Thus," says Professor HUXLEY, "a measure is coming into existence which will turn out to be of more importance than many political changes, over which the noise of battle has rent the air."

The situation at the Transvaal is a singular one. The conquest of the Cape of Good Hope subjects to the sway of Great Britain a population of Dutch. An enforced allegiance is never a cordial one, and to subjects by the fortune of war mistakes in administration are apt to appear in the light of deliberate persecution. The descendants of the settlers who inhabited the colony at the time of its surrender preserved the prejudices of their fathers, and impatient at what they regarded as injustices inflicted by alien rulers, they, with a degree of independent spirit which it is difficult to condemn, abandoned their ancestral homes and settlements, and penetrating the outer wilderness found new tracts remote from the dominions of their sometime rulers, where they constituted a State on a basis of republican institutions. But as time elapsed the older settlements spread outward. The territory of the little republic was no longer isolated, but touched upon the outlying settlements of the British. Troubles with the savage races who originally peopled all the land arose, and were aggravated partly by constant absorption of their country and partly by the contentions which invariably occur between aboriginal races and intruding pioneers. Savages are inapt to distinguish between different nationalities of white men, and habitually visit upon the most accessible the offences of any of the colour. The manner in which the Boers of the Transvaal conducted their dealings with the formidable hosts of Zulus and Kaffirs, which swarmed equally beyond the frontiers of their Republic and of the British settlements, developed into a matter of serious concern to the British rulers. The inhabitants of the Transvaal themselves when menaced with the vengeance of the savages they had provoked, showed a disposition to look for protection to neighbours of their own colour. That they should be left to perish was not possible, that they should be allowed without control to embroil the whole frontier was absurd. Annexation was the only apparent course which offered a solution of the difficulty. Yet now that annexation has formally been accomplished the Boers are restive, and the situation has, for England, some embarrassments. It is foreign to her traditions to repress the independent national sentiments of a free race. England has no desire to be twitted with having a little South African Poland strangling under her heel. Against sentiment, reasonable argument is almost invariably powerless—as much so against a national sentiment as against any other. To convince the uneasy Boers that their State is absorbed in all kindness, and really to save them from being overwhelmed by a barbarous neighbour whom they had wronged, may prove an impossible task. Yet from the position she has assumed it is not possible for Britain to recede. If the Boers will not listen to the voice of her charming, they must expect to feel the infliction of the horsemen and the shouting. It cannot but be distressing to Englishmen to have to exercise severities against individuals whose crimes are unreasoning love of independence; but if people persist in being blind to the force of inevitable necessities and to the effects of their own wrong-doing, and refuse to sacrifice sentiment in deference to the requirements of extended security for others besides themselves, the sympathy which their patriotism might otherwise gain will be deadened.

Mr. BUCHANAN is a happy man. Whichever side he takes in a controversy—and he has shown us how to take both—he is always serenely conscious that he is right for the time being, and that those who argue the other way are fools—or something worse. This absence of all misgiving is a comfortable frame of mind for an advocate, especially when accompanied by a convenient oblivion of past experiences. But though the delusion is pleasant, it would be a further delusion to suppose that it imposes on other people, and it is still less likely to do so when he passes from declamation to argument. Mr. BUCHANAN sees in his own consciousness that if there were only protection, the Mudgee people would weave their wool as well as grow it. Whenever he condescends to make himself acquainted with the facts, he will find that Mudgee wool would be exported, even if there were a heavy duty on imported cloth. It would never pay to work up into tweed wool that is worth four shillings a pound. The specialty of the Mudgee wool is its adaptation for light delicate fabrics, and it is because the French are so clever in that line that they are such good customers for the finest Australian wool. We produce that article at present better than any other part of the world does, and in New South Wales Mudgee is the district that takes the lead. The climate and soil seem both favourable, and they are things that are not removable or imitable. Wherever nature has stamped a district as specially suitable for the production of a particular commodity, we cannot do better than follow the leadings of nature. By so doing we work to the greatest advantage, and co-operate with forces which cost us nothing. As to the producers themselves, they can have nothing better than the best of markets. To them, the free commerce that brings them in close connection with the buyer who will give the highest price is all they can ask for. And no conceivable tariff could make a local market better for Mudgee wool than the European market is. We could not work it up to the same advantage as it is worked up in the European looms, and if we could, we have no sufficient market for the product.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

WE publish this morning the first batch of awards made by the judges in connection with the International Exhibition. The judges have for some considerable time been actively engaged in inspecting the various classes of exhibits in the Garden Palace, and yesterday the judges' first report reached the Commissioners, accompanied by a large number of awards, which have been made by the judges subject to whatever appeals may be decided upon by the Committee on Judging and Awards. We publish in another column the full list of awards, which are now, for the first time, made public; but it is necessary to explain that the work of judging is still proceeding, and that further progress reports will be furnished by the judges.

A MEETING of the Exhibition Commission was held yesterday. Mr. Jennings reported that he had communicated with the Government on the subject of running excursion trains to the Exhibition, and had ascertained that the lowest rate at which a train would be run was £1 per mile, with a return journey, to and from places within 150 miles of Sydney; and for places beyond that distance a reduction of one-third would be made. He had conveyed this information to the Mayor of Bathurst, and had also telegraphed to Goulburn to Mr. W. Davies, one of the Commissioners, informing him that if the Goulburn people would guarantee 500 children at 4s. per head return journey, together with 100 teachers and parents, the former paying 5s. and the other 7s. 6d., the amount thus realized would be sufficient to cover the cost of an excursion train, and the excursionists would have the privilege of remaining in Sydney three or four days if they chose. The charges would be the same for an excursion train from Bathurst, and very little more from Orange. No answer had been received from either Bathurst or Goulburn. It was reported that the total number of visitors to the Exhibition up to the present was 748,126. It had been decided to reduce the expenses in connection with the art gallery to the extent of £16, and a similar retrenchment had been made in connection with the agricultural hall, Mr. Dawson and a clerk only being temporarily retained. Some discussion took place upon a proposal to extensively reduce the cost of carrying on the Exhibition, but no decision was arrived at. The general opinion of the Commissioners present at the meeting was in favour of keeping the Exhibition open till after Easter week.

WE learn by telegram from King George's Sound that the Indus arrived there on Thursday morning, after a splendid passage from Glenelg.

The P. and O. Company's steamer Deccan did not reach the bay at Melbourne on Thursday, until after the train bringing the overland mails, due here this morning, had left; and our English letters per Deccan cannot, therefore, reach here before Monday morning. The City of New York, with our mails from England and America, may be expected to arrive here to-morrow. It is not at all gratifying to know that, in consequence of the steamer being an hour or two late, the people of this colony will for two days be deprived of English letters.

IT is anticipated that the work in the General Post Office will be unusually heavy on Monday next in view of the expected arrival of two mails from England on that day, viz., via Suez and via San Francisco. It should also be remembered that this is the St. Valentine's festival week. We understand that strenuous exertions will be made by the postal officials to meet these extra demands on the staff, but it will be well for the public to bear the foregoing facts in mind should any slight delay take place in the ordinary deliveries.

ON Tuesday last Sir Henry Parkes, accompanied by his Honor Chief Justice Way (of South Australia), Mr. Gowan Evans (of Melbourne), and a few other gentlemen, inspected the Government Benevolent Asylum at Liverpool. The visit was quite unpremeditated, and no notice whatever had been given to the authorities, so that the party had an opportunity of seeing for themselves the manner in which affairs are ordinarily carried on at the institution. They went through the dormitories, the sick wards, and the kitchen. They saw the preparation of the food, and tasted the soup. They afterwards saw the inmates at dinner, and they also inspected the workshops, &c. The visitors seemed very much pleased with what they saw of the management of the institution, which they evidenced by the complimentary remarks they inscribed in the visitors' book. The Premier and his friends in the afternoon examined the paper mills, and took lunch with Mr. Murray, the proprietor.

REFERRING to the paragraph in our yesterday's issue relative to the number of insolvencies during the past two years, we have ascertained the number for the following years:—In 1859 and 1861 they were 511 and 463 respectively; in 1865 and 1866, 526 and 594 respectively; in 1877, 588; in 1878, 716; in 1879, 861; and as it was mentioned in the Court on Thursday that there were no fewer than 102 insolvencies up to that date for 1880, it will be seen that there has been a most undesirable increase during the past two years in the number of people who have sought to relieve themselves of the burden of their pecuniary obligations by the process of law.

IN the Equity Court yesterday, before his Honor Mr. Justice Hargrave, the case of Ryan and another v. Ryan was called on, and at the request of the parties adjourned, pending a settlement, till next Wednesday. In the Jury Court, his Honor Mr. Justice Faucett presiding, the trial of Crawford v. Doherty for damages for trespass to land at Chippendale and assault was commenced. The record was withdrawn in Crawford v. Gorman.

SOME splendid specimens of auriferous quartz were received yesterday from the Reform Company's claim, at Lucknow. The stone has the pyriteous appearance common to the Uncle Tom Reef, which yielded such wonderful results in England, where it was sent for more scientific treatment than was available here. We were shown three samples. No. 1 sample is a new vein discovered in the present workings (open lode), and is very rich in pyrites. The other samples, 2 and 3, are what they have been taking out during the last 8 or 9 months, and shipping to London. There are six shipments to be heard of, one of which was crushed and assayed at the Mint, returning 66 ounces to the ton. They are expecting returns of that lot by this incoming mail, and the returns of the others will come to hand by each successive mail, as they are now shipping every month.

THE French Consul at Sydney, M. Ballieu, transmitted £132 to New Caledonia yesterday by the City of Melbourne, for the relief of the sufferers by the recent hurricane. This sum was collected in less than twenty-four hours, and it is hoped that in a few days a similar amount will be got in. Subscriptions came in rather freely yesterday, and among those who contributed were—Metcalfe, Siddeley, and Co., £5; Mons. and Madame Lamal, £1 12s.; Captain H. Weber, £1; and Mons. and Madame Duboise, £2.

THE sittings of the Central Criminal Court were resumed at the Courthouse, Darlinghurst, yesterday, before his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer. The Attorney-General prosecuted for the Crown. The first case dealt with was that of Philip Monchaveau, a Frenchman, who was placed upon his trial for unlawfully wounding one John O'Neil, with intent to do him grievous bodily harm, on the night of the 26th December last. The case lasted upwards of three hours, and had not been concluded when the Court adjourned for lunch.

THE sittings of the Central Criminal Court were resumed at the Court-house, Darlinghurst, yesterday morning, before his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer. The Attorney-General (the Hon. Robert Wisdom) prosecuted on behalf of the Crown. Philip Monchavean, who was arraigned on a charge of unlawfully wounding one John O'Neill on the 26th December last, was acquitted. The case against George Luly for the manslaughter of a man named Johnston, at Newtown, on the 24th January, was dismissed, on the strength of the medical testimony, which went to show that the deceased met his death from natural causes. The Court, at its rising, adjourned till 10 o'clock on Monday next.

LAST night, Mr. William Hezlet, J.P., delivered an address to the electors of Paddington from the verandah of the Council-chambers, Waterloo. There was a large and influential attendance, and Alderman Hogan occupied the chair. The candidate met with a very good reception, and the usual vote of confidence was declared by the chairman to be carried unanimously.

THE new church in Bourke-street, erected upon the site of the iron structure so long occupied by Congregationalists under the pastorate first of the Rev. W. Slatyer and for late years under the pastorate of the Rev. Thomas Johnson, was opened for divine worship on Sunday last, when the Rev. W. Slatyer preached in the morning, the Rev. J. H. Fletcher (Principal of Newington College) in the afternoon, and the Rev. J. Jefferis, LL.B., in the evening. On Thursday evening, a public meeting was held in the church, the Rev. Thomas Johnson presiding. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. J. C. Kirby (chairman of the Congregational Union), G. G. Howden, W. Bradley, J. Olley, — Fairey, Dr. Kelynack (president of the Wesleyan Conference), and P. H. Cornford (Baptist), in which the several speakers congratulated the rev. chairman and his congregation upon their entrance into so elegant and commodious a church, and wishing for them a large amount of prosperity. From the financial statement read by Mr. W. S. Buzacott, it appeared that the church had cost about £4500, towards which, by contributions and the sale of the materials of the old church, they had received nearly £2500, and had negotiated a loan to the extent of £1500. A collection was made, which with the collections made at the opening services, amounted to £311. The Rev. Chairman gave a brief address and pronounced the benediction. The opening services will be continued on Sunday (to-morrow), when the Revs. J. G. Fraser, M.A., T. S. Forsaith, and Thomas Johnson are announced to preach.

DURING the last month, 3600 meals were given at the Night Refuge and Soup Kitchen, which is much in excess of the usual number; and shelter was afforded in 1930 instances. The number supplied with dinner each day was about 100, and the number sleeping each night about 70. Some 30 were provided with situations. On over 80 occasions the lodgings of women were paid for in the neighbourhood. Those needing them, were provided with orders for the Infirmary, and free-passes by railway were procured for those wishing to proceed to the country. The amount of distress prevailing at the present time is much greater than usual. Several charitable people in the city have recognized this fact, one writes as follows:—"Understanding that the funds of the Night Refuge and Soup Kitchen are rather low, I have sent you a further subscription of two guineas to help you, preferring to assist our own charities, rather than more distant ones." The funds are in fact exhausted, and the account overdrawn at the bank. The Night Refuge and Soup Kitchen is not subsidised by the State, but depends wholly upon voluntary assistance, and is the only institution of the kind in the city that affords immediate assistance to those in distress.

NOMINATIONS for the handicap for the Orange races close on Monday.

A MEETING of the members of the Port Jackson Swimming Club took place last night, at Trickett's Hotel. The draft rules and regulations were submitted and adopted, and the following officers elected: —President, the Right Worshipful the Mayor; vice-presidents, the Aldermen of the city; hon. medical officer, Dr. Belgrave; treasurer, Mr. A. J. Bloomfield; secretary, Mr. F. G. C. Hanslow; captain, Mr. W. Wynne; committee, Messrs. Parry, Hampson, Angelo Smith, Griffiths, Von Hammer, Higginbotham, and Alderman Palmer. It was decided that the opening match should take place on Friday, 5th March, and that entries should be received up to Wednesday, 3rd, at 4 p.m.

WE have received a large amount of correspondence during the last day or two on the subject of Mr. Corcoran's letter anent the use of a funnel in the process of washing clothes. It would seem that his invention or suggestion has been made by others who have interested themselves in the production of labour-saving machines. The value of Mr. Corcoran's hint is none the less valuable on that account. Several of our correspondents ask for more explicit information regarding the method of using the funnel. What Mr. Corcoran recommends is this:—A quart funnel, 7 inches diameter at bottom, half an inch diameter at top, and 10 inches in perpendicular height. The six holes round the rim are each to be a quarter of an inch in diameter; the funnel must be placed in the boiler large end downwards, and the clothes around it. The effect of this is, by the generation of heat under the funnel, to keep the water in constant circulation, and the clothes in equally constant motion.

IN yesterday's issue we gave a brief resume of Professor Elkington's lecture on "The Practical Value of the Study of Political Economy," and promised to give further excerpts, and we now extract from his lecture, the professor's remarks on the question of protection and freetrade. He says:—"I suppose a lecture on the practical value of the study of political economy will be hardly considered complete unless the greatly-vexed colonial question of protection is touched upon. I will merely remind you that the great office of exchange is to aid labour. Whatever, therefore, impedes the free course of exchange must hinder and not help labour. It follows that to justify a protective system of restrictive tariff on the grounds alone that it helps or stimulates industry is beside the question. You might as well try to stimulate or aid a man's vital energies by tying a cord tightly round his neck; and keep on making it tighter because his convulsive throbs give ocular proof to his uncritical physician of the success of his protective stimulant. Let me turn for a moment to the practical side of the subject, and recall to your memory a single sentence from one of Mr. John Bright's recent speeches. 'Freetrade,' he says, means 'great trade,' and no one who is conversant with the industrial history of the Empire during the last 50 years will question the accuracy of the statement. Yes, free trade means great trade; but what follows from that? Is it not that great trade necessarily means great demand for labour? And that great demand for labour means nothing in the world else than high wages? Let us recapitulate the points: Free trade means great trade, great trade means great demand for labour, great demand for labour means high wages; therefore, free trade means high wages. This is a logical nut which I respectfully commend to your attention. It will be found hard to crack, and I have never known it to be cracked, although many sets of teeth have been tried upon it. Like the rain, or the sunshine, or like liberty itself, free trade may, through our knowledge or ignerance, work occasional injury, but it is still a great and permanent blessing to those who enjoy it."

WE learn from the New Zealand papers that, in refusing a discharge to an Auckland bankrupt, Judge Gillies said:—"I have something to say in regard to this case, and in regard to such cases generally. I see that the bankrupt, in the statement of his assets, has nothing—that his estate is nil. My attention has been called to this circumstance, and I have carefully considered the provisions of the Act in respect of such fact, where it occurs. I am clearly of opinion that the Act was never intended to apply where the debtor has no assets. The whole machinery of the Act is intended to provide not only for the relief of the debtor, but for the equal division of his estate among his creditors. Where the debtor has no estate to be divided it is a solemn farce to have trustees appointed, and meetings of creditors where there is nothing to be divided. There is no reason for an individual in such a position coming to this Court for relief. His person is protected by law; he cannot be touched by any of his creditors. He has no estate that can be touched, and no one creditor can have advantage over another, because there is nothing to be got out of the estate. I therefore see no reason why a person of this description should come before the Court for relief. The law has protected him by preventing his being imprisoned, and he has protected himself by having no assets. In such circumstances I am of opinion that the Act does not apply. I shall not in this case, or in the other cases of the kind that may be brought before me to-day, act on this opinion. I shall grant the discharge where it is proper, in accordance with previous practice—which practice, however, I think has been erroneous. But I am very clear that the opinion I have just expressed is the correct one, and I may intimate that in future I will act on the principle set forth in it, where there are no assets in a bankrupt estate. I shall hold that the Act was never intended for such cases, and I shall not grant any discharge."

"COSMOPOLITE," in his peregrinations through the North-west, writes to the Dubbo Dispatch of 28th ultimo, as follows:—"I bid adieu to the Darling at Keranilpa, 130 miles below Bourke. After travelling through a sandy, waterless desert for some thirty miles, I suddenly emerge from the mulga scrub into clear open ridges, which very soon give place to a chain of scraggy mountains. Eventually, the weather being dry and warm, Gidsgalambone (one of Mr. J. E. Kelly's stations) is reached. The station is situated on a large, rocky, waterless creek, and is forty miles from the Darling. Water is obtained from a well, which has an inexhaustible supply. On this station the sheep are turned out on the mountains, and stray about as they choose, but they cannot get away together, there being no water. The next habitation is Messrs. Stephenson and Sons' Pulpulla station, ten miles further on in the mountains. Here there is a faint spring from a hill, supplying sufficient water for domestic purposes. The tanks and creeks are dry. Mr. Stephenson, to my great surprise, informed me that there had not been sufficient rain in that locality to cause the creeks, which are steep and rocky, to run for the last twenty-one months, and that during the winter months they had sleet, fog, and mist alternately. Another 50 miles and Cobar is reached—the far-famed Cobar, of such renown, the last in creation—a wretched hill-top ornamented with rookeries of corrugated iron. A burning sun, fumes of copper and other minerals, stagnant pools of muddy water, storms of dust, with blasts of hot winds, is the order of the day. You may have a plunge or bath by journeying 80 miles, the nearest watercourse being that distance."

IT is understood (says the Insurance and Banking Record) that the Bank of New South Wales has withdrawn from the agreement amongst the banks which has been for some time in existence. This course has not, we believe, been taken with any view to take up a position inimical to or at variance with the general policy of the other banks. There is evidence of this in its harmonious action with the other institutions in the negotiations with the Government of Victoria, and in its again acting with them in the reduction of the rates of deposit interest.

YASS (says the Courier) was incorporated in March, 1873. The total estimated value of its ratable property upon which rates are struck is £100,000; the estimated annual value of ratable property upon which rates are struck is £10,000; the annual receipts (inclusive of Government aid) are over £600. Since 1873 a rate of 1s. in the £ has been annually struck, and the yearly income has not varied much, unless by the occasional Parliamentary vote of a couple of hundred pounds for the improvement of the reserve.

THE Age of Monday remarks:—"Now that a very considerable portion of our deadweight freight business has been transferred from Hobson's Bay to Sydney, it is not surprising to find that our intercolonial steamers display a determination to profit by the circumstance. The demand for this class of freight still remains, because the transfer of the terminus of our ocean steamers to Sydney has not created a local supply, and these vessels have still to look outside New South Wales for this special class of cargo. In connection with this demand Messrs. Wm. Howard Smith and Sons, like acute business men, foresee the practicability of establishing a lucrative trade for their vessels, and they now propose, if certain facilities are obtained on this side, that their steamers shall act as tenders for conveying our wheat from Melbourne to Sydney for shipment to England."

THE New Zealand Times states that on the Arawata arriving at Auckland detective Jeffrey arrested a man on the strength of a description given in a cablegram, for stealing a sum of money from Eugene Kourge, of Sydney. The man had intended transhipping to the San Francisco steamer, by which a warrant came down for his arrest. Kourge, the man robbed, is connected with the German department of the Sydney Exhibition. The accused looked a respectable man, but an examination of his trunk satisfied the detective that he was the person he wanted.

THE Christchurch correspondent of the New Zealand Times telegraphs on the 6th February:—It was rumoured yesterday that an attempt had been made to poison "Pastor" Chiniquy. It seems that on Wednesday night a letter was received at the Oddfellows' Hall addressed to the Pastor. When opened by the secretary it was found to emit a strong stench. The secretary said that after handling the letter, and putting his fingers to his lips and nose, an itchy sensation followed, and shortly afterwards his lips were swollen considerably. A paper was also inside the envelope, on which was written, "Remember, you are to meet your God. Prodigal child, come to me home. I am one who would give alms if you want them. Reflect on this. Look at your black angel." The envelope and enclosure were handed to the police, who submitted them to Professor Bickerton. He reports as follows:—"I have examined the paper sent to Mr. Chiniquy, and find it to contain nothing more than varnish and dead flies."

THE authorities of the Post Office are (says the London Times) about to issue a new penny postage-stamp, which has been chosen after a good deal of consideration. It is a great improvement upon the present stamp in form, the colouring is lighter and more cheerful than the brickdust red with which letter-writers are familiar, while the Queen's bust shows much more clearly. The gum seems also to be of better quality, and the new stamp will thus, we hope, be pleasanter to deal with than that now in use. An additional advantage for revenue purposes is that, being printed in a fugitive colour, the new stamp cannot be cleaned. Messrs. De La Rue are the contractors.

"LONDON, Feb. 12.

"With regard to the recent diplomatic correspondence respecting the possession of Herat, Persia has forwarded a proposal to the effect that a commission shall be appointed to define the north-east frontier of Persia. Persia, in the meantime, intends to occupy the Afghan province of Seistan, and eventually take possession of Herat. England has assented to these proposals."

THE LAND BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—A letter appeared in your paper, dated the 10th instant, signed John E. Kelly, in which he states:—"If Sir John Robertson is not throwing dust in the eyes of the 'back-blockers,' he is woefully ignorant of a subject which of all others he prides himself of his knowledge of. His amendment of the 15th clause—wherein he proposes to reduce the minimum rent of certain Crown lands to 10s. (ten shillings) a mile (I suppose Mr. Kelly means 10s. per section of 640 acres)—has no application to any land now left in this country."

I rather think this gentlemen has displayed more ignorance in this matter than Sir John Robertson. If Mr. Kelly will only take the trouble to refer to a return furnished by order of the Legislative Assembly, "to be printed 26th September, 1878," he will find that there are no less than 427 leases of Crown lands which will expire at the end of this year. All these runs will be appraised this year, and new leases will be granted for five years from the 1st January, 1881. A great many of these runs are back waterless blocks of country which would be benefited by the amendment Sir John Robertson proposes to add to the 15th clause of the bill. Between 1868 and 1874 the Government put to public competition, through Messrs. Richardson and Wrench, 1237 forfeited or vacated blocks of country. Very few were sold, although in some cases they were twice offered by these gentlemen to public competition at certain rents. Subsequently these "back blocks" of country were taken up, at the upset price of £10 per block. These leases are now falling in, and some are forfeited a second time. The occupants of those not forfeited are entitled to fresh leases for another five years under the Occupation Land Act of 1861.

Should the present Land Bill pass without the amendment suggested by Sir John Robertson, the rents could not be less than twenty shillings per section of 640 acres. Under such rents a very large extent of country must be abandoned, for the present occupants could not retain the blocks at those rents.

Sir John Robertson's amendment of the 15th clause is intended to meet these cases, such as where the occupants have failed with all their exertions, and expenses to procure permanent water for their stock by artificial means. Surely these outside squatters deserve some consideration in the renewal of their leases at 10s. per section of 640 acres.

Several of my "back blocks" of country were appraised last year (1879). I received from the Crown Lands Office the following circular in each case:—

"Occupant of Lands, Sydney, 21st November, 1879.

"Sir,—The fair annual value of your run named in the district of Albert, having been appraised pursuant to the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, at the sum of £.

"I have the honour to inform you that you will be granted a new lease of the run in question for five years under the said Act by payment of that amount into the Colonial Treasury on or before the 31st December next. If the adjusted rental is not paid by the date above specified, the existing lease will be held to have lapsed, and the run will in due course be offered to competition as vacated.

"I have the honour, &c.,

(Signed) TERENCE HARRIETT, Chief Officer."

After the above letter, what becomes of Mr. John E. Kelly's statement: "If Sir John Robertson is not throwing dust in the eyes of the 'Back Blockers,' he is woefully ignorant of a subject which, of all others, he prides himself on his knowledge of. His amendment of the 15th clause wherein he proposes to reduce the minimum rent of certain Crown lands to ten shillings a mile has no application to any land now left in the colony."

I never approved of the Land Acts of 1861 or 1875; still I do not like to see the author of the Act of 1861 attacked unfairly. I remain, &c.,

AN OLD COLONIST.

A letter from the Rev. J. G. Paton, of the New Hebrides Mission, is published in the Southern Cross. It states that when he was on board the Dayspring, at Eromanga, a very strange-looking fish was seen around the vessel at some distance below the water. Every effort to catch one had failed, when a teacher speared one of them, and brought it to the captain in water, when it appeared as if surrounded by feathers, owing to its very long fins. It had also from its forehead two protuberances like horns, 1½ inch or so long, and soft after it was dead. Its tail and long fins were all beautifully coloured like a turtleshell. All round the top of its fins were a row of sharp spines like darning needle points. The captain attempted to lift it out of the water, when it struck one of its sharp spines into the top of his finger, which in a moment caused excruciating pain. His fingers became paralysed and cramped, and consciousness appeared almost gone. After he was bled, he gradually recovered.

DEPUTATIONS.

THE MEAT SUPPLY.

A deputation, consisting of Messrs. Furlong, A. H. Brown, W. W. Richardson, W. F. Buchanan, C. F. Bedwell, E. W. Lamb, Chisholm, R. Richards, J. Eckford, M.L.A., E. Vickery, Bell, Coonan, M.L.A., A. Lynch, M.L.A., H. L. Beyers, M.L.A., T. Moser, Dr. Jenkins, and other gentlemen interested in stock-growing, was introduced by the Hon. G. H. Cox to the Minister for Works yesterday morning, for the purpose of enlisting the assistance of the Government in the promotion of a proper system for supplying the metropolis with meat from the interior districts.

Mr. Cox said they had two objects in view—the establishment of a dead meat market, and the erection of a freezing house. The establishment of a dead meat market, he said, would encourage a great many stock owners in country districts to send their products to Sydney, and would facilitate the sale of meat killed at the abattoirs. It was extremely desirable that cattle intended for consumption should be slaughtered as near as possible to the localities in which they were depastured, because this would prevent a waste on each beast of about 150 lbs., besides bruising and fever. The injuries sustained by cattle in travelling were enormous, and frequently led to the meat becoming unfit for human food. A deputation had waited upon the Corporation in connection with this subject, and the Corporation had promised it a cordial co-operation. It was thought that cooling rooms should be attached to the market, so that in the event of there being a surplus of meat it could be cooled or preserved until it could be transmitted to a meat-preserving company's works, and made fit for exportation. This would prevent a great deal of the waste in the meat, which at present amounted to 25 per cent., from flies and hot weather, which was an enormous loss to the colony. The result of the objects of the deputation would be that graziers would obtain an increased value for their stock, and that the price of meat would be reduced to consumers. They believed that the freezing rooms should be erected in the vicinity of deep water, so that in the event of the meat being shipped to other ports it might be handled as little as possible. Glebe Island, he understood, contained 33 acres at present but by the reclamation of 20 acres of mud flats it would comprise 53 acres, which would be ample for the objects they had in view. It would also provide them with water 20 feet deep, suitable for shipping, but which was not utilized at present in any way. The establishment of sale yards here would provide purchasers of small quantities of meat with opportunities for obtaining what they required. They could not well obtain what they required at Homebush. It was understood that the Government were about to have cooling rooms erected near the abattoirs, and it was now hoped that they would assist the deputation in obtaining land for the erection of large freezing rooms for meat from the country, which after being stored might be placed direct on board vessels for exportation. They believed Glebe Island eminently suited for this purpose, and that it could be made to provide wharfage accommodation for the shipment of live stock.

Dr. Jenkins, Mr. Buchanan, Mr. A. H. Brown, Mr. Chisholm, and Mr. Furlong also addressed the Minister on the objects in view, and Mr. Bedwell complained of an inequality in the railway rates on dead meat as compared with live stock.

Mr. Lackey, in reply, said that the objects of the deputation were of considerable importance to the country. With reference to the establishment of a meat market it was a question whether the work devolved on the Government or the Sydney Corporation. The Corporation had dealt with the sale of the products of the country already, and he thought meat a fair product for them to arrange the sale of also, and to obtain a revenue from. This being the case, he did not see that it was the duty of the Government to step in until it had been ascertained that the Corporation were unwilling to move in the matter. In reference to the utilization of Glebe Island for the objects of the deputation, he had no hesitation in saying that he believed it a most suitable place for the purpose of carrying on a meat trade. He feared, however, that the island would not be found suitable for cattle sale yards, because it would not be convenient for buyers who supplied consumers in Parramatta and other centres outside the metropolis. The question was, whether Glebe Island was to be connected with the railway some distance above the terminus or with the present depôt at Darling Harbour. This would have to be the subject of much deliberation before it would be safe to arrive at a final decision on it. With respect to the construction of cooling rooms, he took the opportunity of saying that his hon. colleague the Treasurer had already taken steps to have such structures erected at Glebe Island in connection with the abattoirs, but with regard to the freezing rooms, which would be absolutely necessary in connection with a meat depot, a question arose as whether the freezing of meat was an occupation which should be under the control of the Government. The Government having performed the duties of carriers to the public the important question arose as to whether they should undertake the storage of dead meat in the metropolis after they had taken it there. He did not hesitate to say that he was fully convinced of the necessity for the Government to erect such buildings as could be utilized for this purpose; and having said this he, thought the deputation would see that as far as he was concerned it should have his heartiest co-operation in furthering the objects it had in view. In regard to the question of carriage, he had taken occasion to ascertain the best means for the transmission of meat from the interior, the Department having lost no time in procuring a car from England as a specimen, and he was very glad to say he had succeeded in procuring another car from America—a refrigerating car with bogie wheels, and capable of holding an unusually large number of carcases. With these cars for models, and the appliances available to the department, the facilities for conveying the meat would be completed with the least possible delay. He was at variance with some members of the deputation as regarded the relative charges for the conveyance of live stock and dead meat. He had made inquiries concerning the practice in other countries and had ascertained that the charge was greater for the dead than for the live animal in Victoria and America. The charge here for dead meat was considerably lower than in Victoria. He had asked the railway authorities to provide him with particulars of the causes of the disparity in the two rates, and he found that it arose from the necessity for keeping cars specially for the conveyance of dead stock, from the necessity for the cars to be treated with special care because they were readily thrown out of order, and from the necessity for them to be run as quickly as possible, in order to prevent the meat from turning bad. But he thought that a comparison of the two rates would show any gentleman that the disparity was not so great as seemed to be supposed. A claim had been set up against the department for injury to meat which had been detained, and he feared such cases would become numerous if the department were to undertake the storing of the meat. It would be difficult to determine where the responsibility of the Government would end. The storing and the cooling of the meat, he thought should be placed in the hands of private persons after it had been brought to Sydney. The department would provide them with every facility for bringing it to Sydney, and knowing the importance of the subject he hoped their enterprise would result beneficially to the community. He would take the earliest opportunity of placing their recommendations before the Government with a view to their being carried into effect.

The deputation then thanked the hon. gentleman, and withdrew.

TRAMWAY TO YOUNG.

A deputation, consisting of Messrs. W. J. Watson, A. Cohen, J. Russell, J. Johnston, E. E'Voy, W. Sharp, G. H. Green, A. Akin, and Thomas Alsop, waited on the Minister for Works yesterday morning, for the purpose of bringing under his consideration the desirableness of connecting Young with Murrumburrah by means of a tramway. The arguments in favour of the tramway being constructed were based on the following grounds, which were set forth in a petition from Young, said to have the names of 625 persons attached to it:—"The population that would be benefited by the line is estimated at 10,300, and is increasing. There is a vast area of land under crop, producing great quantities of cereals, the land being especially suited for this kind of grain, and the amount would be enormously increased if an easy method of transit were available. In fact, there is no doubt that if facilities were offered to the growers, this would be the largest grain-growing district in New South Wales. The estimated number of sheep in the district is 687,833, and the petitioners believe that more than 10,000 bales of wool would be annually exported from this town. Large quantities of merchandise are consumed, and the passenger traffic is very large and important. The eighteen miles from Murrumburrah to Young offers no engineering difficulties nor necessities for bridges to be constructed. The immense benefit to this important district, and the certainty of the financial success of the line, have suggested to the petitioners that if these facts were properly represented you would have no hesitation in introducing a bill into Parliament for the immediate construction of the tramway. A system of cheap tramways as feeders to the main lines being one of the most urgent wants of the day, this line, which could be cheaply constructed, would be an excellent opportunity of putting to the test the often repeated assertion that tramways to inland country towns are sufficient to meet all requirements in the way of railway communication for years to come."

Mr. Lackey, in reply, said that he intended to ascertain as soon as possible how far the tramway system could be made available in the interior for feeding the railways. The suggestion made by the deputation was a reasonable one, and it occurred to him that it was desirable to connect their district with some part of the railway. Being impressed with the importance of their district, he would lay the petition before the Cabinet with a view to the prayer it contained being acceded to.

The same deputation presented a petition in favour of railway refreshment-rooms being located at Murrumburrah instead of at Murrumburrah North. Mr. Lackey said that he would be guided in this matter by the report of the traffic manager.

RAILWAY SIDING FOR EVELEIGH.

A deputation consisting of Mr. Henderson (Mayor of Alexandria), Mr. A. Jesson, Mr. John Osborne, Mr. A. Torning (Mayor of Waterloo), Mr. Veseys, Mr. Stanley (Mayor of Redfern), and Mr. John Sutherland, waited on the Minister for Works yesterday morning, to draw that gentleman's attention to the desirableness of a railway siding being constructed at Eveleigh. It was pointed out that the siding would meet the requirements of a large proportion of the people of Redfern, Alexandria, and Waterloo, as regarded the delivery of hay, straw, corn, and other agricultural products, and kerosene shale. It would save a mile in the cartage of shale to the kerosene works, on the Botany Road, and it would obviate the difficulty the residents experienced in procuring suitable accommodation at the Redfern terminus, which was now very frequently blocked with loaded trucks. It would also prevent the boroughs having to pay unnecessarily for the carriage of road metal.

Mr. Lackey said, in reply, that the department was written to on this subject some time ago. In furtherance of the application for a siding, the report of the officers whose duty it was to advise the Government on matters of this description was asked for, and they sent one in unfavourable to the construction of the siding. But as it was pointed out by Mr. Sutherland and other gentlemen that the siding was extremely necessary, it might be possible that it could be constructed in conjunction with the new railway works the Government were going to establish in the neighbourhood. At any rate, he would obtain a further report on the subject from the officers of the department.

THE NORTHERN RAILWAY.

A deputation waited on the Minister for Works yesterday, for the purpose of presenting a petition from a meeting held at Ryde recently, in favour of the projected northern railway being taken from Wallsend via Ryde to the northern shores of Port Jackson. It consisted of Mr. G. Wicks, Mr. John Blaxland, Mr. James Hicks, Mr. Edward Terry, Mr. Curwood, and Mr. J. K. Linsley, representing Ryde; Mr. G. Donald, of Hamilton, and Mr. J. S. Farnell, who also introduced it.

Mr. Lackey said that this matter had been brought before his notice on several occasions by the residents of different localities. Each of the localities seemed to think that its claims for the railway were greater than those of its neighbours. The Government had no opinion on the matter, but desired to construct the railway so that it would confer the greatest good on the greatest number. They had officers engaged in finding the best possible route, and these officers had made three or four different surveys. He saw Mr. Whitton in the morning on the subject, and that gentleman said they were trying to find a route between the Hawkesbury River and some portion of the country this side of Newcastle better than any yet discovered. It was thought that they could lessen the present estimated cost by erecting two bridges over the Hawkesbury at Dangar's Island instead of one lower down, where the construction would cost half-a-million pounds. The reason why the line could not be taken over the Parramatta River bridges was because these were not capable of sustaining the large traffic from Newcastle and the general through traffic. It was with this fact in view that a survey had not been made across the river at these bridges. As the engineer entertained that opinion, he could not see what good would result from the survey unless the Government saw fit to erect new bridges—a course which would be very costly. The cost, indeed, would be as great as that of erecting a bridge over the Hawkesbury, and he did not think the Government would be likely to incur it. So far it was impossible for him to say which course the line would take, but he would give the deputation the assurance that the petition would be placed before the Government before any decision was arrived at.

Mr. Farnell expressed his astonishment at hearing that the Parramatta River bridges would not sustain the railway traffic anticipated, as he understood that instructions had been given to make them strong enough to do so.

The deputation thanked the hon. gentleman and withdrew.

DEPUTATION FROM BURWOOD.

A deputation, consisting of Alderman Forrest and Alderman Menzies waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday morning to ask the Government to effect improvements in Driver's Bridge, and a bridge on the Cheltenham Road. Mr. Lackey promised that the bridge should be inspected by competent officers with a view to the improvements being made.

DEPUTATION FROM NORTHUMBERLAND.

A large deputation from the district of Northumberland, consisting of the Mayors of Wickham, Lambton, Wallsend, Plattsburgh, besides other parties, had an an interview with the Colonial Secretary at his office, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Burns, M.L.A., introduced the deputation in the absence of the member for Northumberland, who was unavoidably detained at the Supreme Court, and explained that they wished to bring under the notice of the Government the fact that there was a dearth of employment, and some destitution in the district of Northumberland, and to suggest that it was desirable for many reasons at the present juncture that the public works which the Government intended to construct in that quarter should be proceeded with as early as possible. That suggestion was, he was sure, a reasonable one; and so, also, was another, that the municipal endowment for the year should be supplemented to the same extent as it was last year, in which he thought the Colonial Secretary would concur.

Mr. Richardson, the Rev. Mr. Adams, Mr. William Hogg, Mr. William Davis, and other members of the deputation, bore testimony, from personal observation, of the distress that prevailed, and of the extreme difficulty experienced by mechanics, as well as by miners, in obtaining employment; and Mr. Richardson thought the Government should immediately commence the erection of the waterworks, and the construction of the railway between the North and Sydney.

Sir Henry Parkes, after receiving replies to questions which he put with the object of eliciting information, said he was impressed with the importance of the matters submitted by the deputation for his consideration. He did not think they could expect the Government to commence the construction of the railway at once, seeing that they were not at present quite certain about the route that would be selected; nor could they hope for the very early construction of the waterworks, but he would promise to bring before his colleagues, on Monday, the question of the increased municipal endowment, and the immediate construction of any works which had been sanctioned by Parliament.

The deputation thanked the Minister, and withdrew.

MUNICIPAL ENDOWMENT.

A deputation, representing the various suburban municipalities, waited on the hon. Colonial Secretary in reference to the question of municipal endowment. There were present—Mr. W. Tunks, Mayor of St. Leonards; Mr. D. Holborow, Mayor of Ashfield; Mr. J. Macpherson, Mayor of Waverley; Mr. C. J. Byrnes, Mayor of Parramatta; Mr. G. E. Herring, Mayor of Ryde; Mr. Elkington, Mayor of Balmain; Mr. W. J. Trickett, Mayor of Woollahra; Alderman Beaver (representing the Mayor of Burwood); Mr. J. See, Mayor of Randwick; Mr. C. B. Henderson, Mayor of Alexandria; Mr. M'Mahon, Mayor of Petersham; Alderman G. W. Barker, of Waverley; Alderman Hudson, of Redfern; Alderman Wildman, of Newtown; Alderman Taylor, of Paddington; Mr. Vivian, Council-clerk of Newtown; and Mr. Farr, Council-clerk of Burwood.

Mr. Tunks, in introducing the deputation, said they had come to ask the Government to place upon the supplementary or additional estimates a sum of money as endowment to the municipalities equal to the rates contributed during the last year. They were emboldened to make this request in consequence of the very decided action taken a year or two since to effect a reform in the Municipalities Act of 1867. Public business had prevented that reform from being carried out, and therefore he considered their case beyond dispute. While the city of Sydney and the public generally had been assisted in regard to roads and bridges, the suburban municipalities had not, and therefore they thought they had some claim upon the Government, especially as they were unable to help themselves in consequence of the amended Act not having been passed. Unless the Government granted them some aid of this kind, the municipalities would be unable to carry out the works required in their several localities.

The representatives of the boroughs of Alexandria, Balmain, Parramatta, Burwood, Manly, Waverley, and Randwick urged upon the Colonial Secretary the special necessities of the boroughs they represented.

Sir Henry Parkes told the deputation that he would lay before his colleagues at the next Cabinet meeting, which would be not later than Tuesday next, the representations they had made. The question in any case would have shortly to come before them from other causes, and he would see that what the deputation had represented to him he would do his best fairly to interpret to his colleagues.

INSPECTORS OF STOCK.

Yesterday Mr. Dangar, M.L.A., introduced to the Hon. the Minister for Mines a squatter of the Coonabarabran district, Mr. Duncan M'Master, of Coolah. This gentleman's object was to represent to the Minister that the salary of the sheep inspector of the district was much too low, and to make the request that the Government would increase it. It was represented by Mr. Dangar that all these sheep inspectors had very important duties to perform, that the loafing of sheep was to a great extent prevented by their performance of their duties; and, besides that the money paid to those inspectors did not come out of the general revenue, but out of a special fund provided by the squatters themselves. Mr. Dangar, and after him Mr. M'Master, then represented to the Minister that, if the squatters were willing to pay out of their own pockets increased salaries for the efficient performance of their duty on the part of the inspectors, the Government had no reason to object.

Mr. Baker, in reply, said that the matter of increased salary to those officers had been brought under his notice on several occasions lately, by means of both deputations and letters, and that he quite admitted that the salaries now paid were in many cases very low. Very recently additional duties of an important kind had been placed in the hands of these sheep inspectors, as, for instance, the inspection of pounds—a matter of considerable importance. Under these circumstances he was inclined to think the request by no means an unreasonable one, and he would consult his colleagues to see if something could be done to give these officers an increase of salary. As Mr. Dangar was well aware, the estimates for this year were already prepared, and it was doubtful if anything could be done until the preparation of fresh estimates.

Mr. Dangar suggested that, perhaps, some amount might be placed upon additional estimates.

Mr. Baker promised that the matter should receive his best consideration, and the deputation, after thanking him, withdrew.

CIRCUIT COURT AT YOUNG.

A deputation from Young, consisting of Messrs. Watson, Cohen, Green, Sharp, Armstrong, M'Evoy, and Russell, waited upon the Minister of Justice yesterday for the purpose of urging upon him the desirableness of establishing a Circuit Court at Young. It was pointed out that cases of committal from Young had to be tried either at Bathurst or Yass: the former being 120 miles, and the latter 70 miles, from Young. There was a large district surrounding Young, and an increasing population, and the deputation therefore thought the request might be acceded to, as it would not involve any extra expense on the part of the Government, the township of Young being within a short distance of the railway line. It would, moreover, be no great inconvenience to the Judge or prosecuting barristers, and the Government would be saved the expense of sending criminals and witnesses to Bathurst or Yass.

Mr. Suttor said that the matter was more directly concerned with the department of the Attorney-General than with him; but, as the Attorney-General was engaged at the sessions at Darlinghurst, he promised to forward the representations of the deputation to him.

THE URSO CONCERTS.

The wondrous unanimity of feeling manifested by the public of Sydney in regard to the merits of, and consequent support to be awarded to, the Urso Concerts makes the task of the critic comparatively easy. The potency of the vox populi has been admitted long ago, and when its agency is demonstrated so powerfully as the ovation of last night proved, there is little left for the judge beyond "summing up." More than once during the present series of admirable concerts the holding powers of the hall of the School of Arts have been sorely tried. Last night the pressure exceeded all previous experience. Not only was every seat on the plan occupied, but the approaches were crammed, the stage even was seized, and spectators were placed in the small space between the two grand pianos and in the small retiring rooms. Even then hundreds were turned away, and as every available seat is secured for to-night, the management, to spare the pain of reiterated refusals to country visitors who had travelled far to hear the famous violiniste, made inquiries, and finding the Hall free for Monday at once engaged it. Mdme. Urso and her artists start for Bathurst by the early train on Tuesday morning, but by skilful contriving Monday's performance can be accomplished; and to this the company is now pledged. Mdme. Urso's first solo was the grand "Polonaise in A," by Wieniawski, the encore was the "Souvenir de Haydn," by Léonard; the re-encore was a "Mazourka" by Wieniawski. The second part contained (a), Nocturne, No. 5, John Field; (b), Tarantelle, No. 6, Joachim Raff. Britain has not too long a catalogue of native musicians, and we, as British subjects may be pardoned for a little digression with reference to a distinguished man who has exercised so wide an influence on all musicians as that ascribed to John Field. The son and the grandson of a musician, he was made to go through the mill of diligent practice and hard grind: he was born in Dublin in 1782, and died at Moscow 1837. Field's nocturnes, pure and simple, the numbers 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, in Liszt's edition, are the embodiment of idyllic grace, the veritable Poésies intimes of such inimitable charm that no popularity can render stale, no base imitation nauseate. Any musical student at once recognises the obligations of Liszt and Chopin to Field. Not only the form of Chopin's nocturnes, but the weird emotion they embody, the typical melody and its graceful embellishments, the widespread chords, used as waving accompaniments, with their uncertain sound prolonged on the pedals, we owe to John Field; and to Madame Urso, for bringing his charming No. 5 before us, we cannot be too grateful. The "Tarantella," by Joachim Raff, which followed Field's Nocturne, was a charmingly attractive composition, and the two elicited a most unanimous encore; Madame Urso gave the air from the suite in D of J. S. Bach, for the G string only, and for a re-encore the "Air Montagnard," subject by Saniton, ornamentation by Camilla Urso. The applause, the recalls, the triumphs of the artiste in a receptive sense we are compelled to leave to the imaginations of our readers. Miss Jennie Sargent secured a unanimous encore for her two solos, the second repetition was a song by Mr. Alfred Moul, "The old Refrain," which promises to become a favourite. Signor Paladini's voice not yet being in its normal state, Mr. Andrew Fairfax obligingly sang two songs, "The Vagabond," by Molloy, and "Will-o'-the-Wisp," by Cherry; both were violently applauded. We have done our best to familiarise our readers with all styles. M. Saurot and Herr Sherek were all that could be desired. The programme will be unusually attractive to-night.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Theatre Royal, last night, the drama "Escaped" was repeated with its usual success. To-night Mr. Creswick's last week commences, and on Monday night week the renowned cantatrice, Mdlle. Carlotta Patti initiates her series of grand concerts at this theatre. It is expected that the lady will arrive in Sydney to-morrow. The well-known drama "Insured at Lloyd's," a work it should be remembered that obtained a prize offered for the best play setting forth the principles so ably made known by the publication of Mr. Samuel Plimsoll's memorable protest, will replace the "Streets of London" at the Victoria Theatre.

At the Opera House, this evening, will be produced the celebrated comic opera "Les Cloches de Corneville," a work which has attained so great a popularity in London, that its run (at the Opera Comique) bids fair to be as long as that of Byron's most successful comedy "Our Boys," while in construction and interest it is difficult to adjudge which is the better of the two. In November, the opera had passed its 578th representation. The music is the composition of M. Planquette, and the libretto was arranged for the English stage by Messrs. H. B. Farnie and R. Reece. The following is a brief outline of the story:—"In the first act we find an extensive collection of village gossips, discussing the usual scandal and small talk of a rural district. Serpolette, a sort of good-for nothing, is the topic of conversation among the village maidens and matrons. She comes just in time to save her reputation, by turning the tables on her traducers. Gaspard, an old miser, proposes to give his niece, Germaine, in marriage to the representative-official dignitary of the village, the Bailie. The niece decidedly objects to this arrangement; and although she declares that she is bound in ties of gratitude to a certain fisherman named Grenicheux, for saving her life (as she thinks), yet she asserts that her heart is untouched by the dart of love. To escape the marriage so hateful to her and Grenicheux, and to fly from the vengeance of Gaspard and the Bailie, both parties take advantage of the privileges of the fair, and become servants of the Marquis, in which position they find themselves joined by the scapegrace Serpolette. The second act is taken up with the exposure of the ghosts in the haunted castle of Corneville. The Marquis, confident that there was nothing supernatural about the strange appearances which for such a long time perplexed the simple villagers, introduces his men into the castle, and finds out, after many persistent attempts, that the entire army of ghosts is comprised in the person of Gaspard. The old miser is discovered, and becomes crazy on account of the fear of losing his treasures, which he has concealed in the old castle. The act ends with the celebrated bell song and chorus, the most taking musical number to be found in the entire range of comic opera. In the third act the chateau is restored to all its pristine splendour, and the Marquis has entered it as master. The villagers are invited to a grand fete, and the miser, Gaspard, is still crazy. Serpolette comes in as a grand lady, and Grenicheux, as her factotum. After a love scene between the Marquis and Germaine, it appears that the latter is the rightful heiress and the true claimant of the title of Marchioness, before conceded to Serpolette. The opera closes with the reconciliation of all parties, and the romantic story is brought to a happy end." Messrs. Kelly, Leon, Reid, Ball, and Winter, and the Misses Emma Wangenheim and Fanny Rogers assume the leading parts.

The Loftus Troupe put forward a particularly attractive programme for this evening's entertainment, commencing with an Ethiopian sketch, in which Messrs. Waters and Kelly have the fun to develop; then follow in quick succession a number of acts, in which the best members of the company appear. Mr. Sarony assumes female attire again; Messrs. Waters and Kelly indulge in more acrobatic dancing; Mr. Le Clair appears in a sketch affording him abundant opportunities for the display of his abilities; and Messrs. Rickey and M'Carthy conclude the performance with another Irish farce. Besides the specialities indicated there are the valuable additions of the services of Messrs. Atkins, Frost, and Davis, and the Misses Loftus, Esmond, and Little Katie.

This evening, the circus at the corner of Hunter and Castlereagh streets opens; and the second of the Guild Hall Popular Concerts will be given.

RAILWAY MANAGEMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Expedition and punctuality in the arrival of trains are essentials and valuable principles, and the new traffic manager has, with an eye no doubt to the public interest, issued some stringent instructions, but at the same time fraught with some contingent evils, as witness the following case:—The up mail train due at Redfern at 7.22 a.m. was on Monday over a quarter of an hour late upon the mountains. Now this train in the ordinary way would have been fully that time, and probably a little more, late in arriving at its terminus—how then is it managed? Simply by pushing on, or "making up time," as is technically called, to avoid the pains and penalties for arriving late.

Now, Sir, a heavy passenger train, such as Monday's was, coming down a wet line, slippery rails, steep gradients, and sharp curves on the mountains, at a rapid rate, is a serious matter, and fraught with great danger, and liable to cause a more serious accident than the late lamentable Parramatta one; nor is this all, although the train was crowded, and empty carriages stood in the siding at Penrith, yet "there was not time to hook them on," so that by the time the Parramatta contingent was taken in, some of the passengers had to stand.

Cannot our new traffic manager do better than this?

I am, Sir, &c., WESTERN TRAVELLER.

THE DOG NUISANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In this morning's issue appears a letter from "J. S.," asking to be allowed to bring under the notice of the "Powers that be" the alarming increase in the city and suburbs of the dog nuisance, and humbly suggesting the quadrupling of the present absurdly low tax. What he calls the absurdly low tax is 2s. 6d., and I think it is quite sufficient, and I do not think that "J. S." can have dogs of his own, or else I should not think that he would suggest quadrupling the tax. I think it falls rather hard on people with small incomes to have to pay 2s. 6d. to register their dogs every year. Yours, &c.,

H. S.

Sydney, February 12.

STOCK, STATION, AND PRODUCE REPORTS.

Brunker and Wolfe.—Stations and Estates: These properties are looked upon with greater favour, and there is an increasing demand for eligibly situated and well secured runs. The successful delivery in London of the consignment of fresh beef ex Strathleven, and disposal at prices considered satisfactory (the beef averaging 5½d, and mutton 6d per lb) has already caused the withdrawal of several stations from sale, and we notice that in Victoria station property has already increased in value 15 to 20 per cent. Fat Cattle: Sales on Monday opened brisk, values realized were equal to top quotations of last week. On Thursday the quality was scarcely up to Monday's supply. A draft of 260 bullocks, from Neotsfield, near Singleton, were much admired for their excellence of quality and heavy weights. We sold: 182 head (Dugald Cameron's) from Queensland, bullocks making from £2 19s to £5 2s, average £4; cows, £3 6s to £4 1s, average £3 8s; and at Maitland, 44 bullocks (J. Dyter) at £3 14s to £4 15s; 16 cows (W. Clendenning), £3 12s to £3 19s; 101 head (Geo. Nowlands'), bullocks £7, cows £4 to £4 2s; 8 bullocks (Dodd's), £3 4s to £3 8s; and quote best pens bullocks at Homebush to 14s, medium to 12s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: The supply forward this week has been the heaviest for some months. Medium lots were dull of sale at nominal values, while good to prime could not be sold unless at a reduction of 1s 6d to 2s per head on last week's quotations. We sold 320 wethers (A. Loder's), privately, at 9s 6d to 10s 6d; and at auction, 421 wethers (A. Loder's) at 8s 6d; 274 ditto at 8s 3d; culls at 8s; 1961 wethers (John Fisher), from the Merry Merry, at 7s to 7s 4d; 21 sheep (E. J. Reardon's) at 7s 6d; and at Maitland 571 sheep (A. Loder's), 8s 6d to 8s 9d; 676 ditto (R. J. Nowland's), at 6s to 6s 3d. Fat Calves: The supply arriving does not exceed the demand; values are improving, and any good lots offering are readily disposable from 15s to 30s per head. We sold 33 (Durham's) per steamer from the Hunter at 13s to 22s 6d, average 18s 6d; and Nowland's at £1 8s 6d. Fat Lambs: The market was completely glutted with inferior, good, and prime lots. We have frequently cautioned owners, and advised those who favour us with their patronage, not to send anything but prime quality, and inferior and fair lots were sold at prices ranging from 1s 6d to 2s 6d, and in some cases, were left on agents' hands. We sold 90 from Goulburn (E. J. Reardon), at 4s to 7s, and 104 from same district (Jennings), at 6s 6d to 9s 3d. Store Cattle.—We are constantly disposing of large numbers of mixed young cattle at our Campbell's Hill yards, values recently obtained have improved, still are far from satisfactory or remunerative to breeders. We have 394 for sale at Musclebrook, which we will offer at auction with other lots entrusted to our care on Tuesday, the 24th instant. Store Sheep: The demand for wethers adapted for fattening has not diminished, there are numerous buyers willing to concede prices leaving a fair margin for profit on prices ruling for fats.—February 14.

P. N. Trebeck.—Stations: Business in these is improving slightly, and if vendors would only give way a little there would be some good business done, as there are plenty of buyers on the look out. There are no inquiries for cattle stations at all, but the safe arrival of the Strathleven in London ought to make these more salable than at present. Store Cattle: There is nothing doing on account of the low condition of the fat stock market, but I hope to see a reaction shortly, as there is plenty of grass on our fattening stations. Store Sheep: I notice a good business doing in these, and several large lots have changed hands. Good ewes are worth from 7s to 8s, and wethers from 5s 6d to 6s. Fat Cattle: Prices rose a little on Monday, but on account of the large quantity offered on Thursday prices were again at last week's rates. Best beef is worth from 12s to 13s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: Large quantities still continue to come forward. 56-lb. wethers are worth 8s to 8s 6d, and lighter weights as low as 5s.—February 13.

Griffiths and Weaver.—Stations: We offered at auction this week the Ingleston and Bills Bills stations, without stock, but did not succeed in effecting a sale. We now hold them for private sale. Fat Cattle: On Monday sales were brisk, and an advance of nearly 15s per head was obtained; but on Thursday the market was very dull, and the market receded to last week's rates. We sold, on account of Mr. H. K. B. Rennett, 78 bullocks, good but light, at £3 17s 6d; 10 cows, ditto, £3 12s 6d. Fat Sheep: Prices declined fully 1s per head. Best merino wethers are worth 8s to 8s 6d; good ditto, 6s 6d to 7s; medium and wasted, 5s to 6s. We sold, on account of Mr. O. Bloxsome, 1580 wethers at 6s 4d to 6s 8d. Store Stock: We have sold, on account of Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, 2000 ewe weaners at 8s cash, also 13,000 wether weaners for same owner at a satisfactory price. We note increased activity in all descriptions of store stock.—February 12.

Ross and Hipgrave.—Stations: We note the sale of one of the finest squatting properties in the Warrego district at £170,000. Secured sheep stations are in better demand than they have been for some time, and several now under offer are expected to change hands shortly. Fat Cattle: Those offered on Monday were good, when bidding was brisk and prices advanced about 15s per head, but Thursday's sales were dull; and prices fell to about last week's rates. Best beef is worth 14s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: The heaviest supply for some time was forward this week, and a decline of fully 1s 6d per head had to be submitted to. Best wethers are worth from 8s to 8s 6d. Store Cattle: This market is beginning to show an improvement as far as enquiries are concerned, but sellers are asking cash and most buyers require terms, therefore difficulty is experienced in bringing buyers and sellers together. Store Sheep: A brisk demand still continues for good young sheep, with few offering. We could place 50,000 at market rates.—February 13.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin.—Stations: We notice a slight reaction from dulness at present existing, and inquiries are made for sheep-runs in favourite localities. We sold during the week a compact sheep run in Western district. Fat Cattle: On Monday sales opened firmly, and prices throughout were somewhat firmer than last week. Prime realized from 13s to 14s, whilst medium made from 10s to 12s per 100 lbs. On Thursday sales opened with fair attendance of town and country buyers, and for good quality prices compared very favourably with those of Monday, whilst middling were somewhat lower; this may be attributed to the large numbers of medium quality being offered. The manager of the Sydney Meat-preserving Company bought largely, and helped the market considerably. We append result of sales in the home market of beef and mutton sent by the Strathleven. Beef, although offered in a dull market, made 5½d, and mutton 6d per lb. These prices leave a fair margin to shippers, and will no doubt lead to further shipments, and must eventually increase prices at this end. Fat Sheep and Lambs: 19,008 forward for the week, with additional per steamer, and the fact of carcase butchers being large holders, and the quality, with a few exceptions, being only medium, a fall of 1s per lb. each was noticeable on medium, whilst prime suffered a reduction of 6d. Some were taken outside by outside purchasers for stores. We quote—56 lbs. at 8s 9d, 50 lbs. at 7s 6d, 44 lbs. at 5s to 5s 6d. Lambs may be quoted from 4s to 5s 6d for medium, 6s to 7s 6d for good. We sold 433 wethers (B. M. Osborne's) at 4s 11d to 5s, 200 (Worthington's) at 6s 7d to 7s, 400 (Sawyer's) at 6s 7d to 6s 8d, 200 (M'Guire's) at 6s to 6s 6d, 475 (Telford and Rutherford's) at 8s 4d to 8s 6d, 1828 (Hamlet Fletcher's) at 8s, 935 (J. C. Church's) at 5s 1d to 5s 2d, 503 (J. J. Sloane's) at 6s 9d to 7s, 784 ewes and wethers (J. M'Intyre's) at 4s, 197 lambs (Lintott's) at 5s to 5s 6d, 117 (Clift, Brothers') at 5s 6d to 6s. Store Cattle: The low state of the cattle market still has a prejudicial effect in sales of stores, but we confidently look for reaction. Store Sheep: We have inquiries for maiden ewes; there is, however, but little business doing at present.—February 12.

Maiden, Hill, and Clark.—Fat Cattle: Of the supply for the week a large proportion were of good to prime quality. Only 635 of these were yarded on Monday, when, owing to the wet weather, there was only a small attendance of buyers, but notwithstanding this prices opened firm, and showed an advance of about 10s per head. Things, however, were not so good on Thursday. Prices opened firm, but as sales progressed biddings were slack, and values declined to last week's rates, being more especially noticeable on heavy descriptions. Best beef is worth 12s 6d to 13s per 100 lbs.; seconds, 10s to 12s. Our sales have been—66 bullocks for Mr. Arthur Dight at £5 6s 4d, being the top price of the week; 42 light Queensland bullocks, for Mr. W. Z. Stevenson, Mona, at £3 5s 10d; 66 for Mr. Arthur Dight, at £4 16s 4d; and a small mixed lot for Mr. Andrew Town, to £4 10s. Fat Sheep: This has been the heaviest supplied week we have had for some time, including all qualities and descriptions, chiefly comprised of small lots from Riverina and the south country. Sales on Monday opened very dull, and prices showed a downward tendency, while on Thursday, with 14,000 penned, things were exceedingly dull, and prices as low as we have yet experienced them, and only that the Meat Company operated freely, it would have been impossible to effect a clearance, as the trade had all large stocks on hand, and which will yet take some time to work off, and no improvement can be looked for until this is effected. We sold 450 ewes, Gilchrist, Watt, and Co., from Llanillo, at 5s 8d, and 1650 ditto at 4s 6d to 4s 11d; and 1177 wethers, Ricketson and Ghelm, Lake Cowal, at 4s 6d to 4s 11d. Stations: Business is becoming more animated, and we have had several enquiries lately for unstocked country. We hear of the sale of a large tract of back country in the Cobar district, at a highly satisfactory price.—February 13.

William Inglis.—Fat Cattle: The market was fairly supplied this week, but prices, owing probably to the beneficial change in the weather, were firmer, with an upward tendency. Best beef sold about 12s to 14s per 100 lbs.; middling and inferior in proportion. Sheep: The market continues heavily supplied, and last week's rates have not been improved upon. Milch Cows: There was a very fair market this week. I sold 46 from £2 3s 6d to £9 10s. Calves: A moderate supply and slight improvement in prices. I sold 28 (Cooper, Brothers), to 27s; 29 (Gorman's) to 17s, and 61 others from 4s to 19s. Lambs: The market was completely glutted, and any except first-class were difficult of sale, even at very low prices. Pigs: Supply moderate; market improving. I sold 164, from 11s 6d to 49s 6d. Horses: There have not been many sales during the week, and very few good ones (for which the demand continues brisk) were forward. I sold a few head of light harness, at Camperdown, from £2 to £13.—February 13.

Pitt, Son, and Badgery.—Fat Cattle: 1515 forward, 638 of which were disposed of on Monday, and 877 on Thursday. On Monday sales were brisk, and an advance of 10s per head was obtained, but on Thursday there was a heavy supply forward, and the market fell as much as it advanced on the previous day. On Monday our sales were—105 bullocks (E. Vickery's), £4 16s 10d; 27 bullocks (J. Frost's), £3 12s 9d; 71 bullocks (Messrs. A. and W. Munro's), £4 11s 4d; 106 cows (ditto), £3 10s 8d; 153 bullocks (T. Cook's), £4 11s 10d; and on Thursday 101 bullocks (R. Skuthorpe's), £4 9s 6d; 40 bullocks (A. W. Holt's), £5 16s 9d; 30 cows (Messrs. Badgery, Brothers'), £3 3s 9d; 20 cows (W. B. Ranken's), £3 3s. Fat Sheep: 25,060 forward. The supply for the week—10538 on Monday and 14,702 on Thursday. Prices declined fully 1s per head. Best merino wethers are worth 8s 6d to 9s; good ditto, 7s to 7s 6d; medium and washed, from 4s 6d to 6s. Fat Lambs: Market completely glutted. Best are worth from 6s 6d to 7s; good ditto, 4s 6d to 5s. We saw some inferior ones sold as low as 1s 6d. Fat Calves: Large supply forward. We sold 29 (J. Chisholm) up to £1 11s, and averaging 15s; 45 (Messrs. Badgery, Brothers), 9s 6d; 43 (N. B. Ranken), at 11s 10d. Horses: Good heavy colts and horses suitable for 'buses are most in demand.—February 13.

John Bridge.—Fat Cattle: Some improvement was noticeable at the first sales of the week, but was hardly maintained on Thursday, when 11s to 13s was highest value. Fat sheep were offered in great numbers on Thursday, and sold as follows—56 to 60 lbs., 8s to 9s 6d; 48 to 56 lbs., 6s to 8s. Lambs were very plentiful on Thursday, and sold at 4s to 10s, the latter price for choicest pens only. Calves sold at 6s to 25s each, and were very plentiful. Pigs of suitable weight and quality were in better demand this week, and worth 3½d to 5d; heavy weights, 2½d to 3d per lb. Store cattle are in very slack demand still, with numerous sellers and few buyers, and similar remarks apply to store sheep, as well as to station properties, although better times must soon come, seeing that this season's clip has sold at quite 2d to 3d per lb. above prices expected, and that the seasons since the drought have been most favourable, to say nothing of our chances of supplying meat to the London market. Wool: Well attended again, and competition active for any lot of fair or superior character. I reserved all my best parcels for next week's sales, and sold only odd lines and inferior lots, which commanded full prices; and for sheepskins very high figures were paid, say, 5d to 7½d for fair lots, and 2½d to 4d for pelts. During the last week prices for wool have ranged as follows:—Superior greasy, 10½d to 12½d; medium, 8½d to 9½d; burry, 6d to 7½d; fleece, superior, 18d to 22d; medium and heavy, 14d to 17d; burry, 11d to 13d. Scoured wools are in more favour, and sold at 16d to 21d for fair and superior, 14d to 15d for medium, 10d to 13d for burry. Locks, pieces, and belly wools still command active competition and high prices, and so does lambswool, which is worth 6½d to 11d, in grease, according to presence or otherwise of burrs, and black wool is in good demand at 10d to 14d, when not mixed with locks, as it generally is. Tallow, owing to high freights, remains without improvement in price, although the low prices ruling have brought out several new buyers of shipping parcels, and during the last three weeks I have sold over 500 casks of beef at from £24 10s to £26 10s, and a few casks of mutton at £28, which figures fairly indicate values just now; whilst inferior and broken parcels are well competed for at from £18 to £24; and I have buyers for curriers' grease in any quantity at £12 to £18. Hides: At last week's sales were slightly easier, but a firm market may still be reported at, say, 3½d to 3¾d for wet to 3½d and 4d for fairly conditioned parcels of any weights, and up to 4½d for dry, sound lots. Calfskins and yearlings, too, are in improved demand, say, 1s to 2s for calf, 2s 6d to 6s for yearlings, 2s to 12s per dozen for kangaroo-skins, and horsehides are worth 4s to 6s 6d each. Leather: Dressed goods are scarce, and still rising in prices, but the demand for sole is not improving, owing to slight decline in the London markets. Still, a firm market for all descriptions must be reported; and during the week my sales have included sole at 9½d to 10½d, kip at 14½d to 15d, tweeds at 18d to 24d, bag at 12s 6d, harness at 12d to 13d, and roundings at 7d to 8d. Horns, bones, and hair are all dull of sale, and correct prices can hardly be quoted. Beeswax, too, is quite neglected. Flour: A very quiet market prevails, £11 to £11 15s being the highest prices for very best braids. Wheat, too, is very plentiful, and 4s 6d to 4s 9d are outside prices. Bran is plentiful at 10d to 11d, and pollard at 8d to 9d, with heavy arrivals from the other colonies. Maize: Sound is worth 2s 5d to 2s 6d; unsound, 2s to 2s 3d, and in good demand. Sugars remain in good demand still at 28s to 31s for brown, and 32s to 35s for light. Salt is lower, and worth £6 to £6 10s.—February 13.

Sullivan and Simpson.—Stations: Since the arrival of the Strathleven in London with fresh meat from Australia, there is much more desire on the part of capitalists to invest in these securities, but holders are not disposed to sell yet, preferring to wait till they see fresh meat exported in large quantities, which no doubt will be the case before the end of next year, when stations must increase in value considerably. Fat Cattle: The supply this week consisted of nearly 1600, besides a considerable number of carcases by train from Riverstone. This supply was above requirements, and the proportion of good and prime was less than usual. On Monday the market opened at an advance of about 10s per head compared with last week's values, but on Thursday, owing to a poor attendance of buyers, caused no doubt, by the wet day, prices again receded, and closed fully 10s to 12s per head lower than Monday's rates. We quote prime bullocks, light weights worth 14s per 100 lbs.; same quality, but heavy weights, 11s 6d to 12s; fair to good, 10s; all others proportionately. We have this week sold 26 bullocks on account of Messrs. G. A. and F. Mein, at an average of £4 17s 2d, and 196 bullocks on account of Messrs. W. J. Dangar and Co., at an average of £5 2s. This was a very prime lot, but too big and heavy for the weather. Fat Sheep: The supply quite over requirements, indeed more than double the number necessary for the weekly consumption; no less than 25,000 penned. The majority of the flocks were only in very middling condition, and had it not been for the manager of the Sydney Meat Co., Mr. Gee, purchasing a very large number it would have been impossible to have cleared them all out, again showing the value of this institution to the graziers, and it is to be regretted they do not give this company 2 per cent. on all sales of fat stock instead of ½ per cent., which is now the case, which would be the means of enabling them to preserve a very much larger number, and enhance the value of all fat stock at the yards considerably. We quote—Best shorn wethers worth 8s 6d; fair to good, 7s to 7s 6d; middling, 6s to 6s 6d. Store Stock: The only inquiry we have had this week has been for well-grown young wethers, but there are very few in the market.—February 13.

P. L. Barker.—Wool: The catalogues this week were a little less important than hitherto, but the sales passed off with animation, and prices obtained show no falling off. Scoured lots and washed fleece wools continue to command attention, and realise well. Good greasy lots are sought for, but medium and inferior are difficult to dispose of. Quotations may thus be taken—Superior greasy, 9½d to 11d; medium, 8d to 9d; inferior seedy or burry lots, 7d to 7½d per lb.; scoured—superior, 15d to 17d; medium, 12d to 14½d; fleece—superior, 17d to 19d; medium, 13d to 16d per lb. Sheepskins: The supplies forward being small at the same time as, through the falling off of greasy wools, scourers are turning their attention again to skins, makes demand brisk and prices firm for these, and up to 7½d is obtainable for well-woolled and light; 5d to 6d for medium, and from 2½d to 4d for short per lb. Hides: There is a slight falling off in the demand, consequent partly on news not being quite so satisfactory and shippers having completed their number, and although so far no noticeable decline in price has taken place the sales were not so animated. Lots suitable to tanners continue in request on account of the rise in leather, and light hides in good condition bring high prices. I would quote, thus—Prime heavies, 3½d to 4d; medium, 3½d to 3¾d; light superior, 4d to 4½d; inferior, 2d to 2½d per lb. Leather: I would ask constituents and others to send in all they can of every description, as prices are more cheering and I have made large sales at rates satisfactory to tanners. Quotations may be taken thus—Sole, light, 9d to 9½d; heavy, 10d to 12d; kip, 14d to 15½d; calf, 22d to 24d; tweeds, yearling, 19d to 22d; cow, 19d to 21d; horse, 18d to 20d; harness, brown, 11d to 12½d; black, 12d to 14d per lb; bridle, 10s; bag, 10s to 12s per side; basils, 7s 6d to 10s per dozen. Tallow: The almost impossibility to obtain freight makes buyers very chary in operating, and prices are not as satisfactory as could be desired. Best parcels of beef have been sold at £26 per ton, and little mutton is offering. I would quote—Beef, £26 2s 6d to £26 7s 6d; mutton, £27 10s per ton. Horns and bones continue in request. I am obtaining for fair lots 8s 6d per cwt. for bones, and 25s per 100 for horns. Hair: Only little offering, but demand is good. Beche-de-mer: £100 to £110 per ton for teat. Tin Ore: A slight fall here, and it is now worth from £50 to £54 per ton.—February 12.

Maiden, Hill, and Clark.—Wool: Competition at this week's sales has been as brisk as at previous sales, and although the choicest clips may be said to have passed through, buyers seem anxious to operate on the medium and low class wools now coming forward. We cleared a catalogue of 123 lots, at very satisfactory prices, say for greasy 6d to 10d, fleece 12d to 17d, scoured 12d to 19d per lb. Sheepskins: Market remains firm, we sold every line on our catalogue, at for pelts, 2d to 3½d; short growth, 4d to 5d; full wooled, 5d to 7d per lb. Leather: Market remains very firm; we submitted an extensive catalogue this week and sold every line at good prices. Quotations—Sole, 8d to 10½d; kip, 13d to 16d; calf, 18d to 22d; calf tweed, 20d to 24d; yearling, 17d to 21d per lb.; bag, 9s to 12s 6d; bridle, 9s to 10s per side; harness, 10d to 1s per lb.; basils, 4s to 12s 6d. Hides: Market fairly supplied this week, prices all through show a slight decline in value, which is more especially noticeable in light and medium weights; extreme heavies were scarce and realized fully late rates. Horsehides in good request; calf and yearlings, demand good; kangaroo skins not very salable. We cleared every line on our catalogue at for light, 3½d to 3¾d; heavies, 3½d to 3¾d; extra heavy, 3¾d to 4½d per lb; calfskins, 6d to 2s 6d; yearlings, 3s to 5s; horse hides, 3s to 6s each; kangaroo skins, 6s to 24s per dozen. Tallow: Market was not quite so active to-day for shipping parcels, and the trade did not seem eager to operate; we, however, disposed of nearly every lot on our catalogue at from £21 to £27, the latter figure being obtained for one parcel of 33 casks beef in extra prime condition. Quotations are—Beef, £20 to £25 5s; mixed, £18 to £22 per ton. Hair: Market firm, all forward sold at late rates, viz.:—Cow, 4d to 10d; horse, 11d to 14½d per lb. Horns, Bones: Market unaltered; prime lots create good competition, while faulty and inferior parcels are neglected. Quotations are:—Horns, 12s to 30s per 100; bones, £3 to £10 per ton.—February 13.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin.—Wool: 3744 bales offered; 2730 sold. There is still a very strong demand for wool, and the bulk of the wool offering is readily taken at prices in most instances above the ruling rates of the early part of the season, especially for washed fleece and inferior and medium greasy. There is very little really good greasy wool offering at the present time, and the American buyers are not now operating in this market. Our season is quickly drawing to a close, and by the end of the present month there will be very little wool of this clip to be dealt with. Our sales during the week amount to 1788 bales, and the prices for the different sorts ranged from 15d to 17½d for good fleece; medium, 13d to 14½d; greasy, 9d to 11d for good; 6½d to 8½d for seedy and medium lots. We had only a small quantity of medium quality scoured in this week, prices for which ranged from 11d to 18½d. Sheepskins: A much larger number were offered at auction this week, but this did not interfere with the good prices that have been ruling for some time past. Fellmongers are giving very top valuation, as compared with prices obtained for scoured skin-wool in this market. We disposed of 66 lots at our sale on Monday, and obtained from — to — for scoured; greasy, best, 5d to —; other lots, 2d to 4½d. Tallow: 463 casks offered, 135 sold. The demand for shipping parcels this week was very limited. Trade parcels were firm, and sold quite up to last week's rates. Quotations—Best mutton, £26 to £27; best beef, £24 to £25 10s; mixed and station, £20 to £22 10s. Hides: 4636 offered, 3790 sold. There still continues a good demand for all descriptions offering, and prices remain firm at the following quotations. Extra heavy, 3½d to 4d; heavy, 3½d to 3¾d; medium, 3½d to 3¾d; light and middling, 2½d to 3½d. Leather: This market still continues firm, and all catalogued meets with ready sale at late rates. The English news for sole is scarcely so favourable, but as the supply here is short it has not affected our market. Tin: The late London cablegrams report a fall in the price of tin, and this has rather unsettled our market here this week, very few transactions having taken place. Unless a change for the better takes place in the home market we must submit to lower prices for ore, of which there is only a limited quantity arriving. Grain: The market is decidedly easier, caused principally by large quantities of Victorian being placed upon our market. At our sale to-day we offered a fair quantity, which met with good competition at from 4s 6½d to 4s 7½d. We have to notice a demand springing up for oats, of which we have this week placed some parcels at 2s 9d.—February 13.

Mort and Co.—Wool: There was a brisk demand at our sale again this week, especially in regard to good-conditioned washed fleece, which was somewhat dearer. Nearly all the principal lots sold were disposed of under the hammer at very satisfactory values; one small parcel of fleece realized 22½d per lb. We found it necessary to hold a second sale this day, for the disposal of small lots and remnants of clips, and cleared a large quantity at late rates. Our sales comprise over 1900 bales and packages at up to 22½d for washed fleece, 11d for greasy, and 21d for scoured. Sheepskins were in firm request, and we quitted all offered at auction at from 5½d to 7½d for full fleeced, 8½d to 9½d for scoured, and 2½d to 4½d for pelts and short growth. Tallow: There was only a limited supply available for to-day's sales, and not much business done in shipping parcels; for trade lots, prices are without alteration, we disposed of 155 casks at from £25 10s to £26 for beef, and £18 to £25 for mixed; mutton is very scarce, and worth from £27 to £28 per ton. Hides: Shippers operated cautiously, and as the local manufacturers purchased sparingly, prices were hardly equal to those lately ruling. We disposed of about 1400 at from 3½d to 4d for heavies, and 3½d to 3¾d for medium. Horse Hides: Those now coming forward are not of a character to test the market, but rates may be quoted at from 3s to 6s, according to size and condition. Kangaroo Skins: It is with difficulty that sales can be effected, except for first-class skins, which may be quoted at from 20s to 25s per dozen. Shank bones can be disposed of at from £5 to £9 per ton. Horns are salable at from 20s to 25s per 100 for large, and 10s to 18s for small to medium; old and inferior are dull of sale. Leather: At Tuesday's sales the prices for sole were hardly so firm, but all other descriptions showed an upward tendency. Quotations:—Sole, inferior, 7d to 8d; medium, 8½d to 9½d; heavy, 9½d to 10½d; extra heavy, 11d to 12d; harness, 9d to 12d; kip, 13d to 15d; tweed, 18d to 24d; calf, 18d to 24d per lb.—February 13.

HORSE MARKET.

George Kiss reports:—The demand for horses has been brisker this week, more especially those suitable for omnibus and light harness work. The supply rather scanty; anything worthy of notice secured first-class prices. I sold for Mr. Roberts a harness horse for £11 15s, a strong light harness horse, £29; on account of Mr. Dunross two draught horses for £50 10s; on account of Mr. Hall a harness horse, £14; on account of Mr. M'Mahon a hackney, £16 10s; on account of Mr. Taylor a harness horse, £20 5s; on account of Mrs. Wood a superior saddle and harness horse, £54 12s; on account of Mr. James a pair of harness horses, £26; harness horse, £18 10s; harness horse, £10 10s; on account of Mr. Thompson, Ariel, £15 1s; on account of Mr. Dixon draught horse, £29; on account of owner yearling draught stallion, £49 7s; on account of Mr. Ross harness horse, £15 10s; on account of Mr. Welch a saddle and harness horse, £20; same owner ditto ditto, £16 10s; on account of W. Jones saddle and harness mare, £20; and several others at prices according to quality. Weeds from £1 to £5. At Camperdown I disposed of a small lot on account of Mr. J. Jones, averaging about £10 10s per head. Vehicles: A large number of different kinds changed hands during the week.—February 12.

T. Cosgrove and Co. report a steady demand for all kinds of useful harness horses the past week. At the bazaar the greatest number of horses sold were of a medium quality, very few really good harness horses amongst them; horses suitable for dray, van, or merchant's work being most inquired for. The following are amongst the best prices obtained at the bazaar:—For J. Gorman, harness cob, £15; R. Thompson, van mare, £14 10s; R. Clarke, dray horse, £18; J. Phillips, spring-cart horse, £12; J. Sparks, dray horse, £11 12s 6d; W. Angell, 2 harness horses, £29 15s; W. Brownwick, buggy horse, £25 10s; E. Terry, Lord O'Neill, £32 10s; J. Griffin, grey buggy horse, £11 15s; E. H. Laboum, van horse, £11 10s; H. Thompson, hackney, £13 10s; C. M'Lean, 4 harness horses, £34; J. Christie, draught mare, £17; J. Cochrane, buggy horse, £18; D. Sullivan, spring cart horse, £10 5s; P. Coyle, 2 harness horses, £17 2s 6d; J. Bennis, dray horse, £13; J. Cooper, van mare, £15 10s; J. Moffitt, draught horse, £30; W. M. Garretty, dray mare, £21 10s; J. Christie, harness horse, £10; L. Gorman, 3 harness horses, £34 2s 6d; E. M'Carty, 3 horses, £55 5s; H. Cooper, buggy horse, £18; E. Week, draught horse, £25 5s; E. Matthews, dray mare, £17 5s; besides the usual number of town screws and light horses, at prices ranging from 2s 6d to £3 10s.—February 12.

At the carnival at San Francisco in honour of General and Mrs. Grant, the latter was presented with a bouquet composed of the flowers indigenous to the various countries she had passed through in her tour round the world. The flowers were placed in regular order, starting with Philadelphia and ending with San Francisco. The bouquet-holder, 5 inches long, was made of pure Californian gold, and inlaid with quartz and metals found on the Pacific coast.

Perfection.—Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer (the genuine only in pink paper wrappers) never fails to restore gray hair to its youthful colour, imparting to it new life, growth, and lustrous beauty. Its action is certain and thorough, quickly banishing grayness. It is not a dye. It ever proves itself the natural strengthener of the hair. Its superiority and excellence are established throughout the world. Wholesale at Messrs. Elliott, Brothers, Sydney, and retail at all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the colonies.—Advt.

CONTINENTAL NEWS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT "STELLA.")

PARIS, Nov. 28.

Now that the lady who will become Queen of Spain to-morrow has made the journey between this capital and Madrid—a journey which may be accomplished by railway in two days and a half—it is not without interest to compare this rate of transit with the time occupied by two notabilities of former days in the journey between the two cities. On the 4th December, 1700, long before the "iron horse" had been dreamed of as a means of locomotion—except in the curious prophecies of Mother Shipton—the Duke of Anjou, grandson of Louis XIV., and one of the heroes of the famous War of the Spanish Succession, started from Versailles to assume the disputed sovereignty of the Peninsula as Philip V. Forty-eight days were consumed in reaching the frontiers, and the Duke did not make his entry into Madrid until the 19th February. Nearly a century and a half later, in September, 1846, when travelling facilities had greatly increased, ten days—a great decrease from the eleven weeks occupied by the Duke d'Anjou—were spent by the Duke de Montpensier in journeying from Paris to Madrid, to be married to the Infanta Louisa Fernanda de Bourbon.

The Archduchesses and their suite have been joyfully welcomed on their way and on their arrival; deputations from various quarters, and representing various interests, have been constantly arriving at the Pardo, where they have been graciously received by the Queen-elect, who, two days ago, gave a grand dinner to all the Ministers and to other notabilities. The new Queen is not handsome, but has an agreeable countenance, fine person, "grand air," and a glance and smile that seem to exercise much fascination on those who approach her. She is but one year younger than King Alfonso, and she is said to be, in mind and disposition, much his senior. The King is described by those about him as an excellent, good-hearted, and thoroughly well-disposed youth: his new wife, it is thought, will be emphatically "the better mare," and there are those who fear that either she will obtain complete mastery of her royal husband, who may regret the yoke he cannot shake off, or he will rebel against the yoke she may endeavour to impose on him, in which case the domestic hearth may become a field of dissension and bitterness. That the new partner of his throne and home is greatly his superior in mental vigour, in point of education, and of strength of will, seems to be pretty generally admitted, and Spaniards here, anxious for the honour and happiness of their young sovereign, whose life has already been chequered with much heavy sorrow, are intensely hoping that the new wife may use her personal superiority gently and generously, contenting herself with the legitimate place of the wife of a sovereign who "was king before he was her husband," and employing her power and influence for the good of all about her.

Queen Isabella left Paris three days ago, to be present at the wedding. Before leaving, she paid a farewell visit to the President of the French Republic, who requested her Majesty to convey to the new couple his good wishes for their happiness, and added that he hoped her own absence from Paris might not be of long duration, to which compliment "Isabel Segunda" replied that, "happy as she should naturally be to find herself again in her native land, her affection for France would never lessen, and she would always be glad to be among the people whose kindness had done so much to lighten for her the sorrows of exile."

Like the Palace of the Louvre (which was formerly a hunting lodge, quite out of Paris, and built in the midst of a dense forest, full of game of all kinds), the Pardo, where the Archduchesses are now residing, is built on the site of a very ancient hunting lodge of the kings of Spain, demolished by Charles I., who erected, about 1530, a fine and stately "pleasure mansion" in its room. Passionately fond of art and of noble architecture, Charles I. laid out large sums of money on the castle, which presents an immense quadrangle, with towers at each corner, and a gallery, supported on columns, running along each façade inside the building. The new "pleasance" of the Spanish court was fitted up, furnished, and adorned by him with all the grand magnificence of the Spanish Renaissance; the walls, especially, were the object of his artistic liberalities, being hung with the most precious tapestries of Flanders and of France. The castle, begun by the great Emperor, was only completed by Philip II., so that the Pardo represents and illustrates the art of Spain during three centuries. The tapestries present, for the most part, mythological scenes, idyllic poetry, hunting scenes, and incidents from Don Quixote. The chapel of the chateau is full of the chefs d'œuvres of Bayen, Morella, and Luca Giordano. In the vast park, surrounded by a wall twenty miles long, are two elegant little pleasure-houses of recent construction, the Tarsuela and the Quinta, surrounded by hothouses, conservatories, aviaries, &c., full of rarities, with fountains and waterworks in great profusion.

This allusion to hothouses and the rarities of exotic gardening reminds me that M. Rouby, a horticulturist of the little village of Bourg-la-Reine, at the gates of Paris, has succeeded in a series of experiments commenced by him with a view to the improvement of the artichoke, his aim being to develop the edible part of this vegetable at the expense of the horny-green portion of the leaves. His system, which has proved very successful, is so easy of application that all lovers of this esculent may readily try it for themselves. By this horticulturist, as soon as the artichoke emerges from its stem it is covered with a bag of coarse linen, afterwards wrapped round with straw, care being taken to fasten this double envelope round the stem with any sort of tie. What then occurs is not difficult to understand. Instead of turning green, the artichoke, growing without exposure to light, gradually becomes discoloured, so that at the moment it is gathered it is found to be as white as the heart of a well-tended lettuce. It is, moreover, so tender that its eatable portions are more than doubled, and the others, of course, proportionally diminished. As to the quality, no one who has not eaten an artichoke thus treated cannot imagine the exquisite flavour which this vegetable is capable of obtaining. The expenditure incurred is very trifling, for the bags, protected by the straw which covers them, are available for several seasons. M. Rouby is confident that consumers, who have once tasted the improved artichoke obtained by his simple and inexpensive system, will never again be willing to eat the half-wild product now supplied to them.

The Empress Eugenie was not able to rejoin her mother in time to see her alive, the death of that lady having occurred while she was passing through this city. Her cousin, the Duchess de Malakoff, and her daughter, who left Paris on Friday evening in hopes of arriving in time to see the Countess before her death, received the telegram announcing her decease as they reached the frontier. The Empress Eugenie was met on her arrival by the King, by her nephews, the Dukes of Alba and Huesca, and other distinguished personages, and conducted to the Palace of the Escurial, where she was received by the King's sisters with the utmost deference and commiseration. She was anxious to go at once to her mother's residence, to pray at her bedside, in Catholic fashion; the Princesses, the King, and her nephews did their utmost to dissuade her from this visit, fearing for her health if she underwent the painful emotions inseparable from such a vigil, while suffering from the fatigue of her journey. But she insisted on passing the night beside her mother's remains, and next day went to reside with her nephew at the Hotel d'Alba. During her short stay in Paris she saw only a very few intimate friends; being unwilling to allow her presence to be made the occasion of anything that could be supposed to resemble a political manifestation. But she did not forget one of her most faithful friends in adversity, her former reader, Madame Lebreton, who is now in the convent of the Augustine sisters, where she has just undergone an operation for cataract. Her Majesty went at night-fall, alone, to the Rue Oudinot, to pay her a visit, returning at once to the residence of the Duke de Mouchy. Princess Mathilde went to visit her early in the morning after her arrival, and after expressing the wish of Prince Napoleon to call on her, inquired at what hour she might bring him. "Immediately," replied the Empress. The Princess went off at once to her brother's residence in the Avenue d'Antin, conveying the Empress's invitation and her assurance of the pleasure it would give her to see him; and the two proceeded at once to the Duke's mansion in the Boulevard de Courcelles. The interview is said to have passed off successfully. The Empress could not control her emotion on receiving a visit which called up so many contending emotions; the Prince expressed, with much tact and feeling, the regret and sympathy excited in his mind by the sad death of his young cousin, the Prince Imperial, and his commiseration with the heavy trials of the unfortunate widow of Napoleon III. When the Prince rose to take his departure, the latter expressed her regret at not having seen the Prince's sons, and her hope that she might do so "should she pass again through Paris;" a desire which Prince Napoleon echoed, with the promise to bring them to her Majesty on the first opportunity.

Great activity reigns at this moment in the workshops of this metropolis, which produce the fancy goods of all kinds which are sold in such immense quantities here on the approach of the New Year. It is too soon to know what will be the prevailing tone of the "novelties" that are to attract our eyes and threaten our purses a fortnight hence; but, as the tone of the Christmas display is usually determined by the leading event of the year, whatever that may have been, it is probable that Russia, Turkey, and the new Principalities will be made, in some way or other, to furnish the key-notes of the approaching display, with, perhaps, a few reminiscences of India, Japan, and China, whose new ambassador, "The Marquis Tseng," with "Lady Tseng," has just arrived in this city, where he intends to pass part of the winter. Count Li-Fang-Ao, the Chinese Ambassador to Germany, has also been here on his way to Marseilles, whither he has gone to meet the Countess Li-Fang-Ao and their children, who were to reach that city by the last steamer.

If the Marquis and the Marchioness Tseng should decide to give some balls and receptions this winter, they would doubtless earn the gratitude of the gay world of this region, anxious for some addition to the social delectations which suffer grievous diminution from the absence of a Court. Madame Grevy, it is now rumoured, appreciating the injury done to Paris and its special interests by the quiet and simplicity that have hitherto ruled at the Elysee under her invalided auspices, has determined to give a few State balls, and several dances of less important proportions. Additional dancing accommodation has accordingly been provided, in the shape of rooms walled and roofed with glass, in place of the constructions of boards and canvas put up under the reign of the MacMahons, to supplement the space available for receptions at the Elysee, an elegant and charming residence, but much too small for the grand receptions incident to the housekeeping of chiefs of nations. It is quite decided by leaders of fashion, that short dresses are to be "the thing" this winter, and that dresses are to be made full enough to drape, instead of revealing the forms of their wearers. When one contrasts the statuesque simplicity of lines now obtained by tying back the narrowest drapery with the aid of the shortest strings, with the enormous amount of "width" displayed a dozen years ago, over the immense crinolines of that epoch, one is tempted to wonder what new freak of dressmaking ingenuity, male or female, is next to be imposed on the two-footed moutons de Panurge who so blindly follow their leaders without any other aim than to out-do one another in the promptitude and completeness of their submissive leap from the old to the new!

It may seem curious to those "not to the manner born" to learn that the Minister of Finance has granted, on the recommendation of M. Gambetta, a license for keeping a tobacco-shop to a countess. But the lady in question, left, with three children unprovided for, is the widow of the late Peer of France, Count d'Altonshee, and is no doubt greatly rejoiced to have obtained this grant. The sale of tobacco in all its forms being a lucrative Government monopoly, and the privilege of selling the weed abhorred of James I., being one that brings with it a large emolument, the grant of a license for keeping a tobacco shop is reserved for those whom the Government is desirous, for some motive or other, to favour. When the said license is bestowed on an old soldier or his widow, or some other recipient of humble birth, the licensee establishes himself, or herself, behind his counter and dispenses the weed to customers with his or her own hands. But when the licensee is a person of birth and station the shop is kept by some party who does the selling, receiving fixed wages, or a percentage of the profits, and thus it happens that not a few persons of high birth but diminished fortunes are the titular keepers of tobacco-shops, and live comfortably on the revenue derived by them from the same.

The people of Geneva are greatly excited by the adverse decision of the Brunswick Court concerning the bequest of his fortune to their town by the late eccentric Duke of Brunswick. The Court has decided that the Duke was legally deprived of the right of disposing of his property by virtue of the sovereign ordonnance of his Agnati, delivered on 6th February and 14th March, 1833, and which—published as a law in the Brunswick States—was recognised and endorsed by all the law Courts, the prohibition becoming a status personæ following the Duke wherever he went. It therefore concludes that, as the prohibition has never been removed, the Duke had no more right in Switzerland than in Brunswick to bequeath his property, and that consequently his will, appointing the town of Geneva his sole legatee, must be considered null and void. The Brunswick tribunals, however, have no jurisdiction in France or Switzerland, and as the Genevese have spent very large sums in carrying out the conditions on which the bequest was made to depend by the ducal oddity now gone to a world in which his unrivalled assortment of wigs for each day of the month, and of diamonds, are probably of no avail, the affair is probably far from being settled, as Geneva will doubtless contest the finding of the Court of Brunswick, though it is hard to see to what new tribunal the urban legatee can appeal for a new hearing.

The artists in Paris are as busy in preparing for next year's Fine Arts Exhibition as are the petty manufacturers of this capital in finishing off their stores of tempting trifles for the New Year sales. Among the portraits being painted for the Exhibition, many of which will probably remain associated rather with the fame of their painter than with that of their subject, are M. Vacquerie (deputy), Victor Hugo's son-in-law, by Glaize; Messrs. Grevy and Gambetta, by Bonnat, one of the first (if not the first) of living portraitists; the notorious Rochefort, by Desboutins; and Father Hyacinthe, his wife, and daughter, by the same artist; two other radical notorieties of the Commune, Proust and Clemenceau, by Manet; Madame Turquet, by Haquette; and the Prince of Wales, by Bastien-Lepage. M. Feyen-Perrin will contribute a painting, "Venus issuing from the sea;" the clever actress, writer, sculptor, musician, painter, Sarah Bernhardt, will contribute a picture representing "Death mowing down a young girl gathering flowers," a poetic fancy, said to be very cleverly and beautifully rendered. Among the statuary, a full-length figure of Leverrier, the eminent (but ungainly and unaimable) Director of the Paris Observatory, by Chapu, is expected to attract attention and admiration.

Another example of the power of "the root of all evil" to prompt to the commission of all manner of follies and of crimes is reported from Munich, which steady-going metropolis of the Bavarian capital has just been startled by a strange case of abduction, the details of which are given as follows:—A few days ago a carriage was seen to stop, in broad daylight, before the door of a house in the Cornelius Strasse. Four men got out of the vehicle, opened the street door with a key, entered the house, and in the course of a few moments re-appeared carrying a bundle rolled up in sheets, the said bundle being evidently a human being that was making evident efforts to free itself from the sheets in which it was enveloped. The four men hurried this bundle into the carriage, and jumped in it themselves, and the vehicle drove off at a rapid pace, the whole affair having occupied less time than it has taken to narrate it. The captive borne off in this strange, high-handed style, is said to be an old man of 75, almost at death's door, who was to be married that same evening to a penniless girl of an inferior position of life, when the projected marriage was put a stop to in the summary way just narrated. No trace has been discovered of the carriage or of its occupants. The mental state of the ex-Empress Charlotte has improved so decidedly since her removal to the Chateau of Bontout that great hopes are now entertained of her ultimate recovery. The Queen is unwearied in her attentions and visits to her unfortunate sister-in-law, and the King visits her frequently, though his visits do not appear to give her as much pleasure as those of the Queen. The royal family of Belgium, who have just been celebrating a funeral service for the anniversary of the death of the Princess Louise Marie d'Orleans, second wife of King Leopold, and first Queen of the Belgians, in the chapel of the Palace of Laeken, will soon rejoice in the completion of a winter garden, which the King is having constructed in the park of that residence, and which will be the largest and finest of its kind in existence. The immense cupola of this garden, of iron and glass, is sixty metres in diameter, and thirty metres in height in the centre. It is supported by thirty columns of white stone, each column being one metre in diameter. The laying out of this vast enclosure will be worthy of its dimensions, and will render it one of the most charming and noteworthy of European "lions." The King of Greece and the great German Chancellor fully share the passion of Leopold II. for the country, and for agricultural and horticultural pursuits. Varzin, the favourite residence of the latter, is in Pomerania, the castle and its grounds being about two miles from the little town of Schlawe. The Imperial Chancellor bought it for 400,000 thalers in 1867. The former owner, Baron de Blumenthal, had converted a large expanse of waste ground into pasture land, and improved it in the wonderful style of modern scientific husbandry. Large forests, rich in game of all kinds, and a handsome park, are attached to the domain. The Prince is no sportsman, but his sons shoot frequently over the grounds. Two telegraph wires connect Varzin with Berlin, and a clerk is specially engaged to attend to the Chancellor's despatches. Before the Franco-German war, the Prince's distinguished visitors were so numerous that some of them had often to be quartered in the village inn; but the castle has been enlarged, and now affords ample accommodation for visitors.

The Prince is seen to great advantage in his country-life. He is very lively, talks much and well, and is a most hospitable and agreeable host. His wife is equally skilful and kindly as a hostess, and both take great pride and pleasure in showing to their visitors all the improvements upon the estate, and the fine results obtained under their auspices.

NORFOLK ISLAND.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NORFOLK ISLAND, FEB. 7.

The A. S. N. Co.'s Tinonee (s.), Captain Fyson, bound to Fiji, called in on 14th ultimo, to regulate chronometers. Captain Fyson, who was previously known to the islanders, gave a general invitation, and quite a number, including some ladies, availed themselves of it, and went off to inspect the ship, spending a pleasant hour there.

The mail steamer Gunga, Captain Saunders, arrived at daylight on the morning of the 26th to land Mr. and Mrs. Kay, of the mission, and two visitors, Messrs. Postlethwaite and Coote. The weather was very boisterous, and only the lighter portion of the luggage could be landed, the heavy part having to be taken on. The vessel is expected to call to-day.

The cutter Sovereign of the Seas, bringing the mails and news from Auckland to 31st January, arrived yesterday, and after landing mails went on to Noumea.

Work has been resumed at the Memorial Chapel, and the building is expected to be completed in about six weeks. The Bishop appears to have regained his usual health.

Two cricket matches were played last week between a team captained by the Bishop, and composed of gentlemen belonging to the mission and visitors, and a team of Norfolk Islanders, but the Missionaries did not shine, being defeated in both matches most signally. The Norfolkers are steadily improving, and although not adepts at batting, are wonderfully agile in the field, and their underhand bowling is something one must see to believe.

An extraordinary religious mania, unparalleled in the history of the community, is in full swing; nightly crowded meetings are held, causing intense excitement, and the changes that are said to take place at these meetings are something marvellous. The Bishop attended one last night.

The last three weeks have been foggy, drizzly, and dismal easterly weather, the wind approaching to stormy at times.

WEATHER.—December: Rain fell on 8 days, gauging 1·30 inch; barometer highest on 12th, 29·92, lowest on 17th, 29·31; thermometer highest on 23rd, 82°, lowest on 2nd, 57°; total rainfall from 1st January to 31st December, 64·29 inches. January: Rain fell on 18 days, gauging 5·61 inches; barometer highest on 1st, 29·73, lowest on 4th, 29·27 (wind south, force 8); thermometer highest on 25th, 74°, lowest on 13th, 67°; winds, easterly 24 days, westerly 7 days.

ENGLAND, AUSTRALIA, ITALY.

The Brisbane Courier has been favoured with the following translation of extracts from an article which, apropos of the calling in at Naples of steamers of the Orient line, was published in a Neapolitan journal, La Posta:—

"On Sunday last we saw the first steamer of the Orient line enter our harbour, after a voyage of about 25,000 miles from London to Naples, via Cape of Good Hope, Australia, Red Sea. We should have liked to have seen the event celebrated by the Italian people, as by it they will find a new way open to them for future commercial speculations; but we are afraid indifference, and obstinacy will continue to keep the blockade around our ports. Great is the misery in our country, but people prefer to talk about politics or fine arts and music rather than to follow the noble example of Colombo, Vespucci, Marco Polo, Bixio, and many other Italians whose daring deeds upon the sea are registered by story. Anyone who is looking at the English maritime affairs on the Eastern seas will see that the formation of the Orient Line Company, and the means of communication it has now opened, offer to Italy a good chance of great profit. Let us stir—it is time. With vessels like the Orient liners the great Australian colonies will find themselves nearer to their mother country, and while Englishmen will avail themselves of the geographical position of Italy to accelerate their intercourse with Australia, which promises to become a very great and thriving State, let us try to avail ourselves by setting up good commercial relations with the energetic people of Australia. Let us remember the commercial spirit of our ancestors, and follow the examples of Venice, Pisa, and Genoa. The road is open. At present the steamers of the Orient line will call at Naples on their return trips only, to offer their passengers the advantage of stopping for a time in Southern Europe before going to England, and so save them a sudden change of climate. Every Italian will easily see the great importance of these steamers calling at Naples. By it we are the foremost to be put in communication with the wealthy Australian colonies. We hope the honorables (Signori) of Monte Citorio and those of the Palace of S. Giacomo will devote their attention to such an important affair, and may they not forget what the advantage to our country would be if the Orient line of steamers could be made to call at Naples on their outward trips, and not only on the return voyages.

"The foundation of an Italian colony must not be thought impossible where intelligent men and men possessing a strong will found a splendid field to display their activity instead of spending their lives in the misery that is here. The English people rejoice at the institution of such lines of navigation as national events, believing that they will facilitate commerce, and particularly immigration, by accelerating the great current of immigration to America and to Australia, where the prospect of becoming possessed of property is every day becoming greater. We will close this article with the hope that something will be done to realise our aspirations, and in the meantime we wish a successful voyage to the Orient."

EDUCATIONAL CONTROVERSY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—"Maximum est vitium carere virtutibus"—it is a very great fault or misfortune to be without virtues, and according to Dr. Vaughan, who is now assisted by Mgr. Lynch, it is "religion" (i.e., Pope's religion, or Papistry) that confers those virtues. Last month, 20th January, I furnished the Herald with criminal statistics, published "by the Governments of various Protestant and Popish States," and collected by the late Rev. M. Hobart Seymour. Permit me now to send you the following terrible statistics of crime and immorality, which were published in The Examiner, in October, 1868:—

Births: London, 75,097 legitimate, 3293 illegitimate; Paris, 19,921 legitimate, 9707 illegitimate; Brussels, 3448 legitimate, 1833 illegitimate; Monaco, 1854 legitimate, 1762 illegitimate; Vienna, 8821 legitimate, 10,360 illegitimate; Rome, 1215 legitimate, 3160 illegitimate.

Percentage of illegitimate births: London, 4 per cent.; Paris, 48 per cent.; Brussels, 53 per cent.; Monaco, 91 per cent.; Vienna, 118 per cent.; Rome, 243 per cent.

Now, Sir, what do the above statistics lucidly prove? Do they show that the teachings of Romish religion or Protestant or Bible religion have conferred virtues on communities? What tale do the above "facts" stubbornly tell? Humbly submitting them to the consideration of Dr. Vaughan, let me conclude poetically, like Mgr. Lynch,

"Vive, Vale: Si quid novisti rectius istis,
Candidus imperti; si non, his utere mecum.
Farewell! And if a better system's thine,
Impart it frankly, or—make use of mine."

OUR MELBOURNE LETTER.

MELBOURNE, FEB. 9.

Last Wednesday night I was walking with some friends at the back of the Houses of Parliament, which were bright with the light that streamed from their every window. Somebody said, "This is the very last night of the worst Parliament that was ever brought together." And we all agreed to this double truth. On Thursday, the following afternoon, the prorogation took place, and to-day will be the dissolution. We cannot surely get a worse Parliament, and it will be impossible to find a worse Ministry. There is a negative comfort in this conviction. The Governor's speech on the occasion, like all other addresses of a like kind, was vapid; but there was a kind of credit due to the inventor of it, in that he avoided debatable subjects. A speech had to be written, and as little as possible had to be said, and he certainly accomplished so much. The prorogation excited but little interest; a certain routine had to be gone through, and the public looked on with languid indifference. Perhaps the least uninteresting feature in the business was the after announcement by Sir Charles Duffy, that he did not again intend to seek the office of Speaker. He had found the duties too trying for his health, and he was going to Europe to rest and recruit himself. And then came the civilities. Both Ministerialists and Opposition were eulogistic in praise of Sir Charles's ability and impartiality. With one exception, to wit Gaunson. Gaunson had found the Speaker very partial, and he was not going to let it be understood that he concurred in the praises given him. It was probably honest of him to say what he thought, but it was just an occasion when silence would have proved the better taste. And it is very curious that, with so much intelligence and mental refinement, Gaunson should be so completely wanting in tact. He does not know when it is wisest to hold his tongue. It is possible that, as he grows older, he will acquire this kind of wisdom, but a six years' parliamentary experience does not seem to have cured him of the habit of unguardedness. He would never do for a Minister, and as an ambassador he would be the ruin of any party. And yet everybody feels there is something in Gaunson, and that, one day, he must take a position.

So now the country is full of election cries. Already upwards of a hundred and sixty candidates have declared themselves, and of these about sixty are Ministerialists. The rest are Opposition, and the third party men, between whom on the broader matters at issue there are not vital differences. Naturally opinions differ as to the issue of the grand game which the electors will be called upon to play during the next three weeks. Extremists on either side are confident of the result being in their own favour; but there is also a belief that, after all, the Ministry will have a small majority, but by no means a working majority, and that, as is always the case under like circumstances, they will have to go out soon after they meet the new Parliament. A good deal will depend upon Mr. Berry's address to his constituents, which of course will be the pronunciament of the party, and will have to be considered side by side with that of Mr. Service. If Mr. Berry, instead of modifying his extreme views on the reform question, insists upon the whole bill, and nothing but the bill, he will multiply his troubles. On the other hand, as the appeal to the country was unquestionably on the single issue of the Ministerial bill, to abandon the bill, or any part of it, will be to confess himself in the wrong. The dilemma is inevitable. But although the last days of the Assembly were passed in a condition of comparative coma, there was considerable liveliness in the Council. Mr. Ferres, the Government Printer, having been called to the Bar, to explain some inaccuracies in certain returns furnished to that chamber, was closely interrogated as to several appointments and promotions some time ago made in the Government Printing Office. He had to state that they had been made by Mr. Berry, without consulting him, and it was further ascertained that they had been made on political grounds. In short, it helped to justify the belief that the system of corrupt patronage had gone on without any kind of check, and as it would seem, without any regard to the projects which have so numerously been made against it. In a spirit of cruel resentment, immediately after this disclosure was made, twenty of Mr. Ferres's supernumeraries, appointed before the present Government were in office, were dismissed, and it is said that Mr. Ferres himself is in jeopardy, although it had been determined, notwithstanding his being over sixty years of age, not to disturb him in the position he has held for so many years, and whose duties he has so honestly fulfilled.

Concerning the elections, as it is generally understood that the polling will be on a Saturday, an objection has been raised by the Jews that it will prevent them voting. As the Jews of this colony are nearly all Constitutionalists, it would almost seem as if there were some grounds for the assertion that the Ministry had chosen Saturday with the particular object of disfranchising some of their enemies. But Mr. Berry says that as Saturday is a half holiday, it is a very convenient day for everybody else, and that if he were to proclaim a general holiday on any other day for election purposes, it would not be obligatory for employers to keep it. No doubt religious convictions have to be respected, but it seems to me that they are sometimes very inconvenient, for it is quite open for other sects to select severally the five remaining days of the week for their Sabbath, and to leave no day at all upon which to vote.

For some days we have had weather of a kind to make the most ardent politician indifferent about politics. Mr. Ellery, the Government astronomer, says it is unique weather. He has known nothing like it. For it is not only hot, but it is hot with a southerly wind, laden with moisture and noisome smells. The air clings to you like a warm wet sheet, and you pant in vain for a mouthful of fresh air. The general impression is, that the comet has something to do with it, and nervous people insist that it is only the beginning of the troubles we are to go through during this and the next year. If such temperature is going to continue long, it will not be difficult to answer the question, "Is life worth living?" Existence will become one continual stew. At this moment I feel as if I were steadily macerating in simmering glycerine. I have not seen the comet, which is said to be the instigator of all this thermal trouble, and even the Observatory people can get only fitful glimpses of it; but its sudden and totally unexpected appearance, and its eccentric and will-o'-the-wisp movements all suggest, to simple minds, a great deal of meteorological wickedness. The best thing we can do is to think of icebergs, but it requires a powerful imagination to do this, so that only a few persons can derive indirect comfort of this kind. Some people go to picnics in search of relief, which shows how baleful is the influence of this comet upon men's minds. For, while I regard a picnic under any circumstances as an evidence of serious mental impairment, a picnic at this time is true madness. And yet, on Friday, the steamer Williams was chartered to convey a number of persons to Frankston in order to witness an al fresco representation of "The Happy Land." I am told they enjoyed themselves; but I think the explanation of the enjoyment was the circumstance that they were doing something which had been "prohibited." I think they would have been still more pleased if, on landing, they had all been arrested and put in gaol. Now that the Strathleven has taken her frozen cargo safely to England, it is worth while considering whether a pleasure trip down the bay might not be rendered worthy of the name by having refrigerated saloons in the steamer.

The town has been full of soldiers in all sorts of uniforms, the occasion of their coming having been the presentation of the prizes to the winners in the late rifle-shooting contest. As usual, the Governor made a short happy speech, and put everybody into good humour. In fact he is deservedly gaining the reputation of being an exceedingly pleasant old gentleman, and as for Lady Normanby, she is not merely liked, but beloved by everybody who has the pleasure of knowing her. Like all kind-hearted people, she has occasional trials of her patience however. Thus the other day she was expecting to receive two ladies of considerable social position, who were on a visit to Victoria from a neighbouring colony, but who were personally unknown to her. She was, however, quite aware that they were persons of education and refinement. At the hour they were expected, two other ladies presented themselves, and it happened that their name was very similar in sound to that of those who were expected, and they were accordingly ushered into her ladyship's presence, in the belief that they were the expected ones. As a matter of fact they were the very vulgar wife and daughter of a still more vulgar dentist, and their object in calling upon the marchioness was to solicit the patronage of his Excellency and herself for the dentist. But the humour of the situation consists mainly in the fact that for some time Lady Normanby believed them to be the guests with whom she had made an appointment, and her well-bred endeavours to appear unconscious of their obtrusive familiarities only made them the more troublesome. The mystery, of course, was over when they declared their errand; but at that moment Lord Normanby entered the drawing-room, and he also supposing them to be the expected visitors, was profusely cordial in his welcome, and necessarily taken aback when the dentist's business-card was put into his hands and he was asked to let Mr. —— come and look at his teeth. I believe the aide-de-camp and the secretary were aware of the mistake, and, unseen by Lord and Lady Normanby, were almost suffocating with suppressed laughter while the scene was being enacted. Since this little affair happened, the attendants have had instructions to be more careful about the names of visitors.

MY LAST FOUR MONTHS' WORK IN THE INTERIOR OF NEW GUINEA.

BY ANDREW GOLDIE.

June 28, 1879.—Left Port Moresby with nine packhorses, sixteen natives carrying stores, and four saddle horses, and camped the first night on the banks of the Laloki, about ten miles from Port Moresby. The following day the natives rafted all stores across the river, as we were too far down to find a ford for the horses. When all the stores were safely across, the horses were driven into the river, and swam over to the opposite bank. Our party was composed of five Europeans, including myself and four Kanakas, and, of course, we had to follow the horses and stores by swimming across. All that day we had a very toilsome march through a flat open country covered with tall rank grass. My object was to find a collecting camp, and having pitched upon a suitable spot, we remained for two weeks, and having collected whatever we found worth bringing away, two of us returned to Port Moresby with the specimens. Having deposited our collection in safety we mustered horses and returned to the camp. We now made a fresh start with ten packhorses, and four saddle horses, and went up the Laloki for about ten miles, through a rough open country, with belts of scrub, having often to cut tracks for the horses. Then striking across country we reached the banks of the Goldie about six miles from its junction with the Laloki. Unpacked horses and camped for the night at Momari, our old camp of the previous year. The next day we had a very toilsome march, crossing the Goldie and re-crossing no less than six times, sometimes along the banks of the river in dense scrub. We had to divide the horses into two lots, Mr. Rolles taking the lead on the track cut by the miners the previous year, myself in the centre driving half of the horses, and Connor in the rear keeping all the horses in single file. We had often to halt and clear away scrub to allow the horses to pass, and often the horses would get foul of the scrub, and their packs be in great danger of being torn off; sometimes we were filing along the steep sides of mountains, and most of the work had to be done by us Europeans, as we found the Kanakas of very little use among horses. We passed close to two Koiari villages, groups of natives coming out to welcome us, and they assisted us greatly during the last four miles of the journey, by going before and clearing the track. We pitched our camp in one of the last patches of open country on the banks of the Goldie, about the same distance from Port Moresby as Monikelli, near to the place where I saw the tracks of a large and unknown wild animal two years previously, but of which this time I discovered no trace. Higher up the river for about thirty miles, the country is all dense scrub, rugged and broken until again you reach the open patches on the spurs leading to the Owen Stanley range, the home of the Kupeli natives. The Kupeli natives differ entirely in some of their customs from the Koiari people, and from all other natives I have seen in any part of New Guinea. They allow their hair to grow uncombed, matted with filth and dirt. They seem to use the mass of hair on the back of the head all matted together as a sort of natural pillow. No other natives I have seen in New Guinea wear their hair in this manner. Their grass tail-like appendage also I have seen nowhere else in New Guinea, and their language is decidedly different as can be readily seen from a vocabulary of their more common words which I preserved for publication in another form. They are tall and wiry and of a darker hue than the Motu people. My object being to collect specimens of natural history, I did not waste time in exploring so much as I had done in the previous year. In this camp we spent about three weeks, and were very successful in obtaining many rare specimens. I seldom left the camp, but sent out collectors who kept me busily employed in preserving the specimens. We were often visited by natives from the various surrounding districts, bringing yams and taro, which they freely exchanged for salt. A party of over thirty visited us one day, while the cook and I only were in the camp. They had not been five minutes in the camp until one of them stole a tomahawk, making off with it into the scrub. The theft was observed by the other natives, but I was unaware of it until they were seized with a sudden panic, and rushed out of the camp into the dense scrub—some of them carrying away the yams they had brought for sale, and others leaving them behind—all shouting and vociferating in a language unknown to me, some of them seeming not to know the reason why they ran. The dogs and tame pigs they had brought with them afterwards became affected in the same way and rushed off after their master howling and grunting in their own peculiar style. An old chief who remained behind, the only one left, seemed struck with astonishment and could not run at first. I immediately suspected that some theft had been committed and seized the club belonging to the old chief, telling him I would keep it until what was stolen had been brought back, but none of them ever returned either to sell their yams or claim the club. We had the best of the bargain, as a lot of yams were left behind unpaid for.

After this the Marowari natives seemed afraid of us, and would not assist us in carrying. Mr. Rolles and myself then set out on our return with our collection to Port Moresby, taking four Kanakas as carriers as far as the village of Marowari. Here I expected to get native assistance, but, as above stated, they were afraid, and refused, so I was compelled to take two of the Kanakas all the way to Momari, a distance of fifteen miles. We had eight packhorses with us, but many of my specimens would not stand close packing nor the jolting of horses, and being desirous to send the Kanakas back to the camp, I tried to induce the Momari natives to act as carriers to Port Moresby, and at last succeeded, though with great difficulty.

We afterwards returned with fresh stores to the camp, which we then moved about five miles further up to a place known as Mosquito Creek, in the heart of a dense forest, where we had to clear away the scrub to pitch our camp. Here we were likewise very successful in collecting. The Manitani natives freely visited us, and acted towards us in a very friendly manner, some of my Kanakas going out and stopping in their villages all night to get the advantage of good shooting ground in the morning. Having remained here some weeks we decided to move back to our old camp, and a few men went out to collect the horses, which they did, bringing back, to our astonishment, a couple of young foals—the first native horses of New Guinea. These two foals we named "Marowari" and "Manitani." After we arrived at Port Moresby we were presented with two more foals, and the natives requested that they should be named after their villages—"Anapati" and "Illavari." This was accordingly done, and the natives held a great rejoicing at the event, and visited the horses in hundreds.

New Guinea will yet be a splendid country for stock, possessing as it does an abundance of the best grasses with an unlimited supply of water. We have now got the horses introduced, but we still want the cattle. A stock run could easily be obtained, and if worked by prudent men in conjunction with the natives, the venture would be sure to prove successful, and be highly beneficial to the country. Another thing: there is plenty of sugar-cane in the country, cultivated by the natives to a limited extent already, and if a sugar mill were introduced in a populous district, abundance of the raw material would soon be forthcoming, as the natives would readily sell it for articles of European manufacture, and the industry would be highly beneficial to the natives and remunerative to the capitalist, and would be a more effectual means of civilising them than all the operations of the London Missionary Society. The country is well adapted for the growth of all tropical products, more especially coffee, and the natives are sharp enough to see, and willing enough to work at anything which would prove remunerative.

But to return to the camp. After being here for a few weeks, we thought it expedient to move nearer the coast, as the experience of last year warned us of the danger of the river rising and cutting off our road.

Having reached Momari, and camped there for a couple of weeks, we started for the Falls of the Laloki, which we had no difficulty in finding from the directions given to us by Jones and Murphy, two of the Colonist party of miners. We got within 100 feet of the basin, but I had no means with me for taking the height of this wild and grand sight. The fall is broken on one side by a ledge of rock about midway, but on the left the water rushes over the perpendicular rock in an immense body—I should say at least 600 feet without a break. The falls are situated at the top of a wild pass. To approach the base is a matter of great difficulty, as the bed of the river lies in a rocky conglomerate country. Close on the right rise the perpendicular cliffs of the Astrolabe range, with drops of 1000 to 2000 feet, and on the left is the Vitura range, vieing with the Astrolabe in its wild grandeur. The two ranges meet at the top of the pass, and the crystal stream of the Laloki drops in one grand bound with a hissing and roaring noise, sending up clouds of spray. The Roma Falls are about thirty miles from Port Moresby, and well worthy of a visit.

OUR BRISBANE LETTER.

BRISBANE, FEB. 9.

We have had continuously wet weather since my last; not heavy rain, but incessant showers with a sky always overcast. It appears as if this comet of which we are reading will pass away without allowing us to catch a single glimpse of its tail. This is rather a good joke, considering that we are in the "sunny south," and are supposed to rejoice in perpetual blue skies.

We are in a state of growing enthusiasm about the Strathleven experiment. The establishment of a trade in meat means more to Queensland than any other colony of the group. For a variety of reasons we have "gone in" for cattle so extensively that the total number of our herds is only slightly less than that of New South Wales, and our sheep stock is proportionately small. Besides, we have such an extent of distinctively cattle country. In the interior of Queensland the country is well adapted for sheep, and there is plenty of it, enough to carry ten times our present stock. But it is also adapted to cattle raising. So that our herds have that and more for pasture grounds. On the coast, in the hot north-western interior, and on the Gulf watershed, is country which will run cattle and cattle only, and some of it is not only able to bear a very heavy stock, but will produce very prime bullocks. Therefore, not only because of our present condition but on account of the "manifest destiny" that lies before us, this hope of finding an unlimited market for beef is a subject for the sincerest gratification. It is said that a great deal of speculation in stock is on foot; rumours of the kind are flying thickly round. The reports are, no doubt, partly true. It would not be Queensland if there was not an immediate rush for an opening which seems to promise rapid profits.

People insist on connecting, with some show of reason, the recent determination of the Government in regard to mail services with this new hope of trade. The determination to break with the Torres Straits line was not obscurely hinted to the northern people when the Postmaster-General took a flying trip North in December. The information was not palatable to them. Although in view of the southern mail arrangements the Torres Straits line ceased to be of any value to the southern and central districts, yet in the north it gave people a decided advantage in their correspondence with England. But however much the Ministry might have desired to keep in the good graces of their northern supporters, they could not ignore the interest of four-fifths of the people of the colony. Besides, the Torres Straits line did nothing to forward a project which Queenslanders have greatly at heart, the fostering and extension of a direct trade with England. The E. and A. Company's steamers took what cargo they brought to Sydney, they simply discharged mails at our ports. And we have an uneasy consciousness that our trade is passing more and more through Sydney hands. It is easier to forward cargo to the central entrepots there than to load vessels at our small trading towns, where ships, after overcoming the difficulty and paying the cost of making their way up such rivers as the Fitzroy and Brisbane, have often to wait long for cargoes. Now the new scheme propounded by the Government is calculated to overcome the difficulty. Tenders are called for a line of steamers trading directly between London and Moreton Bay, via Torres Straits. It is proposed that they should carry mails, passengers, and goods. Steam lighters, very large, and provided with appliances for rapid loading and discharge, will await them in the roadsteads, and take away the cargoes of incoming, and put goods on board the outgoing vessels. For this purpose we have natural facilities. There is a secure and sheltered roadstead in Moreton and Keppel Bay, although the channels of the river are far too shallow to allow large steamers reaching the towns of Brisbane and Rockhampton. Further north the coast is one long roadstead, protected by the Great Barrier Reef, and double and treble lines of islands. Now, a steamer might not fill up in one place, but she could easily complete her loading before she left her last port of call. In this way the difficulty which the division of our trade between various ports on the coast puts in the way of direct shipments to Europe, will, it is hoped, be overcome. And the frozen meat trade, if it is really established, will do much to render such a scheme possible. Brisbane, Rockhampton, and Townsville, are each ports from which railway lines tapping great pastoral districts have been, or are about to be, made. It does not seem too much to expect that they will ship enough frozen meat to load a monthly line of steamers, while the mail subsidy, together with the passengers and immigrants they will carry, ought to make the trade profitable to the steamers undertaking it. These at least are the day dreams in which we are indulging, and which our Government is taking steps to realize.

The unmistakable success attending the sugar industry, and perhaps the exceptional profits made during the year that has just closed, is leading to an extension of enterprise in this direction. It is reported that large blocks of sugar land have been taken up in the neighbourhood of Port Douglas by some enterprising gentlemen, among whom Dr. O'Doherty is mentioned. There can be no better locality for sugar-growing than will be found on these northern rivers. The soil is excellent, the rainfall perfectly reliable, being determined by the well-marked dry and rainy seasons; and the climate, though of course purely tropical, being distinctly healthy. Besides, the country having been inhabited for two or three years is better known than the Herbert, near Cardwell, when it was "rushed" by intending sugar planters. In fact, both the industry and the country are better understood now.

There is a little gold "rush" at a place called the Woolgar, which is attracting sufficient notice now to be specially paragraphed in the local papers. It is about forty miles from Gilberton, and can hardly be called new ground. Years ago, when wandering bands of diggers prospected for miles round the Gilbert the locality was known to be auriferous, but nothing attractive was found. We are the more grateful now for small mercies than we were in those days. A number of men, variously estimated at from 200 to 400, are reported to be making good wages on a limited patch of alluvial. It is nothing much—nothing that would be noticed if alluvial digging was not at so low an ebb in the colony. Of course there are reefs, but it is in a part of the colony where "you cannot go wrong" for auriferous quartz.

We had an arrival last week which twelve months ago was of frequent occurrence, but which has been rare lately, a shipload of immigrants. The newcomers were a good-looking lot, and are being rapidly absorbed. A large proportion were "nominated" passengers, and have therefore friends who will receive them.

The subscriptions to the Irish Famine Relief Fund continue to come in, although the amounts subscribed have been very large. The most considerable sum given by any individual was a donation of £100, sent up by Mr. F. Stubly, M.L.A., of Charters Towers, a constituency of which he is one of the Parliamentary representatives. It was a handsome gift, but it is fair to state that he is the most fortunate reefer in the North.

The municipal elections are all over. In Brisbane they were rather excited. In Toowoomba, a well-known Queenslander, the Hon. James Taylor, M.L.C., offered himself for a ward, and, after a stiff contest, was elected by a considerable majority. The new Mayor of Brisbane, Alderman Sinclair, is a man generally liked and respected. He has the reputation of always being at hand with the "oil can" whenever municipal passions arise, and as we are, like our climate, sometimes very hot, the qualification is a useful one.

We are worse off than usual for amusements. Hudson's Surprise Party, a very second-rate "show," occupies the one theatre, and the other house of entertainment threatens us with the wretched burlesque which Mr. Berry has so effectually advertised.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—Friday, February 13.

SITTINGS FOR CAUSES.

Banco Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT and a jury of four.)

CRAWFORD V. GORMAN.

In this case, for damages for forcible entry and assault, Mr. Foster, instructed by Mr. G. M. Dunn, appeared for the plaintiff, and withdrew the record.

CRAWFORD V. DOHERTY.

The trial of this cause for damages for trespass to land per forcible entry and assault was part heard.

Equity Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice HARGRAVE, Primary Judge.)

RYAN AND ANOTHER V. RYAN.

When this suit was called on (for the examination of witnesses viva voce), an adjournment was asked for by the counsel for the parties, as there was a hope of settling the matters in dispute without any further litigation.

His HONOR granted the application, and adjourned the further hearing till next Wednesday, and intimated that as the suit was between relations, and arose out of a dispute about accounts, it might very properly be amicably settled.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—Friday.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

In the matter of Caleb James Austin, a single meeting. Insolvent attended, and verified his schedule. One debt was proved. No directions were given, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of John Daly, a single meeting. Insolvent did not attend. No debts were proved, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of William Herbert Grace, a single meeting. Insolvent deposed to the accuracy of his schedule. One debt was proved. Being examined by a creditor, insolvent deposed that he could not say the day when the bailiff took possession of his furniture; the goods were still at his house; they belonged to his wife, having been left to her by will; there was other property left to his wife, but it was mortgaged. In reply to his Honor, insolvent stated that he was prepared to pay £1 per month to his creditors. The proving creditor gave directions for the sale of the furniture, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of Herbert Greenland, a first meeting. Two debts were proved, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of Augustus Marie Rene de Monsigny, a first meeting. Four debts were proved, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of Charles Vickers, a second meeting. Insolvent did not attend. Two debts were proved, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of George Cook, a special meeting. One debt was proved, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of August Sappey, a third meeting. No further debts were proved. Directions were given to the effect that the official assignee should take such proceedings against Wakely, or the insolvent, for recovery of assets as he may be advised, and the meeting was terminated.

In the estate of William Lumsdaine, a third meeting. Six debts were proved. No directions were given, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of William Connolly Shorland, a third meeting. No debts were proved, no directions given, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of Malcolm Gillis, a third meeting. One debt was proved, no directions were given, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of Hing Lee, a single meeting. Insolvent did not attend. One debt was proved. No directions were given and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of James Smith, a single meeting. Insolvent was unable to attend. No debts were proved, and the meeting was adjourned until the 9th April.

In the matter of Thomas Knight, a single meeting. Insolvent did not attend. One debt was proved, and one claim stood over, and the meeting was adjourned until the 9th April.

In the matter of Henry Burrowes, a single meeting. Insolvent deposed to the accuracy of his schedule, and stated that he gave no security to Mr. Godwin; he was still in the Government service, receiving a salary of £150 per annum. Two debts were proved. Insolvent being examined by Mr. F. J. M'Carthy, deposed, that he did not recollect the exact date when he borrowed the money from Mr. Barton; he did not know why he had given Mr. Barton his exact address; he had given orders on his salary; they were paid up to the date of the sequestration of his estate; one was paid afterwards; he was under suspension, but he believed he would receive his salary; the furniture was still in his possession, and always had been; he could not make any offer to his creditors. No directions were given, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of Daniel Sheehy, an adjourned single meeting. One debt was admitted, and the meeting was adjourned until the 16th instant.

SURRENDERS.

Robert Howe, of Rylston, butcher and baker. Liabilities, £155 5s. Assets, £17 8s. 4d. Mr. Sempill, official assignee.

Peter Brown, of Bathurst, blacksmith. Liabilities, £138 14s. Assets, £5. Mr. Lyons, official assignee.

In the estate of Henry Whiteland, of Goulburn, builder. Liabilities, £181 9s. Assets, £67. Mr. Sandeman, official assignee.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

Fourteen applications for writs of ca. sa. were disposed of.

LINSLEY V. SOLOMON.

A rehearing was granted in consequence of defendant's absence through inadvertence.

YARNTON V. CAMB.

An action on an attorney's bill was again postponed for a week on condition of amount of debt and costs being paid into Court on Saturday.

KEMBEL V. JESSEN.

Action by plaintiff, an artist, for painting in oil, likenesses of his parents—his father from a photograph, his mother from life. The dispute was as to the faithfulness of the portraits. The plaintiff's evidence showed that anyone who knew the originals would instantly recognise them on the canvas, while on the part of the defendant numerous witnesses were called, who stated there was no resemblance, and among them was a well-known M.L.A., who stated that it was no more like the deceased parent of the defendant than it was like him (the witness). Plaintiff elected to be nonsuited. Mr. Pigott for plaintiff, Mr. R. B. Smith for defendant.

ROOKE V. GOLDSTEIN.

Plaintiff is a clerk in the Treasury, and defendant is the keeper of a fruit shop and luncheon-room in Hunter-street, east of Turner and Henderson's book-shop. In the opening of plaintiff's case it transpired that the hours at the Treasury were from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., with an intermission of half an hour at mid-day. That a time-book was kept, and that the right to leave at 4 was conditional on the balances having been made up. Plaintiff went to defendant's establishment and ordered a steak, which, when brought to him, he did not admire and passed his knife through it, and smelt it. Defendant's wife objected to his mode of procedure. Plaintiff asked for something else, which was refused until he paid for the rejected steak. He attempted to leave the place, but was prevented by force. A mob collected round the door, a constable was sent for, and a charge made for obtaining goods under false pretences, which the constable refused to listen to. Plaintiff, in consequence, did not get back to his office until after his half-hour had expired. At the outset of the case, plaintiff's advocate offered that if defendant would apologise and pay costs the matter would proceed no further. This offer was rejected. Verdict for plaintiff, £1, to carry professional costs. Mr. Pigott for plaintiff; Mr. W. Roberts, sen., for defendant.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—Friday.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER.)

The sittings of the Central Criminal Court were resumed at the Court-house, Darlinghurst, yesterday.

The Attorney-General (the Hon. Robert Wisdom) prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

UNLAWFULLY WOUNDING.

Philip Monchaveau was arraigned on a charge of unlawfully wounding one John O'Neill, with intent to do grievous bodily harm. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. Pilcher, instructed by Mr. A. J. Brady.

From the evidence of the prosecution, it appeared that in December last the prisoner and his wife kept a boarding-house in Clarence-street. The prisoner's wife, in company with the prosecutor and one or two others, had been enjoying themselves one night in an hilarious manner, drink being consumed pretty freely; and about midnight Monchaveau, who had that night only just returned home after an absence of six weeks, discovered the prisoner O'Neill concealed in his bedroom. A disturbance ensued in the room between Monchaveau and O'Neill and another man, and the prisoner's wife, who was under the influence of drink at the time, joined in the melee, which assumed the nature of a free fight. At one time the prisoner, his wife, and O'Neill were struggling on the floor; and during the disturbance the prisoner, it was alleged, stabbed O'Neill with a knife, although in the disturbance the prisoner appeared to have got the worst of it. Two witnesses gave evidence which went to show that, just previous to the hearing of the case at the police court, the prosecutor O'Neill and another man, who was concerned in the row, offered to settle the case on the payment of £10. Monchaveau replied that he had not the money, whereupon they asked him to give them a bill of sale over his furniture in settlement of the affair, which, however, Monchaveau declined to do.

Mr. Pilcher addressed the jury at some length on behalf of his client, and, the Attorney-General having replied on the arguments brought forward by the prisoner's counsel, the jury retired to consider their verdict.

The jury returned into Court with a verdict of "not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

MANSLAUGHTER.

George Luly, a man of respectable appearance, was placed upon his trial on a charge of feloniously and wilfully slaying George Johnston, on the 24th of January, at Newtown. The accused pleaded not guilty, and Mr. Pilcher (instructed by Mr. Hillyer) appeared on his behalf. From the case for the prosecution it appeared that on the afternoon of the 10th of January last, the deceased, who had, as a general rule enjoyed good health, returned home to his residence at Newtown, having been at work at North Shore. After dinner Johnston went out to the International Hotel, where the prisoner and two other men, named Hughes and Munday, were drinking. Johnston and Munday shortly afterwards sat down and played at dominoes for drinks, in which game the deceased lost. When the game was over, a dispute arose in reference to the payment of the drinks. Luly had been looking on at the game. The four men went into the bar and had drinks, for which Luly paid. Shortly afterwards the deceased went out into the yard of the hotel, and he was almost immediately followed by the prisoner. Luly spoke to Johnston in the yard, and told him to pay for the drinks he had lost, upon which the deceased replied that he would pay for what he thought proper. The prisoner then, it was alleged, struck the deceased a blow in the chest, knocked him down, and kicked him while down. Mr. Shannon then came out and separated the two men. Mr. Shannon and another witness deposed that the prisoner, after knocking the deceased down, knelt on his chest, and whilst in that position struck him with one hand whilst holding Johnston down with his other arm. After the men were separated, Johnston, who was bleeding rather freely, went into the kitchen, and shortly afterwards he was taken home by his wife. On the following day (Sunday) the deceased went out, and on his return home he complained of pains in the head and chest, and was confined to his bed until the 24th January; on which date, at 10 o'clock, he died, having become delirious on the previous day. No medical evidence was obtained for him, but a post-mortem examination of the body was made by Dr. Sedgwick, who found that the lungs were extensively inflamed, the kidneys congested, and there was effusion of blood on the brain, which was distended. The effusion of blood on the brain was the immediate cause of death. It was quite possible, Dr. Sedgwick pointed out in cross-examination, for the diseased state of the lungs and brain to be caused by the violence to which the deceased was subjected, but it was more probable that death resulted from inflammation of the lungs, arising from natural causes, and not from direct violence. In the face of such medical testimony, his Honor said that, in his own mind, the prosecution could not possibly be sustained, and the jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of "not guilty." The accused was accordingly discharged.

The Court, at this stage, adjourned until Monday next.

The following cases are set down for hearing on Monday:—William Ellison, jun., rape; F. H. Linklater, bigamy; Robert Williams, rape; John Roberts, attempted murder; Alexander Ogilvie, embezzlement (two charges) and forgery; Stephen H. Dent, larceny (three charges).

CORONER'S INQUEST.

An inquest was held yesterday at the President Lincoln Hotel, corner of Woolloomooloo and Forbes streets, on the body of Louisa Norah Harland, who died suddenly on the previous day. Richard Harland deposed that he resides at 176, Dowling-street, and is a collector; the dead body viewed by the Coroner and jury was that of his wife; she was 54 years of age, a native of England, and they had been married 34 years; she left no children; they had been living together all that time, and for the last 10 months they resided at Brewster's; they lived on the best of terms, and there had been no ill feeling existing between them; deceased was a woman of temperate habits; witness did not observe anything strange or unusual about her lately, but believed that she had been having a glass or two during the last two or three days; during that time witness brought her a gill of brandy; he had no reason to suppose, from anything she said or did, that she contemplated committing suicide; there was nothing in her demeanour or conduct lately to lead him to infer that her mind was impaired; she seemed perfectly sensible and rational; he knew of nothing that occurred recently to cause her annoyance or mental disturbance; her general health was good; she had not been under medical treatment for the last 34 years, and was apparently in the best of health the night before last, when they went to bed together, about half-past 9; witness was then a little under the influence of drink, but deceased was perfectly sober; there were no words or dispute between them that night; nothing occurred during the night to disturb witness; deceased slept well during the night; witness awoke about a quarter-past 5 o'clock, and got up at once; deceased was awake then; witness dressed himself and left the house to take a walk; he is in the habit of taking early walks; before he went out deceased said to him, "Will you bring me in something when you come in?" he replied that he had only 3d. in his pocket, and therefore he couldn't do it; that was all that passed between them; she was in bed when witness went out; he did not give her anything to drink before he went out; she did not ask him for anything to drink; witness returned home about half-past 7, having spent the 3d. while he was out on a shandy-gaff; on entering the room he found deceased lying on her bed dead; she never said a word to witness before he went out about her intention to commit suicide, nor anything to lead him to think that she intended doing away with herself; she never said to him when he was going out, "I won't be alive, Dick, when you come back;" he did not hear such words; he was a little "on" yesterday morning, but he remembered all he said and what he was doing; he did not know for certain that there was poison in the house yesterday morning, but believed there was, and that it was strychnine he bought at Rockley some years ago for poisoning native dogs; he took it to Glassington, where he lived (that was about seven years ago), and put it in an envelope; after that deceased put it away—he did not know where—and he never saw it since; they had been living in Sydney during the last two years and six months; he came from Essington to Sydney; he could not tell what quantity of strychnine he had, as he used to sell it; he recognized the exhibit A (produced); the words "Strychnine,—poison," were in his handwriting; it was over two years since he saw that paper; after seeing that his wife was dead, he reported the matter, first at the Coroner's Court, and then at Darlinghurst police-station; when he went home and found his wife dead, whom he had left at home shortly before in perfect health, he did not look about to see if he could find anything that would account for her death.

Emma Brewster deposed: Lives at 176, Dowling-street, with her husband; she knew the deceased and her husband, Richard Harland, who had been lodging with them since May last; he seemed to be always kind and nice to his wife, and they were on good terms with each other; she was a woman of temperate habits; he occasionally used to indulge, and had been doing so during the last week; she heard Harland go out yesterday morning about 5 o'clock, and was awoke again about 6 o'clock by hearing a moaning noise proceeding from Mrs. Harland's room, which was next to hers; she at once went into deceased's room and found her lying on her back unable to speak; in reply to several questions she merely shook her head; sent her little girl for some brandy, but when she came back with it deceased appeared to be dying; she was in convulsions, and her body was stretched out and arched, and she was clutching the bed-clothes with her hands; she died about a quarter-past 6 o'clock; she (witness) first saw her after hearing her moans; never heard the deceased at any time say or do anything that would lead her to think she intended committing suicide.

Dr. Marsden deposed to having made a post mortem examination of the body, and the appearances both externally and internally were such as might have presented themselves in a case of poisoning by strychnine; there was nothing in the viscera sufficient to account for death.

William Brewster deposed that he is a printer, residing at 176, Dowling-street; deceased and her husband had resided with him some twelve or fourteen months; they appeared to live on the most friendly and affectionate terms as man and wife; she was a sober woman, but her husband was not a sober man; he occasionally got drunk; he had been drinking for about a week; and when he was on the spree, it took some time for him to get over it; he was a quiet inoffensive man when under the influence of drink, and not quarrelsome; deceased and her husband went to bed on Wednesday night last between 8 and 9 o'clock; that was about their usual time; witness heard and saw Harland go out yesterday morning just about daybreak; witness had been sleeping downstairs lately, and Harland had to pass through the room in which he was before going out; witness was certain it was between 5 and half-past 5 o'clock when Harland went out; within half-an-hour afterwards, witness's wife called to him from the top of the stairs, saying, "My God, Bill, come up, Mrs. Harland is in a fit;" witness pulled his trousers on and went upstairs into Mrs. Harland's room, whither his wife accompanied him; deceased was lying on the bed on her back, with a sheet over her; witness said, "Mrs. Harland, what is the matter with you?" she shook her head; witness said, "Can I do anything for you—shall I get you a little water?" she again shook her head; she had no convulsions while witness was in the room, and did not struggle; she died within ten minutes of witness going into the room; she never spoke to him, but seemed sensible of what he said to her; her mouth was clenched, and she could not speak; witness observed a table in the room; it was close to the bed, within reaching distance; a tumbler was standing on the end of the table nearest to the bed; there was also a jug of water on the table; after deceased's death witness looked the door, and gave the key to his wife, telling her not to open it till she saw a constable; Harland was in the habit of going out early; witness never heard of any poison being kept in the house.

Constable Hamley deposed that yesterday forenoon he went to 176, Dowling-street, and there saw Louisa Norah Harland lying dead (her husband, Richard Harland, was present); her arms and legs were stiff, and her neck was slightly discoloured; Harland said repeatedly, "She has committed suicide by poisoning;" searched the room, and found in the fireplace the paper marked exhibit A, on which was written "strychnine—poison;" Harland stated he had written these words at Rockley about 7 years ago, when he had purchased poison which he gave his wife to poison native cats with, and that he knew she had that poison in the house; Harland told him this in the afternoon; when he asked him first about it, he appeared to be confused and to know nothing about it; he asked Harland if he ever heard his wife threaten to commit suicide, but got no reply; later in the day Harland volunteered the following statement to him:—"I will be candid in what I am going to say to you. This morning about half-past 5 o'clock as I was leaving the bedroom, my wife said to me, 'Dick, I wont be alive when you come back.'" Harland appeared to be in a muddled state yesterday, as if he had been drinking.

At this stage, the inquest was adjourned till Wednesday next to procure the evidence of Mr. Charles Watt, the Government analyst, who has been directed by the Coroner to make an analysis of the stomach, &c., of the deceased.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Yesterday the Police Magistrate was assisted in the Crime Court by Messrs. Jolly, Reading, and Skarratt; and in the Summons Court by Messrs. Neale, Solomon, Carpenter, Barden, Hourigan, and Withers.

Elizabeth Bissett, found guilty of being a common prostitute, behaving in a public place in an indecent manner, was sentenced to be imprisoned, with hard labour, for a period of six months.

Annie Davis, apprehended on a like charge, was sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour one month.

Mary Ann Cowen and Mary M'Gill, convicted of vagrancy, were sentenced to be imprisoned three months; and Thomas Moran, on a like charge, was sentenced to be imprisoned three months.

In the Summons Court about a score of persons were fined in sums varying from 1s to 20s., for sundry offences against the provisions of the Vagrant Act and the Police Act.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—A pawnbroker's license was granted to Thomas Dawes. Three publicans' licenses were transferred:—William B. Johnson to George Dredge, Mary Ann Connor to James Farrell, and from the official assignee of the insolvent estate of Elijah Alexander to Harriett Orr.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Yesterday, Messrs. Lester, Fowler, Goodridge, Sladen, Hyam, Arguimbau, and the Water Police Magistrate, occupied the Bench.

Mary Brown, (50), an old vagrant, was sent to gaol for three months, with hard labour, for having no visible lawful means of support.

Harry Hawley, alias Barry Conn, was brought up, charged with assaulting and beating one C. R. Tharpeis. It appears the prosecutor is the proprietor of some land on the North Shore, which at one time had been used as a common thoroughfare, but to which, when he obtained possession, he denied the public access. The defendant was trespassing, and prosecutor informed him of the fact, when he turned around and committed the assault complained of. The defendant was found guilty, and fined £5, with the alternative of one month's imprisonment.

Stephen Robinson, for aiding and abetting the former prisoner in the assault, was also fined £5, or one month's imprisonment.

Catherine Burns, on remand, appeared to answer a charge of unlawfully and maliciously inflicting grievous bodily harm on one Mary Owen. It appears that the parties in the case, who reside in Queen-street, are continually quarrelling; and on the 31st of last month a more severe outburst than usual occurred, and the defendant was said to have assaulted the prosecutrix. After the hearing of much conflicting evidence, the defendant was committed to take her trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions.

Summons Court.—In the maintenance case of Mary Ann Anderson against her husband John Alexander Anderson, the Bench ordered the defendant to pay 7s. 6d. weekly towards his wife's support for twelve months. The first payment to take place on the 16th instant.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—The applications of Thomas Whitty and Mary Smith for transfers of their licenses to John Mitchell and Joseph F. Magona; of George Adams and John Emerson, for temporary extensions of licenses for their business in the Garden Palace; of Andrew Dransfield, for an auctioneer's, and of Isaac Joll for a pawnbroker's license,—were all granted. W. Booker, making application for a hawker's license, and Andrew M'Donnell and Lucy Ferrari, applying for colonial wine licenses, did not appear; and the application of William Brix was postponed for consideration until next Tuesday.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Yesterday the Bench was occupied by Messrs. Wm. Bailey, James Pemell, and Dr. Brookes.

Peter M'Grath was charged with assaulting Barker F. M'Gibbon. Prosecutor interceded on behalf of prisoner, who pleaded guilty, and was fined 5s. and 5s. 10d. costs, or to be imprisoned two days.

George Oxford v. George Lee was a wages case for £3 0s. 6d. Defendant did not appear. Verdict for complainant, £3 0s. 6d., and 4s. 10d. costs.

SERIOUS AFFRAY AT HAMILTON.

(From the Hamilton Spectator, February 7.)

About 10 o'clock on Thursday morning considerable excitement was caused in Hamilton by an event, the like of which is happily rare in our local annals. It appears that two young men, named Humphrey J. Bloomfield, the shire secretary, and J. H. Cooke, a local storekeeper, both of whom are highly respected, their parents being amongst the oldest settlers of the town, had a "difficulty," in the course of which a revolver was produced, and one of the combatants sustained serious injuries. The facts of the case, so far as we have been able to sift them from the exaggerated rumours which have got into circulation, are briefly these:—Some of the members of the family of Mr. Bloomfield had been greatly annoyed by the spreading of an alleged slanderous and untrue report, and, rightly or wrongly, they blamed Mr. J. H. Cooke for being concerned in propagating it. During a dispute on Wednesday evening, at the house of Mr. Bloomfield, Mr. J. H. Cooke was attacked with a horsewhip by a young lady, and was told by Mrs. Bloomfield that whenever either of the young Bloomfields, who were not then at home, should happen to meet him he would be shot. Next morning Humphrey Bloomfield called at Cooke's store and demanded an apology for the alleged slanderous statements, intimating that unless it was given before 12 o'clock Cooke would have to take the consequences. Bloomfield does not appear, however, to have had patience to wait, for at about 10 o'clock, as Cooke was walking down the street to the telegraph office, Humphrey Bloomfield followed him into the lobby, shut the door, and struck Cooke several blows with his fists. Mr. Cooke, who was carrying a stick, retorted heavily until that weapon had been broken over Mr. Bloomfield's head, and, whilst the pair were struggling, Cooke took a loaded revolver from his pocket, one chamber of which was thereupon discharged, but whether accidentally or otherwise we cannot say. The ball hit the wall of the lobby close to the ceiling, and Cooke struck Bloomfield repeatedly with the butt end of the pistol over the head, causing some dangerous wounds, which bled freely. By this time the alarm had been given, and several people crowded round, but could not at first manage to separate the combatants, owing to the confined space of the lobby, the door of which was shut, and opened inwards. However, Mr. Shields, the postmaster, managed to secure the pistol, which was still loaded in four chambers, and Bloomfield was removed to a place of safety, whilst Cooke walked away down the street. Later in the day Cooke was brought before the Bench on a charge of assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm, and was remanded for the usual term of eight days, bail being accepted by the police magistrate for his appearance. During the day the telegraph office was visited by numbers of curious people, and it was found that the scene of the fracas presented many indications of the struggle. There was a quantity of blood on the walls and floor, whilst the plaster had been knocked down in different spots, and the woodwork of the desk whereon the public write out their messages was loosened from its supports.

Weir, Wells, Miller, Wheeler, Reeves, Bryan, Kidman, Scott, Phillips, Morgan, Hordern, Oliver, Jesson, Hoffmann, and the Fresh Food and Ice Company.

THE LATE REV. G. C. BODE.

It is proposed to raise a FUND for the benefit of the Widow and Orphans of the late Rev. G. C. BODE. The small incomes of the clergy render it difficult for them, under the most favourable circumstances, to make provision for their families; and the Rev. George Bode having been suddenly and unexpectedly called away, it is found that a very slender provision is left for those who were dependent upon him. His numerous friends in the Dioceses of Sydney and Newcastle who valued his character and Ministry, will, it is believed, be glad to contribute to such a fund, which will prove so great a comfort and blessing to his Widow and fatherless Children.

Contributions may be forwarded to THE DEAN OF SYDNEY, St. Andrew's Cathedral, Sydney; or to THE CHURCHWARDENS, St. Thomas's, Willoughby, Sydney.

SUNDAY EVENING, February 15, 1880, LECTURE I. THE MANUFACTURE OF THE UNIVERSE.

"Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made."—GENESIS.

"The search of the Scriptures has impaired the authority of Scripture, and the learned endeavours to remove obscurity have increased doubt. . . . . It is now obvious that the theology of former ages cannot be permanently maintained."—From "Christian Theology and Modern Scepticism," by the DUKE OF SOMERSET, K.G.

"Many good and well-meaning men have attempted to reconcile the statements of Genesis with the discoveries of science, but it is in vain. The divergence has increased so much that it has become an absolute opposition. One of the antagonists must give way."—From "History of the Conflict between Religion and Science," by Dr. DRAPER.

"It is no small matter, this round and delicious globe, moving so exactly in its orbit for ever and ever, without one jolt, or the untruth of a single second;
"I do not think it was made in six days, nor in ten thousand years, nor ten billions of years.
"Nor planned and built one thing after another, as an architect plans and builds a house."—From WALT WHITMAN'S Poems.

GENERAL AGRICULTURAL SHOW.
INTRODUCTION OF NEW PRODUCTIONS.

The first and the great General International Show of the produce of the land will open on TUESDAY, 2nd March, in the Agricultural Hall, Garden Palace.

This will be not only a show of Agricultural and Horticultural produce and plants, but is meant to bring together for comparison and instruction every article that the soil of these colonies from the tropics to South Cape can produce. Besides exhibits of cereals, fruit, sugar, tobacco, &c., the produce of industries already established, the inhabitants of all the colonies are invited to send the results of their local observation and experiments, such as indigenous gums, nuts, flax, indigo, barks for tanning, dye woods, &c.; also, native grasses, the different varieties of salt bush and plants used as pasture. Also the results of their experimental cultivation, cinchona, olives, silk, arrowroot, pepper, spices, &c., accompanied by information that may guide others until these experiments grow into extensive industries, for with a country extending from within 10° of the Equator to the south end of New Zealand in 47° S., with high mountain ranges throughout, and a coast line of over 3000 miles, there must be climate and soil suitable for the production of every article grown and consumed on the face of the earth.

Only by experiment and comparison can the capabilities of the various countries, districts, and climates be learned, and it is earnestly requested that all will contribute their experience towards this result, one of the principal objects of the Commission in this show.

For schedules, forms of entry, and full information apply at this Office, to Mr. G. S. LANG, Secretary of the Agricultural Committee.

REMINGTON CELEBRATED WORLD'S PRIZE SEWING-MACHINES, WITH LATEST IMPROVEMENTS. THERE ARE NONE TO APPROACH THEM. No cog wheels to make a noise. Simple, DURABLE, easy to work, and COMPARATIVELY NOISELESS. All buyers are in admiration of them, as attested from the LARGE NUMBER OF TESTIMONIALS TO HAND. COME AND SEE THEM AND WE ARE SURE YOU WILL BUY NO OTHER. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Prices now reduced so as to bring them within the reach of all.

J. J. CURRAN, 600, George-street, Sole Agent, and Mr. TIERNEY'S Depot, 554, George-street, opposite the Town Hall, where the machines may be had on the most liberal terms of payment.

THE WONDERFUL WERTHEIM SEWING MACHINES, without hand-folding, tacking (or basting), without the use of soap or sperm, without any pulling or pushing of the work, will make very fine double seams or fells; will kilt to any width, braid, make their own braid, bind, cord, ruffle, gather, sew on ribbons and trimmings, tuck, hem to any width, make frills, quilt, hem, and bind on the bias; embroider curtains or antimacassars, and generally do all household and factory sewing. Any of these kinds of work will be shown at the Exhibition or at our offices. Machines for all trades can be supplied. They are simple to learn, light in running, strong, handsome, and durable. Any machine may be had upon trial, ENTIRELY FREE OF CHARGE. Instruction at YOUR OWN HOMES free. Every WERTHEIM Machine sold by us will be KEPT IN REPAIR and working order for TWO YEARS from date of purchase, altogether FREE OF COST. NO INTEREST, NO EXTRA CHARGE on list price for TIME PAYMENT.

Any machine delivered at your own house for trial and inspection, FREE OF CHARGE. Price lists and samples by post. Country agents supplied upon liberal terms. Catalogues and samples free by post. Machines of all makers repaired. BEALE and COMPANY, George-street, near Market-street.

The following testimonial was voluntarily proffered to us at the Sydney Exhibition, by the managing partner of Messrs. W. H. ROCKE and CO., well-known as the leading firm of UPHOLSTERERS in MELBOURNE:—

"We have much pleasure in stating that we have used "THE WERTHIEM SEWING MACHINES" in our upholstery rooms, for the last two years, and find them to be very durable, easily worked, and THE BEST MACHINES WE HAVE YET HAD.

"Yours respectfully,
(Signed), "W. H. ROCKE and Co."

MESSRS. ALSTON AND BROWN, the leading firm of drapers and outfitters in MELBOURNE say:—

"THE WERTHEIM'S Hand and Treadle SEWING MACHINES sold by us have, in EVERY INSTANCE, given the HIGHEST SATISFACTION."

MESSRS. EDWARD KEEP AND CO., one of the oldest and largest houses of HARDWARE MERCHANTS in MELBOURNE, say:—

"We have much pleasure to inform you that the WERTHEIM'S SEWING MACHINES, Hand and Treadle, have ALWAYS given the GREATEST SATISFACTION, and we gladly acknowledge that ALL OF OUR CUSTOMERS whom we supplied with these machines HAVE REPEATEDLY EXPRESSED THEMSELVES TO THAT EFFECT, praising the quality of the machines as regards STYLE, FINISH, and IMPROVEMENTS.

"We are, yours truly,
(Signed), "EDWARD KEEP and Co."

Local references will be supplied to any who may wish to obtain an opinion before purchasing. The WERTHEIM MACHINES are in use in the principal work-rooms of the city and in all parts of the city and suburbs.

Extract from POST MAGAZINE (London), of 6th December, 1879, on the Sixth Quinquennial Report of the Society:—

"It is, as a whole, the most complete statement ever issued by a Life Company, and affords an incontestible proof that the tale of singular success it tells is the result, not of chance, but of practical and theoretical ability, governed by sound judgment and prudence. . . . An enormous solid income has thus been gathered together under serious drawbacks with respect to population and distance at a comparatively small cost."

WOOL.

THE COMING SEASON, 1879.

In view of the approaching Wool Season we take the earliest opportunity of returning our thanks for the support which has been hitherto accorded us, and we now have the pleasure of informing the Wool Growers of NEW SOUTH WALES and QUEENSLAND that we shall be prepared to receive upon the most favourable terms, at our

WOOL WAREHOUSE, CIRCULAR QUAY,

Consignments of the ensuing season's Clip for sale, either in the SYDNEY, MELBOURNE, or LONDON MARKETS. And from our long experience in the business, we can, with confidence, promise to our constituents most careful attention in the disposal of their Wool, with the utmost promptitude in rendering account sales, and paying over proceeds.

The extension of the Railways to the South and West will no doubt induce many growers to forward to THIS MARKET Wools which heretofore have gone to Victoria and Adelaide; and, in anticipation of such expected increase, we have added largely to our Warehouse Accommodation. We will thus be enabled to offer improved facilities for the Storing and disposal of Wool and other Produce consigned to our care.

SALES.—During the press of the season our sales are held WEEKLY, and each lot is carefully examined and valued by ourselves personally prior to offering at auction, and no sale is made of even the smallest quantity unless we are quite satisfied that we are obtaining for it full market value.

RESERVES.—When we are unable to obtain the reserve price that owners occasionally place upon the wools we are prepared to ship to our London agents under liberal cash advance; or we will hand over bills lading to the owner or his agents here accordingly as we may be instructed.

FIRE INSURANCE.—All wool, while in our warehouse, will be fully protected against loss by fire.

SHIPPING.—In shipping to England we are particular to secure first-class ships at lowest possible freights; and, as our shipments are heavy, we are thus enabled to make good terms, and we can confidently promise that the strictest attention will be given to the interests of our friends in carrying out whatever business may be entrusted to our care.

ALEXANDER MOORE AND CO.'S LABOUR BAZAAR,
285, 287, 289, 291, 293, and 295, Pitt-street.
Established A.D. 1840.

ALEXANDER MOORE and CO. respectfully invite ladies and gentlemen about to furnish, recent arrivals in the colony, and the public in general, to call and inspect the magnificent collection of elegant and substantial high-class Furniture, both foreign and colonial made, now on view in their spacious show-rooms.

A. M. and Co., having paid special attention to the selection of their New Stock, and having recently purchased, for cash, some of the most massive and superb Hall, Dining-room, Drawing-room, and Bedroom Suites, are now enabled to offer to ladies and gentlemen and the general public the most magnificent furniture ever yet placed before them.

The furniture is conveniently arranged in separate departments, and visitors are conducted through the show-rooms without any objectionable importunity to purchase.

A. M. and Co respectfully remind their customers that they do not profess to sell their goods at a large sacrificing discount, neither do they charge large profits—the extent and mode of their purchases being such as to enable them to do well for their customers at a small profit, looking more particularly for a remuneration in doing a large and extensive business

A. M. and Co., in returning sincere thanks for past favours, and assuring their friends and the general public that no effort will be spared on their part to make their establishment worthy of continued and increased support, beg to quote a few of the leading lines received by recent arrivals direct from the most eminent manufacturers:—

Parliamentary Elections.

PADDINGTON ELECTORATE.

In pursuance of a Writ received from the Honorable the Speaker, bearing date 4th instant:

I hereby convene a Public MEETING of the Electors of the Electorate of Paddington, at the Hustings at Redfern, on the eighteenth day of February, 1880, for the purpose of nominating and electing ONE MEMBER to serve in the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in lieu of John Sutherland, Esq., resigned.

If no more than one candidate be nominated, such will then be declared elected; but if more than one be nominated, the election will be made by show of hands, unless a poll be legally demanded, such poll if so demanded will be taken on the twentieth instant, between the hours 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., at Redfern.

Paddington.
Waterloo.
Ocean-street, Double Bay.
Bourke-street, Surry Hills.

HENRY B. MORGAN,
Returning Officer for the Electorate of Paddington.
Holmsdale, Marrickville, 5th February, 1880.

TO THE ELECTORS OF PADDINGTON.

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honour to offer myself as a Candidate to represent your interest in the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Honorable John Sutherland.

I am personally known to most if not all the Electors of Paddington, and having taken an active part in the liberal interests during the last twenty-five years, in connection with your late member, my political principles are well known.

One or two matters I may mention that will ensure my warmest support—first the passing of an Electoral Bill, giving you increased representation; and next the completion of the Land Bill.

The Education Bill will no doubt be the law of the land before your member can take his seat, but if it is not I will, if elected, support the passing of the bill now before Parliament. If elected I will go into the House pledged to no party, but will support the best measures for the general good, no matter by whom they may be introduced.

Yours faithfully,
W. HEZLETT.

Melrose, Woollahra, February 6, 1880.

MR. FORSTER FOR PADDINGTON.

TO THE ELECTORS OF PADDINGTON.

FELLOW-ELECTORS,—We are called upon to choose a successor to our late excellent representative Mr. John Sutherland, and it should be a matter of pride with each one of us to obtain the services of a statesman who can uphold the high reputation of Paddington. With all respect to the local gentlemen who have offered themselves, they are not likely to influence or direct the Legislative Assembly; but Mr. W. FORSTER, who is now on his way out to this colony would be "an ornament to the Assembly, and a credit to Paddington." Mr. Forster is the most independent statesman who has ever occupied a high position in New South Wales, he courts no man and he fears no man; his honesty is undoubted, and his abilities as a scholar and a debater entitle him to the very highest position among public men. His views are well known to us all. He is a staunch secularist in educational matters, but is disposed to be just to the minority of the people. He is a free-trader, but not a fanatical free-trader; and he is not favourable to "the present system of pauper emigration." With his personal quarrels with Sir Henry Parkes we have nothing to do; let us elect him for his own high qualities. He belongs neither to the Ministerialists nor to the Opposition; and, therefore, his election cannot appear either a vote of praise or censure of any political party. For once let us put aside party considerations, and chose the BEST MAN.

Yours respectfully, W. W.

PADDINGTON ELECTION.

VOTE for the INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE, THE STATESMAN.

WORKING MEN, rally round the man of education and of genius. Be not bamboozled by those who put forward respectable old duffers, who will be the pliant tools of clique.

PADDINGTON ELECTION.

VOTE for your staunch old friend, WILLIAM FORSTER, the honest and fearless statesman.

ROBINSON'S NEW PATENTED COOKING RANGE—THE SYDNEY.

The undersigned, in placing before the public their new cooking range, the SYDNEY, claiming for it SPECIAL PERFECTIONS, combining all the good qualities of the best cooking apparatus—strength and durability, perfect action, economy and style, adaptability to colonial fuel and requirements—place it far in advance of any. The smoke passages are all self-contained, thus rendering it perfectly independent of brick flues.
REQUIRING NO BUILDING IN,
there is no addition to the first cost for mechanics' labour.
THE OVEN IS EXTRA LARGE!!!

In designing this range, we give special attention to the oven, and submit it as perfect in operation and arrangement for roasting and baking. The FACILITY FOR CLEANING is an important improvement, rendering the management of the range perfectly simple; its many perfections have won for it the character by experts as the most COMMON SENSE RANGE EXTANT.

We are having this range made in various styles of finish, both for WOOD and COAL, and invite attention to those we have now in stock, and TO BE EXHIBITED.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS. for CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.

Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—

1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surry, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.

2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey, painted thereon.

3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EE's.

4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.

Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors, at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each.

Sold in Sydney, by ELLIOTT, BROTHERS.
W. TAYLER and CO., 219, Pitt-street.

WELL WORTHY OF NOTICE AS A CERTAIN CURE for Bilious and Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Wind, Spasms, Foul breath, Nervous Depression, Irritability, Lassitude, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sour Eructations, Lowness of Spirits with sensation of fulness at the pit of the Stomach, Giddiness, Dizziness of the Eyes, &c.,

Dr. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS STAND UNRIVALLED

as a General Family Aperient Medicine they have no equal, being mild in their operation, and grateful to the stomach, they give a healthy tone and vigour to the different secretions, causing the necessary organs of the Stomach and Liver to resume their activity, thus restoring the appetite, promoting digestion, and strengthening the whole system.

They can be taken at any time without restraint from business or pleasure, hence they are a most valuable domestic medicine. Heads of households should always have a box of these Pills by them, to resort to on any slight occasion of ailing on the part of those under their charge, as by paying attention to the regular action of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, many a severe illness is avoided or mitigated. They will be found in slight cases by a single dose to restore health to the body, with a happy frame of mind.

Prepared only by W. Lambert, 1A, Vere-street, London, W., England. In Bottles ONLY, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d. Sold by all Chemists.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—Be sure to ask for "Dr. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS," in a green bottle, wrapped in green paper, and having the name and address,

WILLIAM LAMBERT,
8, King William-street, Charing Cross, engraved on the Government Stamp. Do not, therefore, purchase without seeing the Government Stamp over the cork of the bottle.

KAYE'S WORSDELL'S PILLS

WHICH THE EXPERIENCE OF NEARLY THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY PROVES TO BE THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE.

They
PURIFY THE BLOOD | CLEANSE THE SYSTEM
REMOVE OBSTRUCTIONS | IMPROVE THE DIGESTION
ESTABLISH THE HEALTH.
KNOWN ALL OVER THE WORLD.

KAYE'S WORSDELL'S PILLS have been esteemed as the best remedy for the prevention and cure of disease. Their use renders the doctor unnecessary in the family.

Acting on the blood, they purify it from all humours, rendering the life-giving fluid healthy in its action, and consequently restoring and establishing the health of the invalid.

These pills are invaluable to emigrants, being a certain remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Lungs, Liver, &c. Are equally adapted for all ages and either sex. Persons residing in the colonies who cannot have recourse to medical advice will therefore find them indispensable.

Captains of ships who have taken these Pills with them have found them indispensable to good health on the voyage.

Sold by all Chemists and other Dealers in Patent Medicines throughout the world.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—TIMES, July 13, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See LANCET, December 31, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—MEDICAL TIMES, January 12, 1866.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colics, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s. Agents: Sydney—ELLIOTT, BROTHERS.

ONE BOX of CLARKE'S B 41 PILLS is warranted to cure all ailments of the urinary organs in either sex (acquired or constitutional), gravel, and pains in the back. Sold in boxes, 4s 6d each, by all chemists and patent medicine vendors. Sole Proprietor, F. J. Clarke, Apothecaries'-hall, Lincoln, England.

IMPURE CHLORAL
The disappointment and the dangerous and distressing accidents which result from the use of impure chloral show the necessity for a

PREPARATION which is
PURE, UNIFORM, and AUTHORISED.

The only solution of Chloral which "is guaranted by Professor Oscar Liebreich as the purest form of the drug" is LIEBREICH'S SYRUP OF CHLORAL, in original bottles, 3s 6d and 2s each.

Every bottle bears the name of the Sole Manufacturers—CORBYN, STACEY, and CO., and the signature of Dr. O. Liebreich. The Syrup may be obtained of the leading Chemists throughout the colonies.

ROCKE, TOMPSITT, and CO., Melbourne.

BISHOP'S GRANULAR EFFERVESCENT CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.
(Established 1857.)
This perfectly white and delicately clean preparation,
PREPARED WITH SALTS OBTAINED FROM PURE FRUIT JUICES OF LEMONS AND GRAPES, is the most delicious of spring and summer drinks, highly cooling and refreshing, as well as mildly aperient. The action is febrifuge, (that is, having a tendency to reduce a feverish state of the body); consequently when the system is in an uncomfortable, heated, dry condition, a draught of this preparation is most refreshing. It will produce a moisture on the skin, and the frame generally will be invigorated. It does not lower the system like other salines. Dr. Redwood, Professor of Chemistry at the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, thus writes:—

"I have examined a great many samples of Mr. Bishop's granulated preparations, obtained at various times and from different sources, and have found them to be very uniform in character, fully charged with carbonic acid, and obviously made with great care and accuracy."

CAUTION.—Each label bears the trade mark and full address of ALFRED BISHOP, Manufacturing Chymist, 17, Speck's Fields Mile End, New Town, London.

This preparation keeps better and retains its effervescence longer than any other ever offered to the public.

Selling in England, in bottles, at 1s and 2s 6d; and larger size for family use.

Agents for Sydney—Messrs. ELLIOTT, BROTHERS.

KEATING'S INSECT POWDER.—Bugs, Fleas, Moths, Beetles, and all other insects are destroyed by Keating's Insect Destroying Powder, which is quite harmless to domestic animals. In exterminating beetles the success of this powder is extraordinary, and no one need be troubled by those pests. It is perfectly clean in application. Ask for, and take no other than "Keating's Powder," as imitations are noxious, and fail in giving satisfaction. Sold by all Chemists, in tins, 1s and 2s 6d each.

The outbuildings comprise coachhouse, stable, groom's room, &c.
The grounds, about half an acre in extent, are prettily laid out into terraces, lawns, and flower beds, and command a large frontage to Elizabeth Bay Road, and extend down to the Esplanade and waters of the Harbour, securing the full benefits of sea-bathing, &c.

PENTILLIE is in the market for POSITIVE SALE. Its POSITION is UNSURPASSED, being only 15 minutes drive from the city, with extensive and varied views of the HARBOUR, NORTH SHORE, DARLING POINT, and MANLY BEACH, and is surrounded by first-class residences.

Further particulars and cards to view, may be obtained at the Rooms.

The Title is Leasehold, having over 90 years to run. Ground rent, £25 yearly.

DAY OF SALE, WEDNESDAY, 3rd MARCH.
N.B.—The WHOLE of the HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE and EFFECTS are advertised for sale in SEPARATE ADVERTISEMENT, or the purchaser of PENTILLIE can purchase the above in one line.

NORTH SHORE,
near to Nicholls's Wharf.

A first-class Block of Land, containing an area of over 30 ACRES,
adjoining the properties of Hon. Joseph Docker, M.L.C., and Mr. Stephenson, opposite the NEW CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, and midway between the Lane Cove Road and the Lane Cove River.
The property is known as a portion of Ross Donnelly's Estate, upon which a large sum of money must have been expended. The land is well timbered, the SOIL is FIRST-CLASS, and there is plenty of water; and there is a good quarry.

The AUCTIONEERS can, with confidence, recommend this property to anyone requiring same for private purposes or to speculate for subdividing.

The frontage to the main NICHOLLS' WHARF ROAD, nearly equals THREE-QUARTERS OF A MILE, and in the vicinity are erected first-rate residences, with highly-improved grounds, orchards, &c.
The 'bus to Russell's Hotel, or the steamers of Lane Cove River, will set down passengers, at low fares, within a short distance of the property.
The views of Parramatta River, Balmain, the Garden Palace, and the city of Sydney are not easily surpassed.

Plan of the property may be seen at the Rooms, and the whole will be sold in one line.

HOUGH'S MILL PROPERTY.

WAVERLEY ROAD.

☞ To BUILDING SOCIETIES, SPECULATORS, and OTHERS.

FOR AUCTION SALE,
one of the best Original Properties, containing an area of about 10 ACRES, commanding the following large frontages:—
330 FEET to WAVERLEY ROAD (at the Tollbar), and 1370 FEET to a GOVERNMENT ROAD, adjoining WESTGATE, the residence of Major Raymond, and next to the "ERITH" ESTATE.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from Mr. HOUGH to sell by public auction, at their Property Sale Rooms, Pitt-street,
ON AN EARLY DATE,
The whole of his very valuable and well-known property, situate as above described, and which will be offered in the first instance in ONE LINE, or failing a purchaser for the whole, the front and most valuable portion of the property will be offered in building sites.

HOUGH'S MILL PROPERTY certainly occupies an unequalled position in this favourite eastern suburb, both for access and elevation, being situate midway between the densely populated suburbs of WOOLLAHRA on the one side and WAVERLEY on the other, overlooking the beautiful suburb of RANDWICK, and commanding extensive and picturesque views of the HARBOUR and BELLEVUE HILL. There is also a very valuable STONE QUARRY on the ESTATE.

No property can be more easily and advantageously subdivided. The value of land is well established; only small blocks can be obtained in the locality, and the population is rapidly increasing. THE GOVERNMENT LINE OF TRAMWAYS is SURVEYED right past this property, and when this means of communication is carried out the value of land will necessarily be largely increased.

LARGE PLAN of the PROPERTY can be seen at the ROOMS, and further particulars obtained from the Auctioneers.

TERMS may be cash, or two-thirds of the purchase money may remain on the property for 3 YEARS at 7 PER CENT.

BOWRAL. BOWRAL.

The COMMERCIAL BANK PREMISES, together with the large Corner Block of Land, as now fenced in, having a large frontage to MERRIGANG-STREET, the present main thoroughfare, adjoining the property of P. L. C. SHEPHERD, Esq., and situate within a few minutes' walk of the BOWRAL RAILWAY STATION.

SHERBOURNE,
a commodious Family Residence, with highly improved grounds, well planted with a choice assortment of full grown trees, shrubs, &c., adjoining the residences of FRANCIS GILES, Esq., ALEXANDER GORDON, Esq., and nearly opposite the residence of HIS HONOR JUDGE DOWLING.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from the PROPRIETOR to sell by public auction, at their PROPERTY SALE ROOMS, at 11.30 o'clock, on WEDNESDAY, 3rd MARCH.
SHERBOURNE, containing wide entrance hall, drawing-room, library, dining-room with bay window, day and night nurseries, six bedrooms, housemaid's pantry, storeroom, lobby, besides kitchen, scullery, &c., finished in superior style throughout, and having an abundant supply of water and gas laid on.

The out-buildings comprise COACH-HOUSE, STABLE, &c. The land comprises an area of about 1½ acre, and is divided into flower garden, terraces, lawns planted with evergreens, paddock for cow, kitchen garden, &c., &c., the whole forming a complete homestead.

The POSITION of SHERBOURNE is one of the VERY BEST, both for access and views, including the harbour, Bellevue-hill, and the pretty country around WAVERLEY.

No expense has been spared to make SHERBOURNE REPLETE as a home.

Further particulars and cards to view can be obtained at the Rooms.

PHOTOGRAPHS SHOWING THE HOUSE AND GROUNDS ARE ALSO ON VIEW AT THE ROOMS.

WEDNESDAY, 3rd MARCH.
The above described FARM of 200 ACRES.

☞ The Auctioneers invite inspection. From its nearness to the station, its large water supply, and also the land being cleared and fenced, their property should command ready sale.

DAY OF SALE, WEDNESDAY, 3rd MARCH.

ABSOLUTE AND POSITIVE SALE.

BY ORDER of the EXECUTORS in the ESTATE of J. F. MARSHALL, Esq., Deceased.

CITY INVESTMENT.

MACQUARIE-PLACE,
near the Exchange.

The premises known as the
"BON ACCORD WORKS,"
and the OFFICE and large commodious DWELLING-HOUSES in the occupation of Messrs. A. A. Marshall and Co.
Also,
the CUSTOM-HOUSE HOTEL adjoining.

The land has a frontage to MACQUARIE-PLACE of 69 feet 6 inches by depth of 152 feet on south side, and 140 feet on north side, with large frontage to the road at side leading into Pitt-street, and widening considerably at the rear. This valuable property adjoins Messrs. Dangar, Gedye, and Co.'s premises, and Messrs. Cowlishaw, Brothers, near to all the WOOL STORES, the CIRCULAR QUAY, and the SYDNEY EXCHANGE, &c., &c.

SOLICITORS—Messrs. PIGOTT and TRICKETT.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from the TRUSTEES in the ESTATE of J. F. MARSHALL, deceased, to sell by public auction, at their New Property Sale Rooms, 175, Pitt-street,
EARLY IN MARCH,
The above described city property, consisting of
THE CUSTOM-HOUSE HOTEL, two stories high, built of brick on stone foundations, containing 8 rooms, large bar, kitchen, and necessary outbuildings in yard at rear, producing a rental of £200 yearly.

Also, MARSHALL'S SHOP adjoining, three stories high, built of brick on stone foundations, containing SHOP and other large accommodation, together with the large premises at rear, known as
THE BON ACCORD WORKS.

\. THE AUCTIONEERS can with confidence recommend this property as possessing large present and prospective advantages. The position for access and surroundings is first-class, and the recent improvements, notably the large warehouses recently erected for Messrs. HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, and the NEW GOVERNMENT OFFICES, show the growing importance of the locality.

See Plan now on view. Lithographs in course of preparation.

THE OLDREY ESTATE.

Comprising
4498 ACRES OF GOOD AGRICULTURAL LAND, adjoining the TOWNSHIP OF BROULEE, in the COUNTY OF ST. VINCENT, between BATEMAN'S BAY
and MORUYA, near
BODALLA,
The MODEL FARM and ESTATE of the late T. S. MORT, Esq., and 200 miles south of the METROPOLIS.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Captain OSBORNE to sell by public auction at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 20th February, at 11 o'clock,
The above land, being the earliest selections in this well-known portion of the county of St. Vincent.
Plans can be inspected at the Rooms.

W. W. BILLYARD, Esq., Hunter-street, is Solicitor for the vendor.

DARLINGHURST HEIGHTS.

MOST BEAUTIFULLY SITUATED and tastefully finished FAMILY RESIDENCE,
No. 8, THOMSON-STREET, a few yards north of LIVERPOOL-STREET, between Bourke and Forbes streets.

Title, Torrens' Act.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. JAMES TOWERS HUNT to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 20th February, at 11 o'clock,
All that allotment of land, having frontages of 20 FEET to THOMSON-STREET
20 FEET to LITTLE THOMSON-STREET, upon which is No. 8, a substantially-built and highly finished three-story family residence, of brick on stone foundation, with balcony in front, and containing the following accommodation:—
GROUND FLOOR—wide entrance hall, drawing and dining rooms, connected by folding doors.
FIRST FLOOR—three good bedrooms, bathroom, and storeroom.
SECOND FLOOR—three bedrooms and range of linen closets.
The OFFICES comprise kitchen, pantry, laundry, wood and coal sheds, with yard, &c., at the year, connected with the sewer.

☞ This is a valuable property, in the most healthy position on DARLINGHURST HEIGHTS.
It is finished throughout in the very best manner possible, the internal fittings being all of highly seasoned cedar, and no expense has been spared in making the property a comfortable, convenient, delightful, and charming family residence. The gas is laid on throughout the house, and the fittings and chandeliers will be sold with the property.
It is on the east side of THOMSON-STREET, and commands a most extensive and picturesque view of the city, the railway suburbs, the harbour, Garden Palace, the Gardens, North Shore, and surrounding pretty scenery, with the great advantage (owing to the abrupt fall of the land, about 50 feet, on the west side of Thomson-street) of the impossibility of this grand view being ever interrupted.

Cards to view may be obtained at the Rooms.
Terms at sale.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

BALMAIN.

EXTENSIVE BLOCK of LAND, fronting DARLING ROAD, adjoining the SCHOOL OF ARTS, and opposite the WESLEYAN CHURCH, with a great depth, extending to JOHNSTON'S BAY, to which it has a large FRONTAGE, together with the FOUR COTTAGES thereon.

54 FEET to Darling Road
117 FEET to a right of way
75 FEET to a roadway leading to a well
100 FEET to Darling Harbour, on which are erected FOUR COTTAGES, BUILT PRINCIPALLY of STONE, and containing each 4 rooms.
☞ This is a very valuable waterside property, in the centre of Balmain, on the eastern side, about midway between the Darling-street and Adolphus-street ferry wharfs.
The water frontage part is admirably adapted for wharfage purposes and boatbuilding, and the main road frontage as a site for business premises or for a first-class villa.
The cottages on portion of the land are let, and realize a rental of £52 per annum.
A plan of the position is on view at the Rooms.

FIRST-CLASS CITY INVESTMENT.

THOSE BUSINESS PREMISES, No. 33, PITT-STREET NORTH, near the CIRCULAR QUAY, at present in the occupation of Mort's Dock Engineering Establishment, and portion of the premises, No. 35, Pitt-street, adjoining.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 20th FEBRUARY, at 11 o'clock,
ALL that valuable block of city land, having 61 FEET frontage to Pitt-street North, with a depth of 96 FEET, on which are THOSE BUSINESS PREMISES, No. 33, at present occupied by MORT'S DOCK ENGINEERING ESTABLISHMENT.
Also, portion of the business premises, No. 35, adjoining, lately vacated by Messrs. ROWAN and CO.
They are substantially built of brick and in first-class order.
At the rear are iron and wooden stores.
☞ This is a really valuable block of centrally-situated city property, in the most valuable and rapidly advancing portion of Pitt-street, only a few yards from the CIRCULAR QUAY and the SHIPPING.
It is but seldom now that opportunities offer for securing these sterling city investments, therefore those in search of such should not lose this one chance of purchasing so large and valuable a block of land together with the buildings thereon. Possession will be given in April.
Instructions are imperative that a sale must be effected on the date mentioned to the highest bidder.
Inspection is therefore invited, and the auction plan is on view at the Rooms.

Preliminary Advertisement.

FOR POSITIVE SALE,
by Order of the Executors of the late Mr. N. P. BAYLY,
The famous
HAVILAH ESTATE,
situated near Mudgee, New South Wales, together with
The whole of the celebrated Pure-bred Merino SHEEP belonging thereto.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER have received instructions from the Executors of the late Mr. N. P. Bayly to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, in APRIL next,
The above magnificent property and stock,
comprising
about 24,000 acres freehold land about 30,000 acres held under lease about 17,000 pure-bred merino sheep.
Also,
Horses, stores, plant, &c.

A large portion of the estate consists of very rich agricultural land, the balance being all first-class sound grazing country, and this property includes the greater portion of the noted PIPECLAY GOLD-FIELD yet unworked.
About 3000 acres of the estate are cleared, and many thousands of acres have been ring-barked.
Lawson's, Pipeclay, and Bara Creeks, and 19 large reservoirs afford an ample and permanent supply of water in every part of the estate.
The property, as it now stands, will depasture about 40,000 sheep in all seasons.
The improvements are complete and extensive, including—
Splendid brick-built mansion, with slated roof, fitted with all modern improvements, having necessary outbuildings and water laid on, and surrounded by fine gardens and orchards
Large brick-built woolshed, roofed with galvanized iron
Large brick-built stables, outhouses, &c.
Two (2) complete washpool establishments, with hot water appliances and spouting arrangements; also, engine and plant
Numerous cultivation, horse, and lucerne paddocks
Overseer's cottage; also, many sheep station huts and yards.

The HAVILAH flocks, which occupy the premier position amongst the Merino sheep in Australia, have been carefully bred and culled for over forty years by Mr. Bayly, and will be sold with the property. Full particulars of their ages and sexes will be published shortly.
The projected LINE OF RAILWAY from Wallerawang to Mudgee passes through the HAVILAH ESTATE, within a quarter of a mile of the homestead.
The auctioneers desire to draw special attention to the unrivalled climate and position enjoyed by HAVILAH, and will afford intending purchasers full information as to the prices realized for the famous N.P.B. clips of wool, and for sheep sold out of the celebrated flocks.
For further particulars, apply to GRIFFITHS and WEAVER,
Corner Hunter and George streets, Sydney.

LIVERPOOL PLAINS DISTRICT.

NEW TUREE
CROPPY CREEK
COLLIE BLUE
and BOBERDEEN, comprising the magnificent estate and stations of W. R. Elliott, Esq.,
together with 21,500 Mixed SHEEP
250 Head CATTLE
50 Station HORSES
all more or less.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have received instructions from W. R. Elliott, Esq., to offer by public auction, at their Sale Rooms, New Wool Warehouse, Circular Quay, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 3rd March, 1880, at twelve o'clock.
All that freehold and leasehold estate known as
NEW TUREE
CROPPY CREEE
COLLIE BLUE, and BOBERDEEN
embracing an extensive area of the finest fattening and grazing country. The head station is situated about 12 miles west of CASSILIS, and about 11 miles east of COOLAH.
NEW TUREE contains 5158 acres of alluvial flats of the richest description, with some ridges. It extends from the TALBRAGAR RIVER to TUREE CREEK, and is all fenced in and divided into two paddocks, and abounds in rich grasses and variegated thistle, abundantly watered by the Talbragar River. Two very fine tanks (which cost over £600), natural waterholes, and a well in bed of Turee Creek.
This run consists of
3906 acres purchased land
1252 acres conditionally purchased.
The IMPROVEMENTS on this run embrace comfortable dwelling-house, 12 rooms, verandah, kitchen, outhouses, store, office, wool-shed with iron roof, men's huts, orchard, kitchen garden, cultivation paddock. On back of run, good cottage, 4 rooms, and good paddock. The whole run being substantially fenced in, chiefly 7-wire fence.
CROPPY CREEK and COLLIE BLUE contain 10,883 acres, viz.,
2329 acres purchased land
2983 acres conditionally purchased
5571 acres pre-emptive leases, really good sheep country; a good deal has been ring-barked, and greatly improved thereby. It is watered by springs, Collie Blue Creek, a very fine waterhole on Croppy Creek, and a good well.
The IMPROVEMENTS include 13 miles substantial wire fence, chiefly 7 wires; 4-roomed cottage, kitchen, 2 galvanized iron huts, several slab huts, drafting yards, to work 20,000 sheep.
BOBERDEEN has an area of 29,707 acres, made up of 1375 acres purchased land
1280 acres conditionally purchased
27,052 acres auction leases.
Boberdeen is situated about 20 miles from New Turee, and about 30 miles from MUDGEE and GULGONG; it is well watered by 5 springs, 3 tanks, several waterholes, 3 miles frontage to the Goulburn River, in which are some fine holes, never known to have been dry. The IMPROVEMENTS consist of 4-roomed cottage (slab), store and kitchen, each 2 rooms; 7 good shepherds' huts, 1 2-roomed cottage, 2 palinged yards, 2 good stock-yards, horse paddock, 150 acres.
The STOCK consists of—
21,500 SUPERIOR MIXED SHEEP.
250 head CATTLE
50 STATION HORSES.
all more or less.
The SHEEP are of the HIGHEST CLASS of the MUDGEE TYPE, and the wool is of very superior quality, for the growth of which this country is so eminently suited.

Intending buyers seldom have an opportunity of investing in a really first-class Mudgee property, and should therefore direct special attention to the above, which the auctioneers would court the inspection of, as no expatiation on the qualities of a property like this could speak as eloquently or forcibly as the property itself.
Plans of the runs, &c., can be seen at the office of the Auctioneers, from whom full particulars may be obtained on application.
HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN,
Sydney.

BY RDER OF THE MORTGAGEES.

LACHLAN DISTRICT.

COPPERBELLA STATION,
together with 12,900 SHEEP,
more or less.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have been instructed by the Mortgagees to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, New Wool Warehouses, Circular Quay, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 25th February, 1880, at 12 o'clock,
COPPERBELLA STATION,
situated near the main road from YASS to GUNDAGAI, adjoining REDBANK and BUNDARLO, the property of B. M. Osborne, Esq., and CUNNINGHAM PLAINS, belonging to Messrs. Salting, Brothers, and ABUNDANTLY WATERED by Copperbella, Jugiong, and other creeks.

The Station embraces an estimated area of 32,000 acres (according to the description in the Lands Office), including 1057 acres purchased land, and about 1598 acres conditionally purchased.
With the Station will be sold
12,900 SUPERIOR MIXED SHEEP
Note.—About 2000 of the ewes to lamb in March
CATTLE, 35 head mixed
10 working bullocks
HORSES, 23
all more or less.
The IMPROVEMENTS comprise overseer's house, store, wool shed, men's huts, horse and stockyards, and several large sheep paddocks, chiefly wire fencing.
In placing this compact and valuable property on the market, the auctioneers would point out that it is only on account of the death of the late proprietor, who had held it for many years. Special attention should be directed to its character as a wool-growing station, being unsurpassed for the healthy growth and superior quality of the wool, which quality is so well known and extends to the celebrated runs adjoining, viz., those of Mr. B. M. Osborne, Messrs. Salting, Brothers, and others whose wools are pointed to as a standard of excellence. The convenient situation of the run enables every advantage to be taken of the markets, while it reduces the cost of working to a minimum, with the further advantage of enabling its owner to visit the metropolis within a few hours.
Full particulars may be obtained on application to HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN,
Sydney.

Preliminary Announcement.

POSITIVE and ABSOLUTE SALE of
GRAND SQUATTING PROPERTY.

WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1880.

GLENARIFF STATION,
Warrego District, New South Wales.

WILKINSON, GRAVES, MINCHIN, and LAVENDER (in conjunction with Griffiths and Weaver, of Sydney, and R. Goldsbrough and Co., of Melbourne) have received instructions from Mr. A. G. Jones to sell by public auction, on the above date, at a place and hour to be named in a future advertisement,
His very extensive and elaborately improved station, comprising the runs Glenariff D. E. F. G. and H., which contain 320,000 acres of country, admittedly equal in quality to any in the far-famed Riverina district.
GLENARIFF,
The capabilities are estimated at fully 100,000 SHEEP, and the fencing and water improvements already completed afford ample paddock accommodation for the number of stock to be sold with the stations, viz.:—
About 60,000 merino sheep, superior in quality, and of good ages
200 well-bred cattle
Horses, stores, plant, &c.
There is a fine homestead with large woolshed and all other necessary improvements.
The Auctioneers specially draw the attention of capitalists to this really grand squatting property, which is for positive sale.
Letters to inspect can be obtained from the agents.
The fullest particulars will appear in a future advertisement

WILKINSON, GRAVES, MINCHIN, and LAVENDER (in conjunction with Mr. J. RALEIGH, Melbourne) have been instructed by the proprietor, W. Love, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the EXCHANGE, SYDNEY, on TUESDAY, 16th March, at 2.30 p.m.,
His compact and highly improved station,
EGAN CREEK,
in the Murrumbidgee district of New South Wales, and situated 30 miles from Wagga Wagga, and 12 miles from the Hanging Rock railway station, thus commanding the New South Wales and Victorian markets.

The run is bounded by the Mangoplah, Hanging Rock, Grubbin Plains, and Buckargingа stations, and is all sound heavily-grassed box country, abundantly watered by a never-failing creek running through the run, besides permanent springs, and 13 dams and tanks. It is substantially fenced, and subdivided into 10 (ten) sheep as well as cattle, horse, and cultivation paddocks.
THE HOMESTEAD comprises a good house, with large underground tank, garden, orchard, stable, coachhouse, and all the conveniences of a comfortable residence.
THE OTHER IMPROVEMENTS consist of sheepwash, woolshed, with new patent press, shearers' and men's huts, sheep yards, &c., &c. A large portion of the run has been ringbarked, and it is rendered perfectly secure, in addition to its numerous improvements, by
1,381 acres purchased land
1,384 ditto selected ditto
With the run will be sold,
12,820 sheep, of a good specification of ages and sexes and fine quality
30 head of cattle
10 working horses
Stores, working plant, &c.

TERMS:
One-third cash, balance by bills at 1, 2, and 3 years, bearing 6 per cent., and secured on the property.

The AUCTIONEERS have every confidence in recommending this property, as from the elaborate and substantial nature of the improvements it can be worked at the very minimum of expense, and the quality of the sheep is sufficiently testified to by the fact that the Egan Creek clip this year was sold in Melbourne on the 7th January at 19½d per lb.
For further particulars, or letters to inspect, apply to the agents,
WILKINSON, GRAVES, MINCHIN, and LAVENDER, 12, Spring-street, Sydney;
or to W. J. RALEIGH,
Collins-street, Melbourne.

FREEHOLDS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF LITHGOW.

Important to all in search of Improving Properties and Genuine Investments.

ALARIC ANDERSON has received instructions from the Lithgow Valley Colliery Company, Limited, to sell by public auction, on the ground, on SATURDAY, February 21, at 3 o'clock, 50 FREEHOLD ALLOTMENTS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF LITHGOW.
No township in the whole of the colonies presents such extraordinary evidences of rapidly advancing prosperity as that of Lithgow. Nature has marked it out as the cynosure of Australian manufacturing industry, and, judging by the extraordinary development of its resources and rapidly increasing population, it may safely be predicted that in less than five years it will take rank as the first inland town in New South Wales, if not of the Southern Hemisphere.
In no other direction are such brilliant opportunities offered for those seeking outlets for capital in investment or speculation without risk. The population is fast increasing, and one of the crying wants of the locality is that of suitable dwelling houses. First-class bricks can be obtained in the neighbourhood at 34s per 1000, and sawn timber is procurable at equally low prices. The capitalist, therefore, who will devote himself to building operations has an opportunity for speculating such as perhaps has never been equalled in the history of the colony.
It is needless to recount the extraordinary resources of Lithgow Valley, for the fame of the district is now world-wide. The locality is one hive of industry and progress, and nothing which might be written could suggest more than will be grasped at once by men of observation and energy, in the opportunity now offered for successful speculation.

ONE OF THE IMPORTANT FEATURES IN THE PRESENT SALE IS THAT CONVEYANCES WILL BE GIVEN TO PURCHASERS FREE OF COST.

TERMS
25 per cent. cash deposit, the balance on completion of purchase. Purchasers, however, may exercise the option of paying the difference between 25 per cent. and one-third of the purchase money in cash, and giving promissory notes, dated from the day of sale, for the remaining two-thirds, at six and twelve months, with interest added at 6 per cent. per annum, the same being secured by the deposit of the conveyance and equitable memorandum of deposit.
All particulars to be obtained of Messrs. P. Higgins, E. Combs, and T. Wilton, Sydney; Mr. E. Gell, Bathurst, and of the undersigned.
LUNCHEON PROVIDED ON THE GROUND.
ALARIC ANDERSON.
Lithgow, January 20, 1880.

MONDAY, March 8th.

To the Public of New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland desirous of embarking in Pastoral or Grazing Pursuits.

In the Insolvent Estate of Robert Grant Gilbert.

That Magnificent PASTORAL and AGRICULTURAL PROPERTY known as ORETI,
PORT CURTIS DISTRICT, containing
7780 ACRES Freehold Land.

JAMES R. DICKSON has been favoured with instructions from the Trustees in the Estate of Robert Grant Gilbert, Esq., in liquidation, to submit to public competition, at his Mart, Queen-street, Brisbane, on MONDAY, March 8, at 11 o'clock,
That magnificent pastoral and agricultural property known as ORETI STATION,
being Selection 207, Bulburan Run, Port Curtis district, comprising
7780 ACRES FREEHOLD LAND,
open forest country, with low silver-leaved and ordinary ironbark ridges and gum flats, well and thickly grassed principally with blue grasses. This snug property is abundantly and permanently watered by the Seven-mile and Ten-mile Creeks and numerous waterholes well scattered over the selection. The land is fenced with a substantial two rail and post fence, and subdivided into two large paddocks, containing about 3000 acres each, and two smaller paddocks, also fenced with two-rail and post fence.
The improvements, which are all quite new and erected in a most substantial manner, consist of a four-roomed house, built of white cedar and hardwood, on piles 6 ft. in height, with iron roof, verandah on all sides, and cedar doors and sashes, altogether a most substantial and well-finished building, with kitchen at rear, and store-room about 30 ft. from the house, built with same cedar, and connected by a covered way.
There are also well-built stables with large loose box (floored), two stalls, saddle and buggy room, connected with the drafting yards and blacksmith's shop. The yards are enclosed with two-rail and cap fencing, and comprise milking yards with calf pen, and three other yards of convenient size for drafting. There is also a men's hut, built of sawn cedar.
This choice station is situated on the Maryborough and Port Curtis Road, about sixty miles from Bundaberg, Gladstone, and Mount Perry, and fourteen miles from Miriam Vale telegraph station. The mail passes twice a week either way.
200 head of prime cattle will be sold along with the station, together with the right of brand. A mob of about 600 head are now depasturing on the run, in addition to the first-mentioned lot, under a twelve months' agistment agreement, and at a satisfactory rate. Only two months of such agreement has elapsed.
This snug station of Oreti is considered by competent judges to be one of the best in the neighbourhood. The land is good throughout and well watered, and the situation promises every certainty of command of large markets, with large augmentation of value of freehold in the near future.
All further particulars can be obtained from the Auctioneer, who would add that this choice property is only now placed in the market to enable the trustees in liquidation to close accounts, consequently the sale must be conducted WITHOUT ANY RESERVE.
And terms will be declared at time of sale.

Title under the Real Property Act.

TASMANIA.

THURSDAY, February 19, 1880.

Important Sale of the Valuable Estate of Hutton Park, in the Green Ponds District.

ROBERTS and CO. have received instructions from the Trustees under the Will of the late John [illegible], Esq., sen., to offer for sale at their Mart, Murray-street, on THURSDAY, February 19, 1880,
The valuable estate of Hutton Park, containing nearly 10,000 acres of splendid sheep country, divided into seven convenient runs. Upwards of 1000 acres have been cleared and fenced off into paddocks, some of which are still under cultivation; the remainder laid down to English grass.
The homestead and outbuildings are of stone, roofed with galvanized iron; as are also the barn and farm buildings.
The woolshed is surrounded by paddocks and every convenience for shearing.
The river Jordan runs through the property giving an abundant supply of water.
Hutton Park is within three miles of the main road from Hobart Town to Launceston, fourteen miles from the township of Bothwell, and about the same from Oatlands. A portion of the estate is also bounded by the main road.
The sheep and other stock will be sold at a convenient time after the sale of the property.
Terms: 10 per cent. deposit, 15 per cent. on completion of sale, 10 per cent. by bills at 6 and 12 months bearing 8 per cent. interest, and balance at 3 years bearing 6 per cent interest, or all cash. The unpaid purchase money to be secured on the property.
Plan of the estate will be ready shortly.
The property can be viewed on application to John [illegible], Esq., and particulars obtained from Messieurs Butler, M'Intyre, and Butler, solicitors, Hobart Town; or, the Auctioneers.

Medical, Chemicals, &c.

HUNGARY WATER.—PIESSE and LUBIN.
The name and reputation of Hungary Water was first established, as tradition relates, from benefit derived from a Bath containing it by one of the Queens of Hungary, at the age of 93. The GENUINE is now only sold in England by the lineal descendants of the Inventor. Independent of the above quality, which renders it so remarkable, Hungary Water is an exquisite perfume; it raises and strengthens the spirits by its superlative refreshing qualities. Health has often been restored, when life and death trembled in the balance, by the mere sprinkling of it in the sick chamber. 2s. 6d. per Bottle, or 14s. per Case, of Six Bottles.
To be obtained of all fashionable Perfumers and Druggists throughout the world, and of PIESSE and LUBIN, 2, New Bond-street, London W. Bureau, during the Exhibition, No. 181, Pitt-street, Sydney.

MONTANE SALVE.
THE NEW OINTMENT.
A most excellent remedy for Burns, Boils, Bruises, Pains, Aches, Old Sores, Contusions. Large lid-pots, 1s a pot. WM. TAYLER and CO., Druggists, Pitt-street. SMITH, PHILLIPS, and CO., York-street, Wholesale Agents.

NOTICE.—The undersigned has much pleasure in informing his customers and the inhabitants of the North Shore that he has made such arrangements as will enable him to Sell Patent Medicines FOR CASH at the English marked prices.
JOHN W. GUISE,
Chemist and Druggist.
Miller-street, 13th February, 1880.

J. S. ABRAHAM'S PILLS—DANDELION—have now a name as lasting as time, and are justly termed the of the nineteenth century. One trial will convince the most sceptical of the truth of this assertion; and the extensive sale they command all over the world stamps them the "Desideratum" for our dyspeptic age. Free from all noxious drugs, viz., Podophyllin, Calomel, Blue Pill, or Mercury!!
It is the only aperient that does not weaken; requiring no change of diet, or abstention from the bath, but quickly assists nature to restore all the vital functions to their healthy state, thus proving them to be the best medicine ever introduced for tropical climates.
Sold by all Chemists, Patent Medicine Vendors, &c.
N.B.—Be careful of those who try to palm off dangerous imitations.
Prepared only at the Laboratory by J. S. ABRAHAM, 494, George-street, Sydney.

PANE'S BALSAM OF ANISEED, an efficient and speedy remedy for coughs, colds, hoarseness, difficulty of breathing, &c. Prepared by FELMINGHAM, Chemist, 84, King-street.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.
"I count my loves o'er on St. Valentine's Day,
And send to each darling a sweet billet doux,
For it's just as well when the old loves' away,
To be happy and gay with the new."

So sang one of the olden cavaliers, and the sentiment remains true to this day.

Once again Valentine's Day sets us thinking. Time flies, forsooth, quickly enough, and is marked by many festivals; but of all, which so truthfully full of fun and frolic as St. Valentine's Day.

The success of a Valentine depends mainly on three things; first, it must be pleasing to the eye; second, the thoughts must be dressed in good and softly flowing language; and third, the sense of smell must be captivated by some delicious perfume. Perchance the noble influence of Love may add to the artistic beauty of the Valentine, for instance, as a poet has expressed it:—
"I sent my love a Valentine, and wrote my hand amiss,
But my love, she found my secret out and told it in a kiss:
"Hadst thou forgot me on this day, thy heart had not been mine
So I pay thy missive with a kiss, and bless St. Valentine."
